Established 1887

No. 30,694

PARIS, SATURDAY-SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24-25, 1981

Dispute on Reagan Reflects Europe's Acute Nervousness

By Hedrick Smith

New York Times Service, WASHINGTON — The dispute n Western Europe over President Reagan's comments about the pos-sibility of a battlefield nuclear ex-change reflects no basic differencthe acute state of political nervous-ness in the Atlantic alliance. The president's remarks did not signal any shift in either U.S. policy or NATO doctrine.

But West European diplomats explain, and U.S. officials private-

NEWS ANALYSIS

Reagan's remark on nuclear war casts doubts on U.S. credibility among Soviet leaders. Page 2.

ly concur, that the European press fastened on Mr. Reagan's comments because many Europeans are deeply uncertain about the general direction of the Reagan administration's policies and do not share Washington's sense of peril about a Soviet attack in the

"From Europe, Reagan looks to be extremely aggressive, more than in Washington," said a veteran En-ropean diplomat just back from a trip to the Continent. "The other day he touched a sensitive European nerve on the nuclear issue and he seemed to reinforce his image as a tough guy. And that caused trou-

They're Nervous'

"The problem in Europe," added an experienced U.S. official, "is that we're dealing with a postwar generation which thinks detente was good for them, that the Soviet threat can be contained and the real danger now comes from Reagan and these gung-ho guys in Washington. They don't believe we're serious about disarmament and arms control. They re nervous and this administration has not done a whole lot to reasone Europeans on this score.

According to this view, Europe is being pulled to the left politically at a time when the United States turn. Specialists here point to Socialist victories in France and Greece, with the new Greek leader, Andreas Papandreou, talking of pulling his country out of NATO. and removing U.S. military bases. In Britain, the left wing of the Labor Party also favors withdrawal from NATO and disarmament. In West Germany, the Netherlands and other Northern European countries; the growing neutral-ist movement has been pressing those governments to forswear plans to deploy a new generation of tectical nuclear missiles like the Pershing-2 and Cruise missiles in Europe in 1983 to offset 250 or more Soviet SS-20 missiles in East-ern Europe.

It is pressures like these that caused NATO defense officials, meeting in Scotland Wednesday, to override the objections of Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and approve what is known as "the zero-level option" — scrapping plans to deploy those U.S. missiles if the Russians withdraw their SS-20s from Eastern Europe.

Because the Russians are expect-

Because the Russians are expected to reject any such pullback, practically no one here considers the "zero-level option" very practi-cal. But it is taken as a measure of the needs by West European governments to appease the sentiment for arms control in their own conn-

As Hans van Mierlo, the acting Dutch defense minister, told re-porters Wednesday: "We see ourselves as suppliers of security, but we often forget that we are sup-posed to respond to the wishes of the people. It's important that the Europeans see that we are striving for their goal. Then if that goal is not reached, it won't be because we didn't try."

Attitudes Complex

But European attitudes are complex and pose a problem for U.S. administrations. Such European leaders as Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany want U.S. protection and are asked for U.S. tactical nuclear weapons to be stationed on their soil, but they are then confronted with a public opinion that dislikes the risks en-

Pershing-2 and Cruise missiles have brought about acute political anxieties in Europe, as Mr. Schmidt explained, because people in crowded regions of Central Eutope four that this will increase the Soviet tendency to target their homeland.

The problem is compounded bee now, as for nearly two dec ades, many Europeans have been fearful that Washington would answer a Soviet attack in Europe with tactical weapons rather than turning quickly to all-out nuclear retaliation with strategic forces based in the United States. For nearly 20 years the NATO doct-rine of a flexible response has been to try to deter attack, meet it at the lowest level and then proceed to

3 Spanish Intellectuals Held in Move on ETA

By James M. Markham

MADRID - Spain's anti-terrorist policemen have opened a majoroperation against the Basque separatist organization ETA and have stunned political and intellectual circles here by detaining two prominent feminists and a leftist university professor.

While ETA can still count on considerable popular support in the northern Basque provinces, the idea that intellectuals in Madrid are suspected of helping the organ-ization has been widely viewed here as shocking.

The case came to light early this week when a special anti-terrorist squad announced that Jimena Alonso Matthias and Carmen San-ists, and Victor Garcia-Hoz, a psychology professor at Complutense University in Madrid, had been arrested on suspicion of aiding an ETA group operating here. The two teen-age daughters of Mrs. Alouso Matthias were also de-

Linked to Communists

The detention of Mr. Garcia-Hoz was especially shocking to many people here because he has ties to the Communist Party, which has condemned terrorism ever since the party was legalized

A group of 100 feminists immediately protested the arrests, de-claring in a petition that "Carmen and Jimena have a well-known public record in the struggle for the defense of public rights and the rights of women in particular."
The feminists, who marched on Madrid's police headquarters, also condemned the use of a special anti-terrorist statute, which permits holding suspects incommuni-cado for up to 10 days. The police followed the anent of the arrests with a statement that Mrs. Alonso Matthias had led them to an arms cache that ETA guerrillas had placed in the woods near her house in the subarb of Torrelodones.

Investigators said they believed that the guerrillas had hidden in Torrelodones while planning terrorist actions in Madrid.

The police said they had found a car in the Matthias yard belonging to a friend of an ETA militant José Luis Madariaga Erezuma, who was arrested in Madrid last

On Wednesday, the chief of the ETA's Madrid group, one of the most wanted men in Spain, José Andres Ezaguirre Gogorza, was killed with a comrade, José Jauregui Altude, in a shootout at a po-lice roadblock in the Basque region. The guerrillas were apparently attempting to flee across the frontier to France after the police picked up their trail in Torrelo-Andreas Papandreon, the new Socialist Greek premier, welcomed Cyprus President Spyros Kyprianou Friday in Athens.

Greek Regime Grants PLO Diplomatic Status

From Agency Dispatches
ATHENS — Greece's new Socialist government has decided to grant full diplomatic recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization and to raise its office here to ambassadorial level, a government sookesman said.

PLO sources in Beirut reported that PLO leader Yasser Arafat would visit here in three weeks, but the Greek government spokesman said no specific timetable for rec-ognition or for such a visit had Greek recognition of the PLO follows the Soviet Union's au-nouncement Tuesday that Moscow has granted the organization diplomatic status. In another foreign policy develnounced that Premier Andreas Papandreou accepted an invitation to visit Cyprus, conveyed to him Friday by visiting Cypriot President

The spokesman said the decision to fully recognize the PLO was in accordance with the ruling Panhellenic Socialist Movement's election

Earlier Invitation

He also pointed out that Mr. Arafat had been invited to Greece earlier this year by Mr. Papandreou, when he was still the Greek opposition leader.

The Israeli diplomatic mission in Greece reacted quickly. A spokesman said Israel was "seriously concerned" about the development because it meant the PLO would now have higher diplomatic representation here than Israel has. "We cannot believe that Greece's Socialist government will grant full diplomatic status to a terrorist organization aimed at the destruction of Israel, and especially if it does not simultaneously grant the same status to the Israeli mission here," an Israeli official Greece accords Israel -only de facto recognition. The rightist gov-ernment of Premier George Rallis, which lost last Sunday's general elections to the Socialists, had last November allowed the opening in Athens of a PLO "liaison and inovertures by Mr. Arafat for permission to visit Greece.

In other action Friday, the gov-ernment imposed price controls on wholesale foodstuffs and industrial raw materials, lifted government censorship of movies and songs and began drafting legislation to recognize leftist groups that fought against the Nazis in World War II. Mr. Papandreou met Friday with Mr. Kyprianou to discuss the future of the divided Mediterrean

"There is no doubt that we shall have good cooperation with the new Greek government." Mr. Kyprianou said before the talks. He is the first head of stale to visit Greece since Mr. Papandreou's landslide victory.

island of Cyprus.

Americans Told to Quit Libya Airline

WASHINGTON - The United States said Friday that from 10 to 20 Americans are working for a Lihyan charter airline that is be-lieved to have ferried supplies to Libyan forces in Chad, and that it has asked them to stop.

"We believe it is totally inappropriate for any U.S. citizen to take any action which helps carry out such illegal activities such as the occupation of Chad," said Alan Romberg, the deputy State Department spokesman. "We advise any U.S. citizen undertaking such activities to cease."

The State Department also repeated its advice to other U.S. citizens to steer clear of Libya, citing Col. Moamer Qadhafi's "consistent denial of the accepted norms of international behavior."

Most in Oil Industry

There are between 2,000 and 500 U.S. citizens in Libya, most of them working in the oil indus-

Mr. Romberg said that while it known that Americans are working for United African Airways, a Libyan company that does mostly (Continued on Page 2, CoL5)

Warsaw to Use Troops To Help Curb Unrest

By John Damton

New York Times Service
WARSAW — As the Solidarity union set a one-bour national strike for next Wednesday, the government announced Friday evening that it was sending teams of troops throughout the country to resolve unrest

A statement read over television by the government spokesman, Jerzy Urban, said the soldiers would be empowered to counteract problems on the spot and would attempt to solve problems and

The spokesman specifically mentioned problems involving the distribution of foodstuffs and other necessities, the breakdown of transportation systems and what he termed local disputes, which some observers saw as a possible reference to strikes.

The goverment did not formally impose a state of martial law, and Mr. Urban's statement seemed to depict the troops' responsibilities in terms of bringing succor to a much-suffering population. But the Western analysts noted that the move would place seasoned soldiers in a position to be able to undertake peacekeeping or even strike-breaking duties if necessary.

The action was taken against a background of spreading wildcat strikes and strike threats, mainly to draw attention to food shortages. They have multiplied to affect more than half the country's dwindling food supplies and also what it contends is a new campaign of government harassment.

The national leadership of Soli-

In two incidents this week —

one in the southern city of Ka-towice and the other in the southwestern city of Wroclaw the police detained Solidarity members who were disseminating what the authorities contend are anti-Soviet or anti-state views.

The government's statement announcing the new role for troops contained ominous language. Mr. Urban, gazing into a television camera during a special appearance on the evening news broadcast, observed that tension throughout the country was grow-ing rapidly. He hlamed Solidarity.

"Some Solidarity activists do not even hide it any longer that they want a test of strength with the authorities," he said. He repeated the government's readiness to discuss differences, but added; "Democracy cannot be achieved in a condition of anarchy.

The state, which is leaning toward a fall, must attempt all steps necessary for its salvation," he said. "A continuation of tension could cause the loss of all the achievements of renewal," he added, using the term that sums up Poland's liberalization.

"They will try to counteract problems on the spot," he said, "They will directly signal to the

"In this emergency action," he continued, "the real role of the army is being revealed. An extraor-dinary situation requires extraordinary measures."

As Poland's crisis has continued and deepened, the military has come to play a more prominent role in national life. Beginning several months ago, military officers were occasionally placed on duty in cities, usually directing traffic. Last month, army patrols in the capital were stepped up, so that now it is no longer uncommon to see jeeps with helmeted soldiers cruising the streets and convoys of army trucks sometimes led by an armored personnel carrier,

The army newspaper, Zolnierz
Wolnosci, has been a strident conservative critic of Solidarity, often lashing out at what it calls the union's counter-revolutionary direc-

On Thursday, the paper warned once again that any attempt to withdraw Poland from the Warsaw Pact alliance would shatter stability and peace in Europe and the world.

The high-water mark of the army's influence in the power hierarchy was reached six days ago when the Central Committee voted Stanislaw Kania out of office as party leader and replaced him with the premier, Gen. Wojeiech

Western embassy officials have long been sending reports to their home capitals about the possibility darity scheduled the one-hour nationwide stoppage by it 9.5-million members next week to protest the misery in the country."

In this emergency action, he country is larged on the belief that the country is larged on the country is there is almost no other institution left in the country that has a defin-

> Some of the officials feel that, since the party has recently as-sumed a tougher stance toward Solidarity and the union is under pressure from its members to reverse the declining economy with some kind of dramatic action. events are moving inexorably toward a confrontation and a state > of emergency.

>
> Technically, the constitution refers only to a state of war hut the concept, of granting the military extraordinary powers, is the same.

Poland May Rejoin IMF

WARSAW (Reuters) - Poland has hegun active negotiations to rejoin the International Mone-tary Fund, which it left in 1950 when it joined the Soviet-bloc trading group Comecon, senior govern-ment sources said Friday, The sources gave no further de-tails of the negotiations.

Poland was among the original members of the IMF and has been under increasing pressure from the West to rejoin because of its extensive debts.

The official news agency PAP reported that the Finance Ministry would publish Poland's halance of payments statistics, which is normally a precondition for member-ship in the IMF.

Reagan Sees Progress At Cancún Conference

CANCUN, Mexico — President Reagan said Friday that the economic conference of 22 nations here had made "great progress," but he restated his opposition to the restated his opposition to easing "some gigantic, new intermediate to here solve transported to here. the wealth gap between rich and poor nations The president added that no one at the conference "has done more for foreign aid than the United States," which spent $7.1 billion last year.

At an early meeting with his staff members before the North-South talks entered their second and final day, Mr. Reagan said the meeting had "identified the points at which aid isn't being used as effectively as it must be.

"I think great progress has been made," said Mr. Reagan, who was initially reluctant to participate in the meeting. Position Is Unchanged

Mr. Reagan, who has said that huge amounts of foreign aid is not the solution to the developing world's problems, was asked whether the discussion with other world leaders had changed his mind about foreign aid. He replied: "There's no one at that table who has done more for foreign aid than the United

Mr. Reagan was questioned about whether he had shifted his position to one more in favor of "global negotiations" intended to narrow the gap between rich and poor nations. He replied that if such talks meant creating "some gigantic, new international bureaucracy to be in charge, we're opposed."

But he said that if negotiations and seemed eager to avoid finding himself isolated during the two days of talks. But, he posed conditions that made clear the United States remains the most reluctant partner in a process that would be de-signed to give the world's poorer nations more power over the international economy. Foreign leaders immediately began debating bow large a step Mr. Reagan had taken. Global negotiations have become the central issue of this conference, and initial reaction to it ranged from pleasure that Mr. Reagan had not closed the door to further progress, to suspicion that his stand was primarily aimed at keep Cancun from ending as a meeting in which the United States stood alone.

An administration official said that he judged from conversations with other delegations that Mr. Reagan's words were being accepted as a step forward, but he noted the U.S. position still is well-hedged. "This doesn't mean we're going to enter global negotia-tions," the official said.

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Ir. called the U.S. position "a constant evolution" and explained that Mr. Reagan's vaguely stated conditions are designed to rule out any new international structures such as an energy affiliar to the World Bank. "We have enough in-ternational appendages today," he

Mr. Haig futher explained that that is what the other really loves."

Margaret Thatcher admires Pierre Elliott Trudeau's scarf before dinner for world leaders at the Cancún, Mexico meeting.

Mr. Reagan meant the United States wants world economic growth, but not redistribution of wealth from rich to poor. Finally, he said, the United States will not take part in talks that are beld in a divisíve atmosphere. It appeared Mr. Haig was warning that if the United States were to become the target of criticism it would pull out

Although the United States had support from its European allies at Ottawa regarding its wariness of global negotiations - m that there would be pressure for decisionmaking on the basis of one-nation, one-vote - the NATO nations all now support the process, increasing the isolation of the United The leaders of several industrialized nations, including France's president, Francois Mitterrand, and the Canadian prime minister. Pierre Elliott Trudeau, were more direct Thursday in endorsement of global negotiations at the United Nations. Mr. Mitterrand and Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher of West Germany also backed the proposed creation of an energy affiliate attached to the World Bank, an idea to which Mr. Reagan has made no reference and is believed to oppose. [Saudi Arabia on Friday de-clared itself fully behind the creation of an international organization to promote energy production in poor countries, sources at the [The sources said Crown Prince Fahd told the other government leaders that his country was 100 percent behind the creation of a world bank energy affiliate to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

For Foreigners in China, Romance and Red Tape Clash

By Michael Parks

Los Angeles Times Service PEKING - "Romeo and Juliet should have been Chinese - love seems so often here to end in tragedy," an American exchange student in Peking said. She was speaking of the prospects for her romance with a young Chinese engineer, but her disappointment echoed that of a growing number of other "Intercultural marriages are never easy, I know, but the Chinese government tries to make them impossible," the student continued, asking that she not be identified by name. She and her fiance are seeking official permission to marry, but for six months the official answer has been no. "We have been given many reasons, but really no reasons," she said. "Whether out of policy or prejudice, Chinese do not want their people marrying foreigners, whatever personal tragedy re-A year ago, an Arab student and his Chinese girlfriend committed suicide after their petition to marry was rejected. Such a marriage, the woman was told, would be "unsuitable." An American exchange scholar, studying Chinese theater in the provincial capital of Naning, succeeded in marrying a Chinese artist only after petitioning the State Council, the equivalent of asking the U.S. Cabinet for approval, and then had another five-month fight to get permission for him to

"If I had been forced to leave without him, I was afraid they would try to kill him," Elizabeth Wichmann, 30, now a teacher at the University of Ha-waii, said as she left China with her husband, Liu Dan, 28. "Our marriage brought out a tremendous amount of viciousness in some people. A very deep, visceral emotion must be released when a Chines marries a foreigner."

A Chinese-American psychologist, visiting relatives in Shanghai, agreed. "For a race as ancient and proud as the Chinese, there is a revulsion at such marriages," he said. "I know, my wife is not

As the number of foreign students, teachers and specialists here continues to grow, the romances between Chinese and foreigners have multiplied from the occasional two or three a year to about 60 in the last year, by one Western diplomat's estimate, and more are likely despite official efforts to limit contacts with foreigners to those of the same sex.

"The Chinese students have a set of no-fraternization rules that would make a convent look liberal," said an American woman graduate student at Peking University. "I resent the implication that every time I say hello to a male student or teacher I am trying to seduce him. Chinese girls, I know, feel the same way — they are virtually labeled prosti-tutes if they have a single date with a foreign man."

Chinese women who do go out with foreign men are promptly called in by superiors at their schools or offices and told to break off the relationship. Those who refuse are subjected to "criticism and self-criticism" sessions that can continue for days and often leave the spirit broken, according to persons familiar with such cases. Occasionally, a 15day "administrative detention" period is imposed by the authorities.

A Chinese official, expressing his personal opin ion rather than any government view, commented, "rightly or wrongly, our people find these romances very difficult to accept. ... Then there is the reaction to our long period of semicolonialism, when those who were ambitious married foreigners and rejected the motherland... We mistakenly see just that he or she is a foreigner, and thus we suspect

"We are very different, very exotic, if you will, and probably tremendously exciting to Chinese men,6 said an American woman who has taught at a provincial school and dated Chinese men there. "Men have told me, in fact, how bberated and free they find Western women compared with Chinese.

... We represent forbidden fruit." For a time, when China had just emerged from the Cultural Revolution into a period of across-theboard liberalization. Chinese were actually encouraged to develop friendships with foreigners and were permitted to attend dances and parties with them. But that ended in late 1979, when Chinese were told to hreak off all unauthorized friendships.

Now Chinese most likely to have informal contacts with foreigners are carefully and repeatedly briefed on the dangers involved and sternly warned to avoid developing a personal relationship with a foreigner of the opposite sex. "Their sexual mores are much different, and some you will meet are just promiscuous," Chinese students at the Peking Foreign Language Institute were told about their foreign schoolmates last month.

A central government circular went to all colleges where foreigners will be teaching or studying, according to Chinese sources, reminding local administrators and Communist Party officials to "nip any romance in the bud" lest it grow into a "more complex and difficult problem.

Sometimes high-level politics can help resolve the problem, such as the incident earlier this year when China's paramount leader, Deng Xiaoping, intervened to permit the marriage of a Canadian to a

But diplomacy has done little so far for the French Embassy's Emmanuel Bellefroid, 33, and his fiancee, Li Shuang, 24, a member of an unofficial artists' group. The French ambassador has taken the case up with the Foreign Ministry, but apparently has gotten nowhere. Now, Chinese sources are suggesting that Miss Li will be charged with espionage or other security violations and that Mr.

Bellefroid will be expelled. Miss Li, who had been living with Mr. Bellefroid. was arrested when she went to the gate of the diplomatie compound to have ber sister admitted. Policemen asked for her identity papers and then bundled her, kicking and screaming, into a jeep when she could not produce them, according to witnesses. She has not been seen since, and her family has been denied permission to visit her. Some observers suggest that the handling of the case may be meant as a warning to other Chinese to maintain their distance from foreign diplomats. correspondents and businessmen here.

ranks with the great sculptors of this century, has just opened a show in Paris. A profile of the artist and a review of her works are in Weekend.

WEEKEND Rare Show

Louise Nevelson, whose work

INSIDE China A-Plants

E MCR

VSS FIRE

China and the United States are negotiating a broad agree-ment on nuclear cooperation that would put American companies into the forefront among foreign firms bidding to build atomic power stations here. But U.S. insistence on international inspection of the civilian facilities has delayed the talks. Page 3.

U.S. Inflation

The cost of living in the Uniled States rose 1.2 percent in September and pushed the annual inflation rate to more than 10 percent for the year so

Reagan Remarks Fuel Drive By Russia on U.S. Credibility

Washington Past Service
MOSCOW — President Reagan's remarks last week on nuclear weapons provided a new and clear focus for Soviet assaults on American credibility as well as fresh ammunition for Moscow's efforts to convince Western European nations to block deployment of new U.S. medium-range nuclear rockets in their countries.

Two themes emerged from Soviet criticism of Mr. Reagan's remarks. First is President Leonid I. Brezhnev's unequivocal denial of Washington's assertion that Soviet leaders believe a nuclear war is "possible" and "winnable." "To count on victory in a nuclear war," Mr. Brezhnev said, "that is a dangerous madness."

Second is the Soviet focus on Mr. Reagan's speculations about shape the policies of an adminis-tration under which our European allies were informed first that we were going to deploy the neutron bomb, and then were told that we weren't, causing them considerable embarrassment? Under which one of our embassies was taken hostage by a mob or armed students?

Under which U.S. foreign policy resulted in increased strains with many of our most important friends and allies?"

To Mr. Mondale's remarks that the United States has failed to curb inflation and high interest rates and has failed to coordinate conomic policies with U.S. allies,

"Could this be the same Fritz

Mondale who helped shape the policies of an administration under which the inflation rate went from 4.6 percent to 12.4 percent? Under which the growth rate of the gross national product went from 4.7 percent to minus 1.3 percent? Under which the prime interest rate went from 6.4 percent to 20.4 per-

Mr. Bush chose the annual remark that the United States was in danger of surrendering "the high ground of moral leadership to the Soviet Union" and said the administration was committed to ne-gotiations for arms reductions with the Russians.

adopted by Congress last summer.

anywhere from $2 billion to $10 billion to projected deficits in those years, and the White House has threatened to veto the farm bill unless the costs are reduced in the House-Senate conference that should begin next week. The Senate version of the bill, passed sev-eral weeks ago, would be some-what less expensive.

Pro-Farm Coalition

The pro-farm coalition that usually dictates agriculture legislation broke down at several points in the debate, as the House voted to clim-inate price support programs for hoth sugar and peanuts. In addition, budget pressures squeezed down price levels for other commodities, but farm-state legislators conceded that the outcome could

In addition to price supports, the bill finances food stamps and a wide range of marketing services and acreage allotments for a variety of farm products.

House adopted several dozen amendments to the bill, one important change raised the total cap for food stamp expenditures to also increased the power of De-partment of Agriculture investigative officials to search out food-stamp fraud and carry weapons. The proposal was adopted by a voice vote over the objection of Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., the New Jersey Democrat who heads the Judiciary Committee. He com-could be jeopardized.

The House also passed an amendment offered by Rep. Glenn English. Democrat of Oklahoma.

that would bar the importation of foreign meat in cases where animals were treated with chemicals banned in the United States. Rep. English maintained that his proposal was designed to protect consumers. But critics said it was aimed at protecting domestic meat producers from foreign com-

Karpov and Korchnoi

Draw 8th Chess Game

From Agency Dispatches

MERANO, Italy — The eighth game of the world chess champion-ships between world chess champion Anatoly Karpov and Viktor Korchnoi ended in a draw Friday

Under the match rules, draws do not count in the final score. The first player to win six games wins the title. As the eighth game re-sumed, Mr. Karpov held a 3-1

HARRY'S N.Y. BAR ®

5 Rue Dounou, PARIS Just tell the toxi driver

Folkenturm Str. 9, Munich.

night after 80 moves.

that recipien's rights

The compromise amendment

In a long day in which the have been worse.

$11.3 billion.

Mr. Bush responded:

Bush Presses Attack On Mondale Criticism

By David Shribman

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - Vice President Bush, condemning the eco-nomic and diplomatic conditions the Carter administration left behind when it departed from office in January, defended the Reagan administration against criticism from former Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

Responding to a speech Mr. Mondale delivered Tuesday to the Foreign Policy Association in New York, Mr. Bush on Thursday criti-cized former President Carter and Mr. Mondale for causing high inflation and interest rates at home and for alienating U.S. allies

The vice president characterized the Mondale speech as "quite something" and said, "at first I thought I was dreaming, that there was LSD in my coffee. I rubbed my eyes, but the words oo the page wouldn't go away."

In his first major foreign policy address since leaving office, Mr. Mondale said the administration was not working closely with U.S. meeting of the American League of Exports and Security Assistance in the setting of the Capitol Hill Club, a Republican group, to respond to the charges. There, before an audience of 80 that greeted him warmly, he mocked Mr. Mondale's remark that the United States was allies and was giving inadequate attention to arms control and human rights matters.

Doubt Among Allies

In responding to Mr. Mondale's charges that the Reagan adminis-tration has sown doubt and confusion among U.S. allies, Mr. Bush pointed to the difficulties the Carrer administration suffered in its diplomatic efforts.

He asked: "Could this be the same Fritz Mondale who helped

By Steven V. Roberts

New York Times Service

of Representatives has approved a buge farm bill that was denounced by its critics as a "budget-busting, deficit-ridden" measure.

Senate Probe

Of CLA Chief

Washington Post Service
WASHINGTON — The Senate

Intelligence Committee met to take up its investigation of CIA

Director William J. Casey for the first time in three months and decided there was still a bit more investigating to be done.

"There are a few little things hanging which we hope to clear up by the middle of next week," the chairman, Barry Goldwater, Republican of Arizona, said after the committee does not expect to com-plete its report on the inquiry into Mr. Casey's financial activities, which it began in mid-July, until the end of next month. Sen. Goldwater said the report would be "lengthy" and he reiterated a

Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Democrat of New York, the vice chairman, said the panel agreed on what remains to be done but declined to characterize the matters

The Washington Post reported earlier this week that the committee recently asked for Treasury Department documents concerning Mr. Casey's legal work for the gov-ernment of Indonesia in 1976, in an effort to determine whether he should have registered as a foreign agent.

Mr. Casey and his New York

Mr. Casey and his New York law firm, Rogers & Wells, were enlisted by the Indonesians to seek foreign tax credits for payments from U.S. oil firms. Rogers & Wells subsequently registered as agents for Indonesia, in 1977, but Mr. Casey has taken the position that this was simply done out of an that this was simply done out of an abundance of caution and that his own work on the case had already

WARSAW - Thieves have stolen paintings and chalices worth

60 million zlotys (almost $2 million) from a church museum in Poznan, the official Polish news

NEW YORK'S

HOTEL BARLYLE

MADISON AVENUE AT 76TH ST.,

NEW YORK 10021 CABLE: THECARLYLE NEWYORK TELEX: 620692

agency PAP said Friday.

Theft at Polish Museum

He added, however, that the elosed session Thursday.

pledge to make it public.

still under review.

Is Resumed

WASHINGTON - The House

House Approves Farm Bill

Despite Reagan Veto Threat

exchange "without it bringing ei-ther one of the major powers to pushing the button" of all-out nuclear war. The Russians have gone out of their way to present this to West Europeans as a diabolical U.S. plan to conduct a limited nuwar in Europe.

Clear Contradiction

But Mr. Brezhnev's statement also clearly contradicted a statement of Moscow's military doctrine on nuclear weapons regarded by Western analysts as the most authoritative on the subject. Marshal Nikolai Ogarkov, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces and first deputy defense minister, outlined Soviet nuclear thinking in an article on "military strategy" in the Soviet Military Encyclopedia, published in 1980.

The Soviet Union is "opposed in principle to the use of weapons of mass destruction," be wrote. But he went on to say that "if a nuclear war is foisted upon the Soviet Un-ion, then ... the Soviet Union and the fraternal Socialist states, in comparison with the imperialist states, will have definite advantagstates, will have definite arvantages stemming from the just goals of the war and the advanced nature of their social and state systems. This creates objective possibilities for them to achieve victory."

Dangerous Madness

Mr. Brezhnev's statement, published in Pravda, said that "to try to defeat each other in the arms race and to count on victory in nuclear war - that is dangerous

In doctrinal terms, Mr. Bre-zhnev's statement amounts to the most authoritative affirmation of the concept of motually assured destruction. It also reaffirmed implicitly the central Soviet argument that any use of nuclear weapons would escalate into a general nuclear war, Soviet commentators continue to charge that the Reagan adminis-tration is preparing to wage a lim-ited nuclear war in Europe.

Thursday, the Soviet press dismissed Mr. Reagan's explanation Wednesday of his remarks to the editors last week. Quoting Mr. Reagan's elarification that "our strategy remains as it has been, one of flexible response," Tass called the statement a meaningless

"It was designed to conceal the main thing, that is, that the United States, as before, not only considers a limited nuclear war possible but is also actively preparing for it," Tass said.

The bill, adopted by a voice vote Thursday night, would cost slightly more than $2 billion to support farm prices in the current fiscal Sudan Says Raids year, a figure within the budget By Libya Caused But generous price supports for wheat, feed grains and dairy prod-ucts in 1984 and 1985 could add 1 Death in Month

KHARTOUM, Sudan — Libyan lages from mid-September to mid-October resulted in one death, the Sudanese government announced Thursday night.

In releasing a list of the casual-ties resulting from 25 air raids in the period from Sept. 10 to Oct. 13, the government disclosed that there had been no attacks in the last nine days. The announcement was another indication that Sudan is trying to calm down the border crisis with Libya. Military sources in Khartoum said that Libya is using Italianmade, propeller-driven aircraft for strafing suspected hideouts of Chadian guerrillas on the Su-danese side of the frontier. Libya has avoided bringing any of its So-viet-supplied arsenal into action, possibly as a signal to Khartoum of the limited nature of Libyan in-

In another indication that the risis is cooling, Sudanese Foreign Minister Mohammed Mirghani. Mubarak disclosed that Libyan Foreign Minister Ali Turaiki re-portedly said in Prague that his country was removing its troops from along the Sudanese and able high school history teacher, is an even worse blow to the Labor Party. Instead of increasing its vote as the major opposition party would be expected to do midway through the five-year term of an in-creasingly unpopular government, Labor lost ground from its 40.1 percent share of the vote in Croydon Northwest in 1979.

Labor's economic spokesman, Peter Shore, blamed ideological turmoil in the party caused by insurgent left-wingers who wanted to offer a more militantly Socialist alternative to Mrs. Thatcher. "The lesson for us," Mr. Shore said, "is that we have to behave in a much different way."

The Liberals and Social Democrats smothered the constituency with several thousand party workers. Among them were Liberal leader David Steel and the four former Labor Cabinet members who lead the Social Democrats — Roy Jenkins, Shirley Williams, David Owen and William Rodgers.

ister James Callaghan came to speak for Mr. Boden, while several members of Mrs. Thatcher's Cabinet and former Prime Minister Edward Heath cam-

Mr. Pitt's victory gives the new centrist alliance 12 Liberal and 21 Social Democratic members of Parliament, compared to 336 Conservatives, 248 Labor members and 16 from minor regional parties. The other Liberals were elected in 1979, while the Social Democrats defected from the Conservative or Labor parties defined by the last were

The next parliamentary test for the new alliance is expected this winter in the suburban constituency of Crosby near Liverpool, Mr. Williams, one of the Social Democrats' leaders and a former education secretary, will contest the Crosby seat, recently vacated by the death of a Conservative who won 57 percent

The question to be answered by future parliamentary elections is whether this is a temporary desertion

The third-place showing of Mr. Boden, a person-

Supporters hailed William Pitt after he won a by-election in Croydon, England, to become the first person elected to Parliament from the newly formed Liberal-Social Democratic alliance.

Britain's Centrist Alliance Handily Wins

First Parliamentary Seat in London Vote

By Leonard Downie Jr.

Washington Post Service

LONDON — Taking its biggest step yet toward forcing an historic political realignment in Britain, the new centrist alliance of the Social Democratic Party and the perennially also-ran Liberal Party has won its first parliamentary election by a large margin in the centril tender suburb of Crowdon.

The alliance-backed candidate, William Pitt, won 40 percent of the vote Thursday to defeat John Butterfill of the ruling Conservative Party, who had 30.5 percent, and Stanley Boden of the Lahor Party, who received 26 percent. The rest of the votes were scat-

Mr. Pitt's easy victory demonstrated the attraction of the Social Democratic-Liberal alliance as an alter-native to the rightist economic policies of Prime Min-ister Margaret Thatcher's Conservatives and the left-ward shift of the opposition Labor Party. Mr. Pitt, a bearded, bespectacled local government housing ad-ministrator, had never come close to winning the parliamentary seat in three previous attempts as a Liberal, having gained only 10.5 percent of the vote in

Split in System Claimed

"With this vote, we have split the old party system

His defeat of Mr. Butterfill, a prosperous real estate appraiser, in a constituency held by the Conservative Party since 1948 is a significant political setback for Mrs. Thatcher, The Conservative's victory

The victory could embolden a growing number of senior Conservative critics of Mrs. Thatcher, including some members of her Cabinet, who have warned that her monetarist policies and harsh rhetoric are worsening Britain's severe economic crisis and erod-ing the Conservatives' political base.

Cabinet dissidents are pressing Mrs. Thatcher to increase government spending and cut interest rates to reduce record high unemployment. Conservative rebels are threatening to propose someone to chal-lenge Mrs. Thatcher for the party leadership next month, in the hope of forcing her to change course—

even though they believe they would have little in the south London suburb of Croydon.

tered among nine fringe candidates.

vide open," Mr. Pitt said Friday.

margin was 49.4 percent there in 1979.

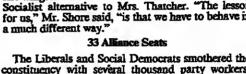

(Continued from Page 1) finance energy projects in countries hardest hit by oil prices.]

U.S. officials made it clear that they were annoyed by Britain's switch. A Cabinet member, informed that the British foreign secretary, Lord Carrington, had stated unequivocal support for global negotiations and for n new international energy agency, said:
Thanks a lot. That's just what we

One important obstacle to global negotiations is that no one is certain what they are. Mr. Gensch-er, for example, told the confer-ence that Cancin should "signal a green light for the opening of glob-al negotiations," while another West German official said an im-portant activity at Cancún should

Member of the honor guard at Cancún taking a break.

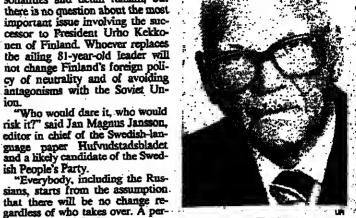

Labor leader Michael Foot and former Prime Minpaigned for Mr. Butterfill.

parties during the last year.

Mr. Pitt's 40 percent share of the Croydon vote approximately matches the level of support the Social Democratic Liberal alliance has received in national opinion polls and in local by-elections recently. That could be enough for it to win control of Parliament in the next national election in 1983 or 1984.

A Policy of Neutrality

By John Vinocur

New York Times Service

HELSINKI — Questions of per-sonalities and detail remain, but

Circulatory Disorder

likely that his doctors will shortly announce that he can no longer

A pell by the Gallup organization, published in the Helsingin Sano-mat, the largest-newspaper showed that he was backed by 60

Candidates, editors and party officials agreed in interviews this week that the acceptability of a would consider presenting a man

Johannes Koroma, editor in chief of the conservative newspaper

the issue rises and falls with world who is judged as unfriendly.

"On the street level," ish People's Party.

Urho Kekkonen

son who is anti-Soviet, or even va-guely thought of as such, cannot be a serious candidate." tensions. What the man in the street wants to know is if he'll have a president who can say nyet the right way when and if this is need-But the candidates are talking and maneuvering these days, which are widely thought to be the last of the Kekkonen era. The pres-ident, who is in his 26th year in ed. And to the extent that they can, the candidates will use this real or supposed rapport with the Soviets for themselves as campaign office, is seriously ill with a circu-latory disorder that has brought memory lapses and absentminded-

Like many things in Finland, where total political clarity is seen as a luxury of powerful and geographically secure nations, these Soviet-related arguments are often made in a kind of code.

[Mr. Kekkonen's condition deteriorated slightly during the week, the president's office said Thursday in its regular bulletin, according to The Associated Press. The inflamation of the respiratory or-An example of this came when a reporter visited Ahti Karjalainen, a governor of the Bank of Finland gans has not given up. The president is tired and he has mostly stayed in bed during the past days," the bulletin said. The next a governor of the Bank of Finland and a likely candidate of Mr. Kek-konen's Center Party. He asked Mr. Karjalainen why he thought Mr. Koivisto had never been an official guest in Moscow.

bulletin was expected Monday.

The government has made little secret of its hope that the president's health would improve sufficiently so that he might offer his own resignation, but it now seems likely the his doctors will shortly Mr. Karjalainen, a former pre-mier and foreign minister, head of the Finnish-Soviet Economic Commission for 13 years and a man who describes himself as an initial mate of the Soviet hierarchy, just a beamed. "Ah," he said, "I cannot explain that. It's a question for the soviets, really. But it is indeed true serve. A presidential election would follow, most likely in January.

The most popular of the expected candidates is Premier Mauno Koivisto, 57, a Social Democrat who has been acting president during Mr. Kelkonen's medical leave. he's never been invited."
The chairman of the Center Parage ty, Foreign Minister Parvo Vay rynen, has been more direct in several statements, he has called.

Mr. Koivisto too inexperienced in foreign policy, which is the president's responsibility.

Max Jakobson, a former Finnish diplomat who is an author and the percent of the voters questioned, while none of the other possible candidates got more than 3 perhead of a public-relations organi-zation of industry, trade and agricultural interests, has pointed out that Finns protect their independ ence and democracy by "denying themselves the luxury of making ... emotionally satisfying gestures." candidate to Moscow would be a factor in the elections, although a subordinate one, because no party

This sometimes means living with situations like refusing to condemn the Soviet interventions of Afghanistan in a United Natur tions vote last year, or avoiding of public discussion about the implications of the Soviet Union as Finland's leading trade partner, pro-

2152 Held

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

French Socialists Hold Congress

VALENCE, France — The ruling Socialist Party, which his holding its first national congress here since winning the presidential and legislative elections in the spring, heard a warning Friday to the government that it must soon cut short the parliamentary debate on its nationalization program and push the measures through despite the opposition's attempts

Mcanwhile, strikes Friday forced the closing of 11 of 12 local unentployment offices in Paris, train service to the northern suburbs was disrupted, and problems persisted at an automobile factory as labor trouble.

A series of small protest actions has erupted in the last few weeks as workers, who have been relatively quiet during the first five months under the new Socialist government, appear to be assuming a more mili-

Zimbabwe Nurses Ending Walkout

SALISBURY — Nurses at Zimbabwe's largest hospital returned to work Friday after a four-day unofficial strike, signaling the end of a week of widespread disruption in health and education services. About 400 nurses and medical assistants went back to the wards of Salisbury's Harare Hospital after receiving a letter from Health Minister Simon Mazorodze promising improved pay and conditions of employ-

Israel Assails Peace-Talks Pressure

TEL AVIV — Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir warned Friday against pressuring Israel for concessions in peace talks to make up for the murder of Sadat.

In a speech here, Mr. Shamir said that instead of being pressured, Israel needed reassurance that the peace would continue in Sadat's absence.

He apparently was referring to suggestions from Washington that Israel make concessions in negotiations on Palestinian autonomy that would bring about a breakthrough and strengthen the Muberak govern-

Pope Increases Control Over Jesuits

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II has acted to strengthen papal authority over the influential Jesuit order during the illness of its 72-year-old leader, the Very Rev. Pedro Arrupe, who had a stroke last August, Vatican sources said Friday.

The pope named the Rev. Paolo Dezza, 80, an Italian closely connected to the Vatican, as papal plenipotentiary to the order. Among his tasks would be preparing the way for a meeting to chose a successor to Father Arrupe as superior-general of the Society of Jesus, the sources said. A statement from Jesuit headquarters confirmed the report and declared that Father Arrupe would remain superior-general while Father Dezza governed the order in the pope's name.

Sen. Bumpers Opposes AWACS Sale

United Press International WASHINGTON — Sen. Dale Bumpers, an Arkansas Republican, said Friday that he will vote against the sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia — prompting Sen. Alan Cranston of California, a leading Democratic opponent of the deal, to predict a certain congressional veto

"I have concluded that this sale ... is not presently in the best interest of the United States," said Sen. Bumpers, who had been one of a handfui of undecided senators, in a statement prepared for delivery at a news. conference in Little Rock, Ark. "It is admittedly a very close call, one that I have agonized about a great deal."

The House voted, 301 to 111, against the sale of the surveillance planes on Oct. 14. Rejection by a majority of the Senate on Oct. 28 would kill the deal, which has been the focus of President Reagan's first major foreign policy light with Congress.

Reagan Cites 'Great Progress' at Cancún But Repeats Opposition to New Departure chance of defeating her.

Egyptian borders.

be defining what global negotia- national organizations should tions are.
British Prime Minister Margaret While most developing nations

Thatcher and Mr. Mitterrand ad-dressed the need for a better defidefine global negotiations as a move to establish the hierarchy of mition of the negotiations. the United Nations over such spe-The term seems to mean differcialized agencies as the World Bank and the International Moneent things to different people," Mr. Thatcher said, in a statement that stary Fund, Mr. Reagan empha-sized that "the decisions reached by these agencies within respective areas of competence are final." was less definite in its support of the negotiations than her foreign minister had been. areas or competence are man.

The question of which international body exercises authority over the global negotiations is crucial. At the United Nations, where the one-state one-vote rule applies, the industrialized model is in a mi-

Mr. Mitterrand appealed for study of what global negotiations mean, including what role the United Nations and existing inter-

U.S. Warning On Libya Ties

(Continued from Page 1) charter work, it has no indication of any U.S. citizens working for or serving in the Libyan Air Force. Mr. Romberg also reaffirmed strong U.S. support for the cre-strong U.S. support for the creation of a proposed peacekeeping force for Chad composed of troops from member nations of the Organization of African Unity.

In response to questions, however, he said the department has "unconfirmed reports" that U.S. aviation personnel — pilots and mechanics — working for United African Airways "have flown resupply flights into Chad."

Welcome Support

Support for such a force was expressed this week by French President Francois Mitterrand, and Mr. Romberg said the United States welcomed that support.

We have had regular consulta-tion with the French government and the OAU on this subject and we will continue to work elosely with them," he said. "It is our belief that once the OAU peacekeeping force is in place in Chad, that Libyan troops should be withdrawn promptly."

[In Cancun, Mexico, France's appeal for the quick dispatch of inter-African forces to Chad was prompted by fears that Libya was contemplating dramatic action in the former French colony, Reuters quoted French officials as saying

The officials said fears that Col. Qadhafi might "do something stupid" was the reason for making public an urgent message from Mr. Mitterrand to the OAU chairman, President Daniel Arap Moi of nority, but in the specialized agen-cies, where voting rights are weighted on the basis of financial contributions, the United States and other Western powers are able

the industrialized world is in a mi-

U.S. officials and those of several other countries said that they still expect compromises to be reached here, and in any future talks, that would permit the international agencies to channel more funds to the poorer countries.

to control decisions.

Police in S. Korea Plan Rights Unit

The Associated Press SEOUL — The director of South Korea's national police headquarters has announced plans to set up an agency designed to guard against possible infringments of human rights by the police.
Yoo Heung Soo told a meeting of pravincial and city police chiefe of provincial and city police chiefs Thursday that a body will be formed to protect the rights of people under police investigation.

His announcement came at a time when the police have been under media and public criticism for two alleged incidents. In one, a detective investigator was fired and charged with the theft of bank deposit certificates that had belonged to n murder victim; in the other police were alleged to have held a college student, under investigation in another murder, for 10 days without an arrest warrant. Gas Rationing in Sydney

SYDNEY — Rationing of gaso-line was scheduled to begin Friday in cities of New South Wales, including Sydney, because of a strike by oil refinery workers. Service stations will close during the weekend and from Monday will be open for only four hours daily.

ه کنامن المول

Retain U.S. Senate Votes, 86-0, to Repeal tralia Ban on Military Assistance to Chile

By William Chapman

WASHINGTON — The Senate has overwhelmingly voted to epeal a five-year-old ban on miliary assistance to the Pinochet govmment of Chile, giving the Reagan administration another rictory in its effort to improve ties with military regimes in Latin America,

If the bill is passed by the House, President Reagan would have qualified power to resume arms sales and other military aid to the Chilean government for the first time since critics succeeded in banning it because of that country's buman rights record.

In unanimously approving an amendment to a foreign-aid bill, sales in place. Sen. Kennedy, a Democrat, asserted that toxture, sentings and harassment of dissections of the control of the senting Chileans were still being practiced by the government of President Augusto Pinochet.

prove a compromise amendment. Wednesday requiring a cutoff of by the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Charles H. Percy, an Illinois Republican. It stipulated that the president can-not resume the aid until he certifies that Chile has made "significant progress in complying with internationally recognized stand-ards of buman rights."

The president also would have to state that the assistance would be in the national interests of the United States.

Late last month the Senate voted to repeal a similar 1978 ban on arms sales and aid to Argenti-

. The Senate passed the $5.8-billion foreign-aid bill Thursday night after three days of debate.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has approved a similar

Opposition Leader Says Cairo Disguises Unrest

PARIS - An Egyptian opposition leader says that President Hosni Mubarak's attacks on Moslem fundamentalists are designed to disguise the social and political breadth of Egyptian re-sistance — including the military and many professional people—to the policies of Sadat.

In an interview Tuesday, Louffi Kholy said that the Egyptian anthorities are detaining thousands more persons than officially acknowledged and that the prisoners include not only fundamentalists but also the full spectrum of opposition movements. "By putting all the blame on Moslem fanatics, Mr. Mubarak can play on the Egyptian people's desire to avoid having an Iranian situation arise in our country," according to Mr. Kholy, who is a prominent Marxist member of the National Coalition opposition group.

Mr. Kholy said that the assassination of Sadat apparently was the work of a network of Egyptian officers motivated by miniary frustress. tration, not Moslem fanaticism. This assertion runs counter to the official version, blaming the plot on several religious extremists in an army unit :

Slogan's Significance

According to Mr. Kholy, witnesses who survived the attack Oct. 6 have reported hearing Sadat's assailants shout, "Glory to Egypt, death to the traiter." The slogan was significant, he said. "If Moslem extremists had been involved, they would have cried

Mr. Kholy is one of the few ranking Egyptian opposition fig-ures who can speak out because most of his associates were arrested in Cairo in early September. He escaped arrest because he was out of the country.

Official announcements indicate that about 2,000 persons have been arrested in the last two months. "Our information shows that more than 10,000 people have been rounded up, and the crackdown is continuing." Mr. Kholy said. The 1,536 persons arrested in early September before Sadat's assassination are being kept in harsh conditions without any charges being made against them, he said.

They have not been tortured, but their families are not allowed to see them, he added. Former Felicer Held One internationally prominent person held is Mohammed Hasanein Heikal, an author and the former editor of the semi-official Cairo daily Al-Ahram.

Under Sadat, the National Con-

 $\mathcal{A}_{\mathcal{F}} = \{\{j\}_{j,j}$

lition, covering several political parties, started as little more than a token protest effort, but it gradually gained adherents as Egyptian frustrations mounted.

Of the 18 members of the National Coalition's executive, 12 are under arrest.

Close Links to Cairo

Mr. Kholy, although absent from Egypt for the last two months, retains close links to Cairo — in contrast to some of the more visible opposition figures in exile, such as former Gen. Saadeddin Shazli. After the Sadat murder, Gen. Shazli made a broadcast from Algeria urging the Egyptian Army to revolt against the govern-

Mr. Kholy dismissed Gen. Shazli as "a good soldier, but political-ly childish." No one can associate himself with the murder of an Egyptian leader, be said, and then expect ever to play a role in Egyp-tian politics. Supporters of Gen. Shazli have claimed responsibility for the assassination. Mr. Kholy said that a network of secret cells had existed among officers in the armed forces since 1973. Many members of this organization, which never had a name, resented Sadat's decision to halt the Egyptian advance during that year's October war in order to pursue a political settlement rather than a military victory.

Aware of this movement, Sadat, according to Mr. Kholy, organized a secret movement of his own to nationalist underground. This operation was directed by Mr. Mubarak, who was head of Egypt's air force before becoming Sadar's

Sadat's assassination is attributed by Mr. Kholy to some faction of the nameless military opposi-tion group. "The timing, the pro-fessionalism, the scope — all this means that high officers had to be involved," he said.

Muharak Meets With Opposition

CAIRO - President Mubarak received the leaders of two small opposition parties Thursday, and in an unexpected move pledged to meet with them regularly to "exchange opinions."

After Mr. Mubarak's meeting with the Socialist Labor Party leader Ibrahim Shukry and Liberal Party head Mostafa Kamel Murad,

Mohieddin said Mr. Mubarak had "promised them to meet with them regularly in the future to exchange opinions on whatever concerns Egypt," the official Middle East News Agency reported. Ecologists Fear Egyptians Will Neglect Sinai assistance to any nonnuclear country that in the future explodes a

The Reagan administration has not requested any funds for reviving aid to Chile, and there was no indication Thursday that it would do so soon.

Sen. Jesse Helms, the North Carolina Republican who an aide said was working in "consort" with the administration, first called for outright repeal of the prohibitions. He said the restriction had not helped the victims of human rights problems in Chile, and that it had in fact "penalized" the U.S. economy because other countries sold weapons that U.S. businesses were prohibited from selling. He also claimed that human rights viola-tions in Chile have decreased since

Sen. Kennedy, who had spon-sored the original ban in 1976, lost by a vote of 30-57 an effort to remove Sen. Helms' repealing amendment from consideration. By an agreement reached with both sides before the vote, Sen. Percy then introduced his compro-

Sen. Kennedy contended that buman rights violations were con-tinuing in Chile. He said that an American resident there had been arrested and tortured six months ago by government agents seeking to obtain information on Chilean dissidents in the United States.

Sen. Kennedy also cited the case of Orlando Letelier, the former Chilean ambassador who was assassinated in Washington in 1976. He said that the Pinochet government had refused to cooperate in the processing of three former. ment had refused to cooperate in the prosecution of three former Chilean security officials who al-legedly planned that assassination. Repealing the ban on military as-sistance, Sen. Kennedy said, would condone a new round of "terror-ism" by the Chilean government. The Senate also added support to the administration's criticism of to the administration's criticism of a group of nonaligned nations that last month issued a communique sharply critical of U.S. policies. About 40 of those countries were criticized by Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, the U.S. delegate to the United Nations, for using what she termed "vicious and erroneous" language against the United States.

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, Democrat of New York, joined the argument Thursday with an amendment to the foreign-aid bill that would have cut off aid to all those countries that did not dissociate themselves from the commu-

Lord Burghley, Dominant Figure In Olympics, Dies

better known as Lord Burghley, Marquess of Exeter, a dominant figure in the Olympic movement and former president of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, died Thursday.

Lord Burghley won the gold medal for the 400-meter hurdles at the 1928 Olympic Games in Am-sterdam and joined the International Olympie Committee in 1933, retiring only this month. He was a member of Parliament from 1931 to 1943. For the next two years he was governor of Bermuda.

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., (UPI) Rear Adm. Robert E. Dixon,

Adm. Robert E. Dixon

75, who radioed the message "Scratch one flattop" after belping sink the Japanese carrier Shosho during the Battle of the Coral Sea in May, 1942, died Wednesday.

Adm. Dixon was a lieutenant commander in charge of dive bombers on the carrier Lexington when he planted one of a dozen First Deputy Prime Minister Fuad when he planted one of a dozen bombs that, with seven torpedoes, sank the Shosho. He radioed the Lexington: "Scratch one flattop. Dixon to carrier: Scratch one flat-

EVACUATION -A women is carried to safety in a flooded street of Tokyo after heavy rains mundated the area.

The storm was caused by a typhoon in the Pacific.

By Michael Parks Los Angeles Times Service

PEKING - China and the United States are negotiating a broad eement on nuclear cooperation that would put American compa-nies into the forefront among for-eign firms bidding to build atomic power stations here, but U.S. insistence on international inspection of the civilian facilities has the talks bogged down, according to American nuclear industry offi-

Octave J. Du Temple, executive director of the American Nuclear Society, an industry group, said Friday that perhaps two more years might be needed to reach an agreement, even with the resolution of the politically sensitive issue of ourside inspection, which China has adamantly refused. But Peking may be ready as soon as mid-1982 to seek international bids for its first nuclear power plant near the southern Chinese city of Canton, participants in an American nuclear power exhibition said at the opening on Friday.

"Due to our own nuclear non-proliferation regulations, no U.S. firm can do anything as far as providing technology or equipment or plant without a bilateral Sino-American agreement on certain terms for peaceful nuclear cooperation," said John Franklin Baker, of Quadrex International Corp., which has been advising Guang-dong provincial officials on the Canton project.

"The United States is continuing to insist on periodic on-site inspection to ensure there is no diversion or potential diversion of nuclear materials to military uses although China has had nuclear weapons for almost 20 years. China is saying absolutely nn inspec-tion, either of military or civilian facilities, and sees it as an infringement of its sovereignty." Nuclear industry representatives the exhibition said they bope that the Reagan administration, which is committed to the export of American nuclear power technology and equipment, will quietly drop the inspection requirement, which the Carter administration introduced when the discussions on nuclear cooperation began in The nuclear industry representa-tives noted that James Malone, a high-ranking State Department official, and a group of U.S. government nuclear energy specialists met with senior Chinese officials last month in several days of secret talks. Mr. Malone, a lawyer, for-merly represented several nuclear power firms in the United States and abroad. Prof. Chih H. Wang, head of the department of nuclear engineering at Oregon State University and or-ganizer of the nine-day exhibition, said: "I think a bilateral agreement covering nuclear cooperation could be reached if China pledged not to transfer the technology or fuel to nonnuclear countries and that the United States accepted

With such an agreement, American nuclear firms would be leading cootenders to supply not just the first atomic power plant planned for Guangdong, supplying both Cantoo and neighboring Hong Kong with electricity, but five more plants that Peking sees as the first phase of a major nuclear power program.

The feasibility study for the Canton plant recommended a pressurized water reactor such as Electric Corp., according to Mr.

"China will go for worldwide bids and make a decision based on the technology, plant, price and linancing as is customary," Mr. Baker said. "but naturally they want proposals from American firms, and without a bilateral agreement there won't be any."

L.C. Saunders, a Westinghouse vice president and its chief representative in China, said his firm had made initial presentations in Canton and supplied some techni-cal materials, "but that is as far as we can go without a governmentto-government agreement. For the moment, however, that is far enough for Chinese authori-ties are still reviewing their economic priorities and are hesitant to commit the country to such big projects as nuclear power plants with their need for foreign financ-ing. Chinese estimates for the entire program of six plants run to more than $8 billion.

France has offered low-cost, long-term credits to finance purchase of French nuclear power plants, but American nuclear industry representatives at the exhibition said they believed Peking would likely throw open the bidding to international competition. The French reactors would be of the Westinghouse design and the State Department assured Paris several years ago that they could be sold to China although France was not insisting on periodic in-spections and would take Peking's word that no fuel had been diverted to military uses.

To Add to Its Soviet-Supplied Air Force

India Is Negotiating To Buy 150 Mirages

PARIS - France and India are engaged in major negotiations over the purchase of 150 advanced Mirage-2000 warplanes for the Indian Air Force, a deal that would give India a major source of aircraft other than the Soviet Union and give France's Mirage production lines a boost.

[India completed details Friday for the purchase of the aircraft in a deal worth an estimated $3.3 bilbion, according to French officials, Reuters reported from Paris.

[A French Defense Ministry statement said talks had been held to facilitate the conclusion of an agreement between the two countries before Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi visits France next month. The contract is expected to be signed during ber three-day visit starting on Nov. 12, officials

The deal, which Indian officials bere said was still being negonated, would include arrangements for eventual Indian assembly or manufacture of the delta-winged, all-purpose craft designed to be-come a mainstay of the French Air

The negotiations underscore the difficulties faced by major world leaders who seek to reconcile broadly stated goals of economic development with the hard realities of military competition and the high profits of arms sales. This is particularly true of President Francois Mitterrand of France, who loudly denounced arms sales to the Third World under his predecessor, and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India, who has strongly criticized neighboring Pakistan's plans to buy U.S.-made F-16s while at the same time engaging in a major multibilition-dol-lar buildup of India's armed

Both Mr. Mitterrand and Mrs. Gandhi are participants in the summit meeting of 22 world leaders under way in Cancún, Mexico, that is dealing with issues of eco-

Union Barred As Agent of Controllers

By Warren Brown

WASHINGTON - The Federal Labor Relations Authority has stripped the striking Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organiza-tion of its right to represent nearly 18,000 Federal Aviation Administration employees who operate domestie airport towers and air traf-fic centers. But hours later, the U.S. Court of Appeals here temporarily blocked the order. The decertification ruling followed a 2-1 vote by the three-mem-. ber authority, an independent ncy that has junsdiction labor-management disputes in the federal sector. A deputy elerk of the appeals court said that the court issued "a temporary stay until it can get a response from the government," which be said was due Monday.

The order was to take effect im-mediately. If it is upheld by the court, controllers' union would no longer have the right to bargain for, collect dues from, represent in grievance procedures, or to act in any other way as an agent for workers it bas represented since The air controller's organization would become the first federal un-ion permanently barred from representing its constituents. But the ruling was the second time that the union has been denied representa-tional rights by the U.S. govern-ment. It was decernified for five months in 1971 because of what the government called a strike — and what the union called a "sickont" - in 1970.

In its decision Thursday, the au thority said that the union "willful-ly and intentionally violated" U.S. law by ordering nearly 13,000 of its members, all U.S. govrnment employees, out on strike Aug. 3.
That finding upheld a decertificanion recommendation issued Aug.
14 by John Fenton, administrative law judge for the labor relations authority.

The union argued before the appeals court that the ruling would cause it major harm because automatic collection of dues would have stopped Friday for about 2,000 union members who remain

nomic growth for developing coun-plane itself, according to Indian

As the world's third largest arms exporter after the United States and the Soviet Uninn, France has 75,000 workers directly employed in the arms industry, with another 275,000 jobs depending on it indi-

Foreign military attachés here say that, with India the only lively prospect at the moment, the French defense establishment is increasingly eager to strike a deal allowing the Mirage-2000 to be produced in large enough numbers that the French Air Force will be able to buy the craft at a reasonable price.

Against this background, the Indian government team bere headed by Defense Secretary P.K. Kaul has been bargaining hard, despite a reported decision by the Indian defense establishment that the Mirage-2000 responds best to Indian needs. Aside from financing — a major problem — the talks center on delivery schedules and the pos-sibility of India's building the

Snow Blocks Brenner Pass

MILAN — A snowstorm on Thursday in the Brenner Pass that links Italy and Austria blocked road traffic for bours, police said Friday.

and French reports.

In what perhaps reflects an Indian negotiating tactic, press reports from New Delhi have emphasized that the Soviet Union is offering swift delivery of the MiG-25 at prices well below those of the Mirage-2000.

At the same time, the Indian government is reported reluctant to become lopsidedly dependent on Soviet arms supplies, particularly after a recent agreement to buy and manufacture MiG-23s to replace its aging fleet of MiG-21s. If the Mirage purchase goes through however, India is likely to back out of the final part of a three-phase $1.8-billion deal with British Aerospace in which New Delhi was to buy 40 Jaguar fighters. assemble 45 more at Bangalore and then manufacture an additional quantity. Mrs. Gandhi's government is considering the Mirage-2000 instead, according to reports from New Delhi, because it feels the French plane is more advanced and thus a superinr response to the 40 F-16s that Washington bas agreed in supply in Pakistan.

The delivery schedule is particularly important 10 India, officials said, because Pakistan is to receive its first F-16s within the year, and Dassault-Breguet has put forward 1984 as its earliest delivery date.

Carters Receive an Apology From Post on Bugging Item

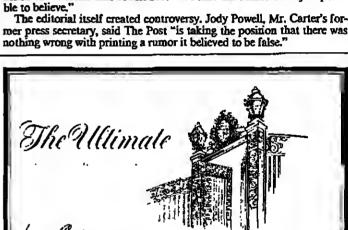

WASHINGTON - The Washington Post has apologized to former President Carter and his wife for an item that appeared in the Ear column Oct. 5 about reports that Blair House bad been bugged during President-elect Reagan's stay there in January. The apology was in the form of a letter from Post publisher Donald E. Graham to the Carters.

"I wish to retract the item that appeared in The Washington Post," the letter began. "When we published the item we had a source whom we believed to be credible and reliable, and he identified his sources as two members of your family," the letter read.

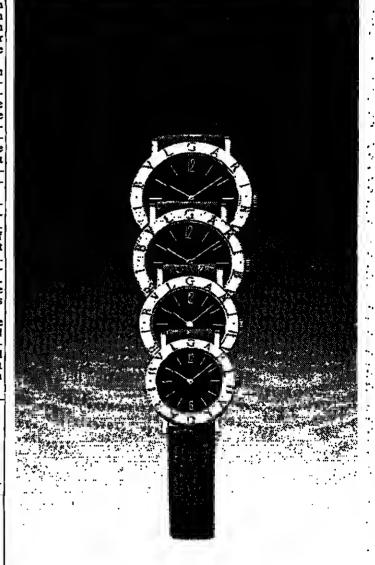

"We now believe the story he told us to have been wrong and that there was no 'bugging' of Blair House during your administration. Nor do we now believe that members of your family said Blair House was 'bugged.' "The Post has not identified its source.

The Carters had demanded an apology and threatened to sue The Post for libel. The paper had no immediate response. Six days later, it published an editorial that concluded: "We find the rumor utterly impossi-

The editorial itself created controversy. Jody Powell, Mr. Carter's for-

Beverly Wilshire Hotel Wilshire Blvd. at Rodeo Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212 (213)275-4282 Telex 698-220 Represented by HRI The Leading Hotels of the World " Member of Preferred Hotels Worldwide

BVLGARI

ROMA : 10 VIA DEI CONDOTTI NEW YORK HOTEL PIERRE GENEVE - 86 RUE DU RHÔNE MONTE CARLO - AVENUE DES BEAUX-ARTS PARIS HÖTEL PLAZA-ATHÉNÉE

To brunch or not to brunch is not the question for

le Prince de Galles

musical brunch au Prince de Galles is a must which offers shredded wheat à la Surrey, assorted Danish pastnes, smoked sturgeon, smoked salmon, scrambled eggs aux Kiwis, crab beignets. York-shire sausages, leg of lamb steak, Caesar's salad, cottage cheese with fruit salad, cheesecake, strawberry shortcake. champagne by Pommery et Greno.

140 F. p.p.

Tax, service and half bottle of Champagne included. Saturday and Sunday with music from 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m.

> Hûtel Prince de Galles 33, avenue George-V. Paris Reserve your table at 723.55.11

Conservation Body Urges World Effort to Preserve Scenic Peninsula The IUCN, based in Switzerfectively isolated since it was cap-tured by the Israelis in 1967. De-spite this, its attractions have long 1975 convention outlawing trade By Jain Guest land, called for support and technal Herold Tribun

GLAND, Switzerland - The assassination of Sadat has raised fears among conservationists that efforts by the Egyptian government to preserve the spectacular environment of the Sinai may be given a low priority as the new regime struggles to consolidate pow-The Sinai Peninsula embraces bird sanctuaries, coral reefs and unique vegetation. It is also revered by Christians and Jews as the site of the 6th-century Byzan-tine Monastery of St. Catherine and the legendary site where Moses received the Ten Com-

Members of the international conservation community are concerned that the momentum and enthusiasm generated by the late Egyptian president may not be sustained by his successor. The fears seem certain to intensify if the remainder of the Sinai is not handed over by the Israelis to Egypt in April next year, as

Organized Appeal

The International Union for Conservation of Nature, which is the scientific sister body of the World Wildlife Fund, has urged at its annual assembly in Christchurch, New Zealand, that governments help Egypt conserve the environment of the Sinsi Peninsula, the Associated Press reportnical assistance from governments and organizations for Egypt's conservation strategy on the peninsu-la. It asked Egypt to consider stipulating certain areas in the Sinai as natural and cultural heritage sites. In particular, these are the mountains around the Monastery of St. Catherine and the site of Ras Mohammed at the southern tip of the peninsula.

Areas of Interest

Two bodies that could belp are Unesco and the UN Environment Program, which heard last week that its 1982 contribution from the United States may be cut to zero. Unesco's World Heritage Fund, which came into force in 1975 and now has 60 signatories, has given $546,000 to cultural projects in 10 developing countries, including the Islamic sector of Old Cairo. Even though the World Heritage Fund is embroiled in a row over the status of Old Jerusalem, it is seen as well-placed to help preserve the Monastery of St. Catherine, if the Egyptian government were to

The UN Environment Program has won valuable experience in the Middle East through its sponsorship of the Mediterranean Environment Convention, which brought Israel, Egypt, Syria and Libya together at meetings. The UN institution is promoting a similar programs for the protection of The Gulf and Red Sea. The Sinai Peninsula has been ef-been appreciated by environmen-talists, who identify four areas of outstanding interest: • The mountains around the Monastery of St. Catherine, which of the late president, sponsored a was commissioned by the Byzantine emperor Justinian and completed in 557 A.D. The monastery stands at the foot of Mount Sinai, where Moses is reported to have talked to God at the burning bush. The area also serves as the habitat of the Sinai leopard, unique to the coastline to the west, along which is the coral reef of Ras Mohammed - one of the finest in The Bardawil bird sanctuary in the north, bordering the Mediterranean, a major stopover for exhausted birds on their migration between Asia, Africa and Europe. • The ancient Egyptian tur-quoise mines of Sarabit el-Khadwhich provided pharoahs with their jewelry. Porters and miners incised hieroglyphics in nearby caves that are believed to be the forerunners of the Hebrew. Roman and Greek alphabets.

Some are concerned that this has not been effectively transmitted to Egypt under the Camp David process, and their worries have now increased because of the personal lead taken by the Sadat family in promoting the environment. Under Sadat, Egypt joined the in products of endangered species, the International Wetlands Convention, the Heritage Convention and the Mediterranean Conven-In 1979, Jihan Sadat, the widow national conservation strategy based on an ambitious world plan proposed by IUCN, the World Wildlife Fund and the UN Environment Program Sadat's own role appears to have been a blend of inspiration and flamboyance. Conservationists were outraged when he gave approval last year to About 150 miles of Red Sea a French artist, Jean Verame, to eastline to the west along which spray 13 tons of black and blue paint on the rocks of Bir Nafach. near the site of St. Catherine. Against this, Mr. Sadat is reported to have been planning to retire to Sinai and establish a shrine at St. Catherine for three religions.

andrea PFISTER

Shoes - Accessories - Perfumes TO SUIT YOU

% Rue Defear - Paris VI - Tel: 5481249

Saturday-Sunday, October 24-25, 1981

Nuclear Static

From the static that arose from his remarks on nuclear war the other day, President Reagan should have taken a valuable lesson: Talking about nuclear war is a political mine field, especially when, as now, deep currents of anxiety about official policy are running in the United States country and abroad. Most days it just might be better to say that the United States is determined to defend its allies and deter its adversaries and let it go at that. Any effort to stray beyond this familiar terrain invites trouble.

So it was when Mr. Reagan, who knows what he thinks on the matter but is painfully unpracticed at expressing it, permitted himself to ramble on about nuclear war. Along the way, he said, with his characteristic can-dor, that he didn't honestly know if a limited nuclear exchange would escalate, but that in a stalemate, "I could see where you could have the exchange of tactical weapons ... without it bringing either one of the major powers to pushing the hutton."

There was nothing new or surprising about this statement. Almost inevitably, however, the European press, which is hyperthyroid on this issue, picked it up. It converted his unexceptionable observation — that a limited exchange might not escalate - into an indiscreet confession that the United States would allow Europe to become a nuclear battlefield while Americans perched safely on the sidelines. By the time the sequence had run its course, Leonid Brezhnev was demanding that Mr. Reagan make a "elear and unambiguous statement" rejecting the very idea of nuclear attack.

Actually, a "clear and unambiguous statement" is, for better or worse, out of the question. The American doctrine governing use of nuclear weapons has always had a central core of ambiguity, and properly so. On the one hand, the United States wants to persuade Moscow, in the words of a second Reagan statement issued Wednesday, "that no aggressors should believe that the use of nuclear weapons in Europe could reasonably be limited to Europe." On the other, the United States wants to assure Europeans that if it were necessary to use nuclear weapons in their behalf against a Soviet attack, they would not be used promiscuously. The first line requires Washington to communicate a deadly intent and the second a sense of restraint. This is the heart of the nuclear paradox. It is unavoidable, and it lends itself to confusion in the best of times.

And these are not the best of times. One reason is that Mr. Reagan's hard-line approach to the Soviet Union has fed alreadyexisting anti-NATO, anti-nuclear and even anti-American currents in Europe and has complicated the work of European governments in keeping Atlantic relations on an even keel. Since the margin of common interest and understanding on which American leadership in NATO rests is not unlimited, Mr. Reagan cannot afford to expend American capital loosely. He should be careful to release no more nuclear static into the air.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Where the New Money Is

The banks complain bitterly that their business is being overrun hy new competitors that, not being traditional banks, don't have to obey the banking laws. Citibank in New York, the country's second-largest commercial bank, has produced an inspired polemic in a witty brochure entitled "Old Robbers' Guide to Where the New Money Is." There's a picture of Willie Sutton, who robbed banks because, as he once said in a classic explanation, that's where the money was. But more than $150 billion has gone into the moneymarket funds over the past three years and, as Citibank asks, "Where's the money today, Willie?"

Citibank turns to Ma Barker, whose family in the 1920s and 1930s stuck up 17 banks in nine states. "As a working mother, Ma Barker would agree that convenience is as important in finance as it is in shopping," Citibank says. "Today's busy career woman simply hasn't the time to cover nine states. Forwardlooking companies like Household Finance, Sears Roebuck and J.C. Penney serve family needs by providing a wide range of conventent retail and family services Sears, the biggest U.S. retail chain, is also the largest savings and loan holding company. Scars can give you a NOW account with bill-paying by telephone, sell you insurance, plan your trip and rent you a car."

You are not required to take the banks' protests quite at face value. So far, they are holding their own pretty well. But it's also true that as their customers learn to use the new institutions - money market and securities funds, for example, with check-cashing provisions - the hanks will have to expect significant losses of deposits to them. This process is part of the country's adaptation to high inflation and interest rates.

Sen. Jake Garn has drafted legislation, on which his Banking Committee has been holding hearings, in an attempt to redress the terms of competition in the financial industry. But when Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan testified for the administration, he was exceedingly cautious and qualified in his

His dilemma is genuine. If the government allows the banks to compete more widely with the securities dealers and the mutual funds, beyond a certain point it would create a degree of risk to the country's basic financial structure. But if it continues to do nothing, the heavily regulated banks' deposits will decline, and a boisterous and highly aggressive new style of quasi-banks, operating on razor-thin margins, will take over an increasing share of the country's financial business. That's not a formula for stability either.

Part of the solution is a relaxation of some of the present banking laws. The prohibition on interstate banking, for example, is clearly obsolete. And part of the solution — although it runs counter to the spirit of the times and of this administration — is more careful regulation of the securities firms and mutual funds where they have edged farther and farther into commercial banking.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Freedom of Information

The Reagan administration's proposed "Freedom of Information Improvements Act of 1981" is an oddly titled bill. Its main purpose, quite contrary to current law, is to make it easier for government to withhold information and harder for people to obtain it. Sponsored by an administration that claims to be getting Washington off the people's back, the bill is a trophy for those who want to keep much of the public's business a hidden government enterprise.

The proposal includes some repressive features, but it is primarily a laundry list of bureaucratic conveniences. Further damage may be expected when the Central Intelligence Agency adds its own relief bill, seeking its total exemption from the act. Congress should not accept any part of this package.

The Freedom of Information Act has proved to be a brilliant, uniquely American achievement. Its propositions are profound yet elementary expressions of democracy: that government documents belong to the public, not the public servants who generate them, and that they should be normally open for inspection. The law carves out reasonable exemptions for national defense and intelligence secrets, current investigations, company trade secrets and violations of privacy. But within those limits, it lets anyone demand n document without telling the government why, and allows appeal to the courts when the document is withheld.

So what are the Reagan "improvements"?

· Recognizing that officials are too free with "secret" stamps, Congress required proof that a withheld document was properly classified under an agency's own standards. The Reagan administration would create a difficult burden for the requesters, requiring them to show that the restriction of information they have not seen was utterly arbitrary.

· Besides the existing, legitimate exemptions for law enforcement files, the bill would empower the attorney general to withhold any records that he chooses to mark "terrorism," "organized crime" or "foreign counterintelligence." The denials of the Justice Department notwithstanding that would have protected the records of the infamous Cointelpro, the program of illegal searches and surveillance by which the FBI tried to link domestic dissidents with foreign adversaries.

Although the courts have guarded industrial trade secrets from disclosure, the administration wants the power to withhold other "commercially valuable information" submitted by private companies. That's an exemption big enough to drive an automobile recall order through.

A law as bold as the Freedom of Information Act is a natural target of abuse by foreign spies, criminals and unscrupulous businesses. An administration so disenchanted with the act that it sponsors wholesale changes could be expected to point to scores of misuses. But it has not done that. The only evident abuse of this valuable law are these so-called improvements.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

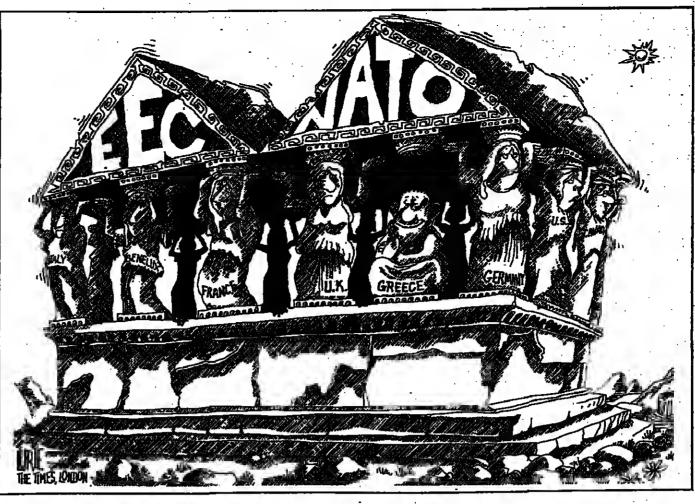

In the International Edition

Seventy-Five Years Ago Saturday, October 24, 1906

LONDON - William Austin, laborer, of Burnham, who has been charged at various times with stretching a wire across the Great Bath road in Buckinghamshire, to "decapitate" automobilists, and has been convicted for placing nails on the same road to bring automobiles to grief, was yesterday summoned at Beaconsfield for committing willful damage to a woman's bicycle. Austin attended a ploughing match at Burnham and was seen to stab the tires with a knife. Five other bicycles were similarly damaged. Austin was sentenced to two months' hard labor.

Fifty Years Ago Saturday, October 24, 1931

NEW YORK — In commenting on French Pre-mier Laval's plea yesterday in his address at the City Hall for the support of the United States in France's security, Walter Lippmann, in his New York Herald Tribune column, observes: "Any attempt to enlist the United States' support to all of the particulars of the Versailles treaty are bound to fail. Americans are convinced that the Polish corridor is the chief obstacle to security. France, he points out, was forced, by the U.S. pullout from Europe, to make military alliances that require the support of Polish arms.

Jaruzelski's Military Takeover 'à la Polonaise'

By Leopold Unger

Poland is the first Communist country in which the leadership of the party has been handed to a career military officer, Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, in full spite of the specter of "red Bonapartism" that has haunted the Bolshevik system since its inception.

Furthermore, the new Polish party leader is also — and until further notice — premier and minister of defense. Never since the death of Stalin have these functions been cumulated in Eastern Europe; such an accumulation was specifically outlawed by the Polish Communist Party congress in July

And when Stalin, as generalissimo, held similar functions at the same time, he was no more a military leader than President Leonid I. Brezhnev, who is a marshal of the Soviet Union.

No Surprise in Warsaw

Although Gen. Jaruzelski's accumulation of power may be only temporary, it is a clear signal that the Polish Army is assuming an ever-increasing role on the domestic and international scene. Yet, this sudden and unprecedented introduction of the army into the government of a Communist country comes as no surprise in Warsaw, nor to Moscow.

The process of militarization began last February with the designation of Gen. Januzelski as premier. In March, a general was sent to Bydgoszcz to get himself elected to the district council. A few days after his election, the city was subjected to an act of police provocation that came close to pushing the nation to the brink of serious civil disturbance.

Since that time, another general was handed the presidency of the national airline, Lot, and four more generals were given government posts. They were placed in the departments of mines, science and universities, in education, transportation and mechanical industries - which means the arms industry.

And more important yet, for the first time, the Interior Ministry was put under the control of a general, Czesław Kiszczyk, who until recently was head of military intelligence.

Further, the biggest single contingent of delegates at the ninth party congress in July came from the military. And, higher yet in ruling circles, 19 military men, including all the assistants of the minister of defense, are members of the Central Committee, which has ousted Stanislaw Kania and named Gen. Jaruzelski as party chief.

Militarization appears evident, and yet, one of the most vital questions that will have to be resolved in Poland is that of the role that Gen.

PARIS — Bonaparte, Tito and Pinochet ... more than names, they are political systems, and cliches too easily bandied about; they have no current application in Poland.

Januzelski's army would be willing to accept in any action against striking workers. And even more important, would the army stand by without reacting if the nation's territory were invaded by foreign forces?

No class form? The striking workers are invaded by foreign forces?

No clear "yes" or "no" answer is possible today. The army is made up of 318,000 men, of whom 185,000 are conscripts, and it prides itself at being the very image of the nation. And if 85 percent of the officers — including all the general officers — are members of the Communist Party formed in Soviet war colleges and through experience with Soviet troops, 80 percent of the conscripts are reported to belong to the independent prior Solidarity.

"Our army may be equipped and controlled by the Soviet Union," an army observer remarked, "but our soldiers are Polish to the core. Every officer has 12 bullets in his pistol, and he will fire 11 against an invader, saving the last one for himself."

For the time being however, nothing so dramatic is being envisaged and there are a number of advantages to be gained from the military takeover "à la Poionaise." For instance, the new party chief, an austere man, almost a caricature of an officer, is the only national leader to have the respect of the Poles as well as the confidence of Moscow. But the Poles are far from being impressed by the uniform alone. The population knows that Gen. Jaruzelski had earlier refused to allow his troops to be used against strikers. And he also has succeeded in keeping the army from getting involved in the party's internecine warfare.

A Last Chance for Party

The army is the last institution under Communist control that has not failed thoroughly. Thus, the army and men who make up that institution represent one of the party's last chances to put an end to the state of lethargy or paralysis that has bound it, and to undertake a serious and useful dialogue with the nation.

This should be no surprise to Moscow. Soviet emissaries have recently launched a number of trial balloons concerning military rule in Poland. Moscow has attacked and destroyed Mr. Kania and, therefore, must now have every reason to be kind to Gen. Jaruzelski.

The new party chief is a soldier, a graduate and pure product of Soviet military and political schools, who long served as the Polish Army's political commissar.

As a result, Gen. Jaruzelski could become that rare creature capable of reassuring Moscow of the continuity of its system and Poland of a real and thorough change. He could be the one man able to combine and serve both the interests of Poland and of the Soviet Union. Q1981. International Herald Tribune

North, South and the Worst of Both Worlds

By William Pfaff

DARIS - The United States entered the Cancún conference on North-South relations with most of Europe on the other side of the big arguments. European governments mostly take the Third World's side in the debates over how much aid should go to the poor nations and how it should be supplied.

France's external relations min-ister, Claude Cheysson, said on the eve of his departure for Mexico that "We are scandalized that people calmly accept things in the world around them that they could never accept at home — that the price of essentials, for example, should multiply four times in a year, while income falls by 50 per-cent in four months. We think that the world markets must be regulated in the same way that incomes and the costs of essentials are regulated here in France."

But if only economic philosophy were at stake, the gulf between the United States and the Third World countries, with their European al-lies, would be large but surmountable. After all, the test is a practi-cal one. The Reagan administra-tion tells the poor nations that free tion tells the poor nations that free markets and free capitalism produce growth, and growth in turn will result in a better life for all. Market and Socialist opponents of this way of looking at things say that central planning and direction of the economy, plus a global redistribution of wealth, is the way to general prosperity and healthy to general prosperity and healthy

Popular Memory

Events will prove who is right, or they would if certain other factors were not so important.

The real argument is not so de-tached, nor is it pragmatic. The differences expressed at Cancún arise from national experience and historical belief. The United States has always been fairly confident in its capitalism, and the country has done well from capitalism, al-though not always as well as peo-ple may be inclined to think. The Third World takes its ideas mostly from Europe, and Europeans have always distrusted the free market and unchecked competition. For them, historically, capitalism too often has meant injustice. These judgments are embedded in the popular memory and conscience of

But more important is that neither the American economic liberals nor the Marxists actually respond to the full reality of the Third World countries.

Take the example of Latin America Latin American has no feudal past, as does Europe. Its history is of Spanish imperial insti-tutions and civilization. It has never possessed an industrial bour- Geneva.

Third World Summit

rialistic values of the contempo-rary United States, which preaches to Salvadoran peasants the values of George Gilder (or George Bab-bit — spiritually, they are the Reform Movements

The United States, moreover, has never really settled the question of how it should deal with reform and revolutionary move-ments in the Third World, when these inevitably come into conflict with U.S. political and material

Should Washington try to compete with the Soviet Union for the friendship of these movements?

Should it compete with the Russians in the game of sponsoring naoisie, an entrepreneurial capitalism. The classes of Latin society do not fit Marxist categories.

Political liberalism, on the other hand, never fit Latin America. The great 19th-century constitutions that were written on the model of the U.S. constitution have since lapsed or collapsed. The intellectual tradition is anti-liberal, ascetic, Roman Catholic, paternalistic, authoritarian. It defies the assumptions of Marxist political and economic analysis. It is also hostile to the Protestant, meliorist and mate-

—Letters-U.S. Budget

Further cuts in the U.S. budget, which will burt the poor and weak-en defense, will probably meet great resistance in Congress. A tax on gas, tobacco and liquor should be acceptable. The prices of the above in relation to Western Europe are still very low and from our experience demand is inelastic. Moreover, the reduction or elimination of the deficit would give confidence to the financial markets and interest rates should decline, spurring the investment boom so eagerly await-

NORMAN ADES,

World? Or must it oppose these since they jeopardize international stability and often profess Marxist or Maoist ideologies? Washington, in fact, has at vari-ous times done both. U.S. aid programs, the Kennedy administra-tion's Peace Corps, even some of the programs of the CIA, have backed change, development, lib-eration, even revolution. Other U.S. policies have had the effect of Supporting counterrevolution.

That was the case, in the end, in Victnam, whereas in the beginning, when the United States took over the sponsorship of the new re-public of Victnam after France's withdrawal, Americans saw themselves as reformers.

tional movements in the Third

It is as counterrevolutionary that the United States presented itself in Iran, and does now in the Middle East and El Salvador.

Unconvincing

President Jimmy Carter and his United Nations ambassador, Andrew Young tried in the mid-1970s to re-position the United States as friend of national liber-ation and defender of Third World interests. The attempt was unconvincing because American political as well as economic interests press the country toward defense of sta-bility and of the status quo. Ameri-can interests are conservative.

The policy dilemma is funda-mental. The United States is a conservative nation, a "have" nation, with a liberal ideology. The American economic system and its materialist values are repugnant to most elites in the Third World, as well as more often than not irrelevanl to their condition.

American democratic beliefs, on the other hand, cause Americans to sympathize with the liberation and development of the poor countries. The result has been to give Washington the worst of both worlds. It has earned the distrust of conservatives, and at the same time the hatred of revolutionaries. Cancin only emphasizes Washington's dilemma.

01981, International Herald Tribune.

Democrats Target GOP 'Grossness'

By David S. Broder

WASHINGTON — Target-ing" is beginning to emerge as the key political concept in the Democratic Party's search for a response to Ronald Reagan and his program.

The meeting last weekend of the Democrats' new National Strategy Council — a collection of several dozen elected federal, state and lo-cal officials — produced nothing that could be dignified with the label of a policy alternative to the economic, defense or social policies of the Reagan administration.

But listening to the sometimes spirited discussion among these mostly very bright, under-50 Democrats, you could get a sense of where the party may be going. Their fundamental criticism of Reaganism can be summarized in that derogatory exclamation of teen-agers: "It is gross."

Gross in the sense of excessive.

Gross in the sense of crude. Gross in the sense of awkward. Gross in the sense of poorly defined.

One reason that the Democrats one reason that the Democrats have been slow in formulating their indictment of Reagan's policies is that he is personally none of those things. He is trim, tasteful, graceful and eminently clear about his purposes.

Variations

But as you listened to the Democrats talk, you could hear them trying out variations on what might become the party theme for 1982 and 1984. That theme is "tar-

In the economic area, they were saying that Reagan's tax cuts, budget cuts and regulatory reforms budget cuts and regulatory reforms were, in every sense, gross. The tax cuts were too big, threatening ex-cessive deficits. The budget cuts were too big, threatening lifeline support systems for people and needed investment in the social capital of transportation, technology and education. Deregulation was too rapid, heedless of consequences for competition and the environment. In their eagerness to dismantle the old rules, they said, Republicans old rules, they said, kepubicans were planting oil wells on scenic coastlines. Instead of encouraging small firms in growth industries, they were allowing mergers of giant companies, a spectacle that economist Walter Heller said reminded him of dinosaurs mating - a gross image if there ever was

In his handling of federalism, they maintained, Reagan's approach was equally crude. Rather than a careful sorting of the programs best handled by different the control of the programs best handled by different the control of the programs are the control of the programs and the control of the programs are the program evels of government, he was -- the Democrats maintained — engaged in a headlong process of ditching federal responsibilities and loading them onto the states and cities, whether they were fiscally or ad-ministratively ready for them or

In the area of national defence, they said, Reagan was for doing everything now — and hang the cost. The recent decision to proceed with MX missiles and bbombers and Stealth aircraft all atonce was expensive, excessive and

-gross.
Similarly, in the area of diplomacy. Rather than dealing with all the shadings of character in the governments of the world with a subtly tuned foreign policy, the Democrats maintained, Reagan is classifying everyone as friend or foe, showering weapons on the friends and invective on the foes. A gross oversimplification.

Is this a start on a strategy — or just a catch phrase?

Specifics Lacking

What Democrats have yet to prove nationally is that their "targeting" approach is more than wa-tered-down Reaganism. They have not provided the specifies that are there in the Republican programs they criticize.

When Republicans took a similar line against then-dominant Democrats, they were accused of having a "me-too" philosophy. Today, most Democrats echo Reagan's arguments. They say taxes should be cut, federal programs pruned, regulations eased, invest-ment increased, state and local governments trusted, defenses in proved and foreign relations strengthened — but carefully.

Their challenge is to spell out what they mean. And they say they are ready for it, that they have found economists as unknown as Art Laffer was five years ago, defense specialists as anonymous as John Lehman was then, who are eager for the challenge.

If you believe that competition is as good for polities as it is for business, then the "targeting" de-bate will be healthy for the coun-

©1981, The Washington Post,

Letters intended for publica-tion should be addressed "Letters to the Editor," and must include the writer's address and signature. Priority is given to leuers that are brief and do not request anonymity. Letters may be abridged. We are unable to acknowledge all letters, but value the views of readers who submit

Publisher

Executive Editor

Editor

Deputy Editor

Herald Tribune

John Hay Whitney Chairman .

Katharine Graham Arthur Ochs Suizberger Co-Chairmen

immentational Herald Telbute, S.A. an capital de 1 200 000 F. R.C.
Paris No 71 E 212. 179/181, sen Chiefes de Genille, 1952 i Nemilyrue-Scine, Tri Ni-1-2-8. Telec e 1921 B Result Paris Cobie. Herald, Paris Devenuer de la publication: Walter N. Tissye: U.S. solucarpidos price 5235 yearly, Socient class promete; paris of Long, bland City.
N.Y 1100 © 1931 International Herald Telbute, All chipto personal Commission Proteins No. 34 Millione, and chipto personal Georgial Manuscr. Acids: Alban Lectors 2434 Millionespay Road, Room.

General Manager, Asia: Alain Lecopy 24-34 Hermony Road, Room 1801, Hong Kong, Tel. 5-28 56 1879, Teles: 61 (70 SHTHREAD).

Stephen Klaidman

Lee W. Huebner

Philip M. Foisie

Walter N. Wells

Robert K. McCabe

Richard H. Morgan

Chief Editorial Writer Rene Bondy Francois De

Associate Publisher Director of Finance Director of Circulation Director of Advertising

′

iNi

1111

THE SOGEX GROUP OF COMPANIES

LEAD CONTRACTORS ON THE

JEDDAH IV DESALINATION & POWER COMPLEX

THE WORLD'S LARGEST SINGLE DESALINATION PLANT (WHEN COMPLETED) HAVE PLEASURE IN EXTENDING THEIR CONGRATULATIONS TO THE PEOPLE OF

SAUDI ARABIA

ON THE OCCASION OF THE INAUGURATION OF THIS COMPLEX UNDER THE AUSPICES OF

HIS MAJESTY KING KHALED IBN ABDEL AZIZ

SOGEX MANAGEMENT INTERNATIONAL, 15-25 BOULEVARD DE L'AMIRAL BRUIX 75016 PARIS

OTHER MEMBERS OF THE SOGEX GROUP OF COMPANIES PARTICIPATING IN THE ABOVE PROJECT

SOGEX-ARABIA P.O. BOX NO. 6926 JEDDAH SAUDI ARABIA

INCON ANLAGENTECHNIK GmbH EISENBAHNSTRASSE 47 6650 HOMBURG/SAAR GERMANY

PEGEL-ARABIA P.O. BOX NO. 2929 RIYADH SAUDI ARABIA

LONDON SWI

SOGEX HOUSE 6/7 GROSVENOR PLACE

SOGEX SERVICES (UK) LIMITED

SOGEX MANAGEMENT INTERNATIONAL SAL PO, BOX NO. 11-9445 BEIRUT LEBANON

ENVIROGENICS SYSTEMS COMPANY INC. 9255 TELSTAR AVENUE EL MONTE CALIFORNIA 91731

1.28 9/2.84 7.40 9/2.19 1.96 1.96 2.48 pri4.74 1.30 1.50 1.50 1.50 1.50 1.50

1.40 40 2.40 1.82 12.40 1.19 13.50 8.10

9 1.28 pf2.16 8.14b 2.28 10.70 .40 1.60

13%

 10^{-1} $10^{$

| 14, BT Mile |

31

2200 1.50 1.50 1.50 1.50 1.50 1.40 12.50 2.50 2.50 2.75 2.80

以下的。 1000年 10

LPE | 93|
11th LITCO | 12th LLCCS | 12th

20% MACOM 319% MCA 319% MCB 319% MCB 319% MCB 319% MGCP 31134 MGCPB 11134 MGCPB 11134 MGCPB 11134 MGCPB 11134 MGCPB 1714 MGSPB 407 MgSPA 407 MgSPA 407 MgSPA 407 MGPB 1514 MGPB

11年4月1日 11年1日 11年1

1,36 pr 2 2 2 1 5,34 21,40 21,40 1,40 1,40

25724 V 4574 V 4774 V 4

NYSE Nationwide Trading Closing Prices Oct.

Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street. 所是对这种的人,我们是我们的一个是我们 THE PARTY OF THE P 56 37 72 1.40 94 1.88a 20e 2.20e + .60 3 .50 3 .50 5 .50 5 .67 6 .11 6 .22 1 .40 1 .40 1 .45 1 .40 2147.221 16.54.351425141

21855 775588554 STANS 100 444 STANS 100 454 STANS 100 455 ord 44 and 44 and 45 an

| 1946 SISSUM | 1.48 | 1.15 | 2.28 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 | 2.16 |

27% Glosen
24 FAC
25 Februe
6% Februe
6% Februe
6% Februe
6% Februe
600 Feire
11% Februe
7% Frittel
7% Februe
13% Fedice
17% Fedice

1,30 1,32 ,14 1,30 2,40 1,60 1,21

20th Secritor | 1.44 |
17th Secritor | 1.45 | TANKAU PARAMENTAN TANKAU TANKA 2714 NSPW | 44 NSPW | 44 NSPW | 44 NSPW | 55 NSPS | 55 NSPS | 55 NSPS | 65 N 657 192 34 24 24 1.06 1.80 .40 1.72 2.40 2.52 14th TECO 1.72
17 TRE 1
48 TRW 240
24th Torright .92
13th Tolley pt 1
26 Trody n
17th Thereft .92
13th Tolley pt 1
13th Tolle 5 1409 4 2944 4 2945 1 4 2297 0 568 6 987 7 10 568 7 10 05c 4.20 1.40 1.40 1.40 pt7.15 pt2.10 2.40 pf 3.50 pf 1.94

对对这种情况的情况,我就是这种情况,我们是这个人,我就是这种情况,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们是这种人,我们是这个人,我们是这个人,我们也是这一个人,我们是这个人,我们也是这个人,我们也是这个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是这一个人,我们也是

To our readers... Please let us know about ony prob-lems you may have obtaining your copy of the International Herold Tri-bune. Write with all pertinent information to: François Desmaisons Circulation Director International Herald Tribune 181, avenue Charles-de-Gaulls, 92200 Neuilly, France.

In Asia and Pacific write to:

ر حکامن، المول

(Continued on Page 12)

Alain Lecaur, International Herold Tribune 1801 Tai Sang Commercial Building, 24-34 Hennessy Road, Hong Kong.

Arts Travel Leisure

Herald Tribune eeken

Don't Pass the Kleenex, and Other Asian Etiquette

by Harry Rolnick

ONG KONG — About 2,300 years ago, the Chinese philosopher Mencius offered a rule of banquet protocol. "There are those who abhor the act of killing animals, yet they enjoy eating meat and are perplexed as to how to behave. I suggest that they sit at the banquet table but stay out of the kitchen."

That pragmade approach to dining also applies to other social customs in the Far East loday. The visiting Westerner shouldn't make things needlessly difficult by worrying too hard about embarrassing either his host or his business partner. There are no hidebound all. business partner: There are no hidebound all-Asia books of etiquette; even if there were, Anian reaction to breaches of etiquette are met with great tolerance. At worst, as in China, there is an embarrassed silence. In Thailand, uproarious laughter greets the faux pas.

And in Hong Kong, nobody cares very much, save for one unbreachable rule of enquette: At a Hong Kong dinner party, one never says, "Frankly, I think that money isn't as important as happiness." That unforgivable thought has caused servants to quit on the spot, men to challenge the speaker to a duel and sensitive women to swoon.

Fortunately, Southeast Asia provides a twotiered system of etiquette that is relatively easy to understand. On the upper level is a code of action (or attitude) observed throughout the continent. On the lower lever, each country has its minor taboos, based on religious, social or purely pragmatic grounds.

On this all-embracing top level, Asia is still very much a man's society. True, many wom-en, especially in Thailand, have achieved the status of business magnates, but this hardly means social acceptance on a level of equality. Thus, the business invitation in Thailand, the Philippines and almost always in Malaysia and Indonesia means men only. Should a man be traveling with his wife, he might ask discreetly (or, if possible, obliquely) about the mixture of guests. The answer, except from the most Western-educated hosts, will probably be that linner will be stag — frequently followed by issits to establishments that provide female en-

Another guideline is that, in presenting a It to a host, never give more than a token. A it of appreciation should oever be open to isinterpretation as a gift of inducement or as away of impressing the host. Confucius himselvas said by a friend never even to have gen a bow of thanks for a gift, "even if it we a carriage and horses." To thank someon is regarded in Asia as a way of putting onelf in the donor's debt — "thank you" is a buness phrase, not a phrase between friends.

to business conversation at dinner,

Auticans in Asia frequently have problems becase that is what they regard as the purpose of diner: to talk business. In Asia, the subject is rally discussed directly. The oblique way is best kirt the subject, dodge in and out and retain sense of small talk.

"The British in Asia are good at this sort of thing notes writer Russell Spurr, "because the Brish are hypocrites. They know how to talk obliquely, and the Asians like that. Americans don't manage so well. They want to do things the straight way."

Above all, never back the host into a corner verbally. If forced to give a yes-or-no answer, the Asian's "yes" might mean "Yes, I hear you"; his "no," if used at all, means "No, let's not talk seriously any more." These basic rules apply everywhere in Asia. Lower-tiered etiquette varies from country to country; the visitor can hardly be expected to understand it all. Malaysia may be the most difficult case. For here, one has Malays, Chinese and Indians, all with their own prejudices, customs and prohi-

First, the food prohibioons: No pork to be ordered with Malays. No liquor either (although this rule is frequently overlooked). No beef for the Indians, sometimes no meat at all; the Westerner must inquire discreetly about this. The Chinese bost will ear anything — but he may be so solicitous about what his guests prior that he way not enjoy his compared.

enjoy that he may not enjoy his own meal.

If invited to a Chinese home, do not walk up to the family shrine and fool around with the joss sticks. Shrines are not "cute." And in Malay homes, don't ask the hostess to join the men at the table; woman's place is in the kitch-

Then there's the clothing problem. Whatever beautiful batik or silk or cotton robes the visi-tor may have picked up in the market, it's best not to wear it at dinner. In heavily traditional, upper-class Malay society, every piece of cloth-ing has a significance, every design may speci-fy a certain rank. A simple necklace or a belt has a hidden meaning and for a foreigner to unwittingly wear a design usually worn only by the family of the sultan of the state would be a great embarrassment.

Across the way, in Indonesia, the one rule of protocol is: "Don't disturb the gods." In Bali certainly, but also in Java, there are unobtrusive shrines to many detties in unexpected places. These may be tiny statues placed near a door or in a garden, small joss sticks or candles under a tree, or wooden faces peering eerily down from a branch. Do not disturb.

On a more secular note, Indonesian busi-nessmen are fairly sensitive about their origins. The reason is that most are of Chinese origin, although they have taken on Indonesian names, ft is impolite to inquire too deeply into the host's family history. Also, at Indonesian business dinners, do oot talk about corruption.

Incidentally, certain hand signals that West-erners use to summon people are considered fairly obscene. So are arms held akimbo. And so is the use of the left hand in eating. As in India, the left hand is used for abbutions; the right hand touches food.

While the visitor may not be aware of all these matters - or may be afraid of breaking taboos - he needn't worry. In Thailand, in fact, there is a distinct merriment at seeing foreigners doing the "wrong" thing. (Still, the — distinctly taboo, as the spirit resides in the head — oor should a visitor lay an object atop a statue of Buddha.)

At a Thai dinner, drink as much as you wish since there is no rule against getting drunk. And in all-male company, you may use a rewribald stories — but not too ribaid, or you will spend the rest of the evening explaining what the punchline was. In any case, the evening inevitably ends in a massage parlor.

The visitor must always look at things the way the Thais do, with forgiveness. There is a role that in citing the foot (the lowest seat of rule that in sitting, the foot (the lowest seat of the spirit) must never point to another person's head (the highest). Yet when he was president of the United States, Lyndon Johnson visited Thailand and was seen on television, his feet pointing directly to the head of the king; the Thais took it calmly. "What do you expect?" a Thai asked. "He's only an American."

Westerners might also feel some repugnance.

at Thai villagers' habit of blowing their noses onto the ground. "That must never be crio-cized," explained the late archaeologist Chester Gorman. "The villagers themselves believe that the use of handkerchiefs by foreigners is disgusting. They call us 'mucus-worshipers' and seem to think that we save it up for some and seem to think that we save it up for some obscure religious purpose."

Perhaps the country with the least "Asian" outlook is the Philippines. At one and the same time, Filipinos take pride in their Westernization (true) and their ties to their home villages (not true). Thus, while a visitor may be sitting in a multi-million-dollar mansion with the hear and heaten in declarations. the host and hostess in designer jeans, they will take a certain pride in what they regard as their attachment to the land. The fact that the land may be a plantation with dozens of virtual sharecroppers is imimportant; agree that vil-lage life is really ideal.

In Manila it is bad form to praise the Moslems of the Philippine south (sophisticated Manilans look down on them) and to criticize or even praise the present First Family. Filipi-nos all have their own ideas about President Ferdinand Marcos and his wife Imelda, but they will say in no uncertain terms that foreigners "don't understand."

On to two distinctly Chinese societies: Singapore and the People's Republic of China. Except that it's gauche to call Singapore "Chinese"; the island republic is "Singaporean," more multi-racial than Hawaii, according to its resident.

The taboos here are sensible ones. Smoking is definitely out of favor, untidiness is savage and neighboring countries are ... well, country

On the other hand, Singapore is decidedly Confucian in its love of slogans — and oever make fun of whatever slogan is current. Last year, it was "Speak Mandarin" (few did, but everyone praised the idea). This year it's "The Way to Courtesy" with a smile button. There are also courtesy movies, courtesy discussion groups, courtesy songs and window-display contests on courtesy. These must be taken seriously.

China too has its campaigns, and the visitor should never ridicule or criticize them. The Westerner should also learn correct language tory: Do not refer to "Communist Revolution" but speak instead of

And it is useless to refer to anyone's being "in charge of a department." To any visitor muddling through China's bureaucracy, it is in extremely bad form to want to go to the "top," as there is no top. The correct language — usually with good results — is, "I will take my request to the responsible official of the de-phrase before any other, and it works. Among other etiquette, there is the way for he visitor to conduct himself at banquets: Slurping soup is good form — in truth, ingesting soup with a bit of air is the best way to taste it; dousing food with the accompanying sauces is bad form; toasts are good form, getting drunk isn't.

partment concerned." Visitors learn this

In general throughout Asia, form is only as important as the person who tries to do the act; there are loopholes in the etiquette code to allow for people who simply do not know local customs better. Also in general, the Asian regards time as an investment in the future and if a Westerner believes things move slowly, he must be aware that in Asia one is as careful of time as one is of money.

Third, the Asian is always exceptionally solicitous of visitors, even if this means much sac-

When f think of true Asian caring, I remember traveling to some villages in oortheast Thailand with a black American friend some 10 years ago

Invited to stay over in a hut one night, we were surprised the next morning to find that the villagers had gone out a few miles to buy a loaf of bread to please us. And how to serve it? After much confusion and a meeting of the village men, we had two plates in front of us. I had five slices of white bread. The black visitor had - naturally - five slices of toast.

Good form, from their point of view.

Nevelson, the Old Master at 80

by Esther Gran

/ IS — Louise Novelson, whose work alks with the great sculptors of this clury, is also good with words. She rejects a clear image too: a strong and beauful woman dressed in a most personal an extravagant way. The artist as art object h been personified by Picasso, Hem-ingway, and Hockney; Louise Nevelson outstripshem all.

Her inge is made np of several things: the famous sble eyelashes, several pairs glued together toorm a canopy that defines her face; the Seaa clothes and Chinese robes; the Nevelsonewelry, which would bend any back less uprint than her own. Add to this her sharp, Nw York-style repartee.

The pmage, the sorties into the world of society ad into the high reaches of the artistic community are the exceptions. Her life has been spit mostly in austerity. Work and the isolationin which to work have been the base and the schor of her prolific creative life.

She ian Paris for the opening of a show of her mell sculptures and wood pieces at the Galerie e France. This is an extension of the Michae Gibson reviews the Louise Nevelson retrospaire. Page 10W.

80th bihday celebration exhibitions, which were hel at the Whimey Museum in New York, athe Wildenstein galleries in New York and Lodon and in some Canadian and U.S.

She cons into the Galerie de France, where her sho has just been set up, the last pieces being saced upstairs. She walks with a dancer's arriage up to a collage and peers at the way ie light falls on it. She quickly paces out the stance between each piece and touches the ship edges of the "Moon Spikes." After this is dee, she looks with sudden hesitation at the reorters and photographers. She takes hold of te arm of the nearest one and starts to talk conidentially, disarmingly. Can Louise Nevelsorbe shy?

Sittingin front of one of her wooden sculptures shetalks about her childhood in Maine: "I dway remember feeling slightly cold, but when I was in the art room I felt warm. I think there I generated my own heat."

Ben n Kiev in 1900, Louise Berliawsky settled in Rockland, Maine, with her parents wherehe was 5 years old. She felt the separateness ind isolation of being one of an immi-grandamily in the small WASP town, but also granuamity in the small WASH town, but also remembers the encouragement her teachers gave in "There goes the artist", they would say." he remembers. "They always gave me 100-pls to art. When you decide what you want I become, what do you choose? What you ge 100-plus in."

Sheparried and moved to New York at 20. After he birth of her son Michael, her marriage loke up and she left for Paris to study with has Hofmann. There followed several years opersonal and artistic search. She then returne to New York, where she has lived ever site, and had her first one-woman show there, the Nierendorf Gallery in 1941. She talks abut the acclaim that followed it: Fro the first day I showed, the critics took it up. I always said that I must own The New York Times, they take so much notice of me. Newsweek said, 'Here is one of the great artists of this century.' Since that first show at Nicrendorf, which was then the best gallery in New York, I was always shown at great galleries and had success with the critics. This has been a blessing, it has given me a sense of confidence in my work. But it didn't mean sales, nothing was sold at that show, nor for many

The darker side of this period is described in her biography, "Dawns and Dusks," a book of taped conversations with Diana MacKown. After a show in 1943 in which nothing was sold, she took almost 200 paintings and burned them for lack of space to store them. 'I was goddamn angry. I don't mean a sweet little anger, I mean a great anger that one contains for years, probably forever up to a point. I kept anger. Anger has given me great strength. I didn't sell for practically 30 years. That means I was deprived of a hvelihood. The one thing that saved me is, I was a terrific

Finally, in the 1950s, the Whitney, the Mu-seum of Modern Art and the Brooklyn Museum bought her monumental pieces. Her pioneering work in architectural sculpture and environmental sculpture began to be recog-nized. Her retrospective at the Whitney Muse-um in 1967 was a watershed for American

When she talks about her work, it is about the practical details of her working life. "I have a lot of space"—she measures the Galerie de France with a look—"as much as this. I have three houses strung together in New York. It seems extravagant, but it isn't. I can work on several things at once. I move from one work to another, f never leave anything, even years later I'll go back, and be able to finish it. You know, I've never used a yardstick in my life, f knew the distances and the sizes, f don't say I was born with a perfect eye but f was born with something, a rightness."

Her life is full of energy and verve. At a reception for her, she makes a spectacular entrance, with her 81 years, her cyclashes and a black sequined dress. She is immediately surrounded. She has been to the Paris-Paris show at the Pompidou Center, to a lunch in her hon-or and to visit the gardens at Versailles. She tells about a dinner the night before at the house of a great family of Parisian art dealers: It was almost too perfect. The house was exquisite and formal. You could die just for the carpets. Everything was reverence for art and the artist. Very nice, but I had to break the spell. They offered me a cigarette. I told them, "I don't smoke f don't smoke any more, I don't drink any more and I don't even freelance any more."

In "Dawns and Dusks," Nevelson explains her persons in a starkly revealing way:
"Suppose, take me at my age and I didn't have the reputation and this and that and the other. I'd just be an old woman in a corner. And I tell you what I'd be doing ... my chair would be turned to the wall, so no one could see me and I couldn't see them. Why should I be naked before everyone? You take a flower and you take every petal off, you won't have a flower. Keep the flower."

Louise Nevelson in all her grandeur.

Come Fill the Cup

by Calla Corner

UTRY, Switzerland - This cobblestoned hamlet just outside Lausanne, surrounded by terraced vineyards, resounded this month to the revels of its annual wine festival. The Lavaux area, set between Lausanne and Aigle, is reputed to produce some of Switzerland's best white wines. But trying to find a carale, or even a glass, of local white in Lutry now that the festival's over may prove to be a problem.

In the last three years, a series of late springs and cold summers have reduced wine production in the area from Sion in the Valais to Geneva, where the majority of Swiss wine is grown, to the equivalent of two years' produc-

This year's crop fared no better, as the vines were already weak when the grapes began to flower. With the reduced crop on the vines, the foehn (the warm, wet southern wind that is needed in spring when the vines are flowering) suddenly appeared on the weekend of Sept. 20-21, causing havec to the grapes. The Lavaux in particular was hit and 20 percent of an already inferior crop was lost. The harvest was pushed up a week to save what remained, eliminating the important final growing week when the grapes produce their last sugar.

French-Swiss consumers are affected both by the steadily increasing price they must pay for their own wines (which have always been more expensive than comparative wines from neighboring wine-growing countries), and by an annual 3 percent increase in consumption. Some of this increase is attributed to the newly liberated status of Swiss women — they got the vote in 1971 and were voted equal rights in June — who now are said to feel free to drink at home and in taveras that they rarely entered

During the last four years the average price for a bottle of white wine from the Vaud now about 10 Swiss francs (about $5.35) -has risen anywhere from 20 percent to 70 percent off the shelf and doubled or tripled in restanrants. And if he or she can find it, a Swiss will pay 2 Swiss francs for his glass of white wine, compared to 1.20 Swiss francs four years ago. As the Vaud consumes only 45 percent of its production, the Vandois - who would rather do without than drink the cheaper Algerian, Austrian or Italian wine offered in most restaurants - wonder why the local wine growers haven't reduced their exports to favor the local clientele. Many are pointing the finger east at their Swiss-German neighbors, who have been buying op French-Swiss wines since the bad crop of 1978.

Accusations of excessive stockpiling and speculations in "white gold" ripened last winter when wine growers from the Vand an-nounced that 1980 had been the worse production year since the beginning of the century and that last year's stock had run out, leaving the Vaudois to drink Soave, Macon or Veltliner while their Swiss-German brothers and sisters were drinking their blanc. sisters were drinking their blanc.

First Fiddle Twice Over

by Mary Blume

ONDON - Mr. Brown was an organist and Mrs. Brown a violinist. But the Brown children, growing up in the ca-thedral town of Salisbnry, were not pushed into music. "My father was very elever about it," lona Brown says. He must have of the celebrated Academy of St. Martin-inthe-Fields chamber orchestra, hnt her sister plays the viola with the Bournemouth Symphony and one brother is a pianist while the other plays the horn with Iona's orchestra.

The Brahms born trio is made to measure for us but we don't often meet," Iona Brown says.

Her own schedule as a soloist and orchestra director means that she is booked into 1984 and has banished the word vacation from her vocabulary. Performing and directing do not conflict. "It's absolotely amazing how often things work out," she says.

"There's no difference directing and playing a concerto or just directing or just playing with a symphony orchestra. I have the same approach, which is one of intense concentration. If you manage to get right inside the music, that will get people's attention. If your mind is wandering, the audience will know."

Brown replaced the Academy's founder, Neville Marriner, as director six years ago and is, as far as she knows, the only woman to direct a chamber orchestra. When Marriner asked her to take over his joh, her answer was no. "I said I can't'; he said: The orchestra is yours." Two years after his first invitation, she accepted the job.

The job f do now is what he did. Neville directed from the violin. I sat oext to him 8 or 10 years and that's why he knew my qualities, such as they are."

Under Marriner, who founded the Academy in 1959, it acquired a wide international repu-tation mainly through its many recordings of the classical (Mozari, Haydn) and modern re-pertories. Marriner went from the Academy to the music directorship of the Minnesota Symphony and his successor naturally found her-self in the spotlight, both as a woman and as director of an ensemble known widely through its recordings to people who have no idea where or what St-Martin-in-the-Fields is: a church in Trafalgar Square, centuries distant from London herbage.

She has tried to concentrate on warmth and eliminate a tendency to what she describes as brittleness, but Brown has no intention of changing the Academy. It has probably changed on its own, she says. "Whoever takes over from someone with a strong personality, a certain tradition has gone right there. I love some of the early recordings. I also have my own strong views. I am me, an individual, with my own views." Under Brown's lead, the Academy and she seem to have remained just as busy as they were under Marriner's. She has just finished a series of concerts with the Academy in London and was off as a soloist to Barcelona, Northern Ireland and Norway, where she is musical di-rector of the Norwegian Chamber orchestra.

November will he spent mostly recording and later Brown will make her first visit to Israel as soloist and director of the Kibbutz Chamber Orchestra. She thinks her best recording is Vivaldi's "Four Seasons."

"I love the Vivaldi. It's a winner," she says. "I am looked on as specializing in haroque and classical but in one year I recorded the 'Four Scasons, the Beethoven concerto, two Mozart concertos, Bartok No. 2 and the David Blake concerto, which was written for me and dedicated to me, all of which covers several hundred years. I very much don't want to be labeled."

As a woman musician, Brown has the disadvantage of not having a wife, so she has learned to be careful with potentially dangerous domestic tasks: "Pruning the roses I wear three pairs of gloves." There is no problem in gaining authority over male players.

Iona Brown, director and soloist.

"In the Academy, it's a very free affair, we thrash things out. In other orchestras they tend to wait for me." Directing an orchestra while playing the violin is relatively easy. "Directing from the piano is more fidgety. You're fairly mobile when you're playing the fiddle, I think it's fairly easy to follow. it's fairly easy to follow."

Directing obviously adds to the soloist's repertory. "I want to learn the Berg concerto and certainly on the directing side I've got quite a few symphonies I want to get through - the last six Mozart symphonies, for exam-

Her fiddle, which was loaned to her for life in 1965, is by J.B. Guadagnini from Piacenza and is dated 1740. "It's got a fantastic E-string. it's very good on top. One mustn't have a com-plex about not playing a Strad. It's like having a complex about not being Jewish when all the best violinists are. That's why I'm so thrilled about being invited to play in Israel."

AUSTRIA

GRAZ, Grazer Congress — Oct. 25:
Ensemble Musique Vivante de Paris,
Vinko Globekar conductor. Michel Portal elarinet and saxophone (Ferrari, Xonakis). Nouvel Orchestre Philharmonique de Paris, Gilbert Amy conductor (Xenakis, Dutilleux).
VIRNINA, Konzerthans (uel: 72.12.11)
— Oct. 27: Alban-Berg Quartet (Mozart, Bartok, Schumann). Oct. 31: Vienna Chamber Orchestra and Vienna Chamber Choir, Herbert Prikopa conductor (Mozart, Schubert).

BELGIUM

BRUSSELS. Koninklijk Muziekeon-servatorium (tel: 347.22.53) — Oct. 24: David Ward piano (Haydn, Mozart). Palais des Beaux-Arts (tel:512.50.45) — Oct. 29: Belgian National Orchestra, Igor Markevitch conductor, Nikita Magaloff piano, Elaine Cormany soprano.

ENGLAND

LONDON, British Museum (tel: 636.15.55) — From Oct. 30: "Medieval

 Royal Opera House (tel: 240,10,66) —
 Oct. 24 and 27: "Simon Boccanegra."
 Oct. 29 and 31: Royal Ballet Sadler's Wells Theatre (tel: 837.16.72) - Northern Ballet Theatre: Oct. 26-29: "The Nutcracker." Oct. 30-31: "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream."

South Bank Arts Complex (tel: 928.31.91). Royal Festival Hall — Oct. 25: London Philharmonic Orchestra, Klaus Tennstedt conductor, Jessye Norman soprano (Wagner). Oct. 27: Loudon Symphony Orchestra, Claudio Abbado conductor, Alfred Brendel pi-ano (Beethoven). South Festival of Asian Arts (tel: 261.584) — Includes: City Hall Theatre

FRANCE

PARIS, Festival d'Automne (tel 296.12.27) — Includes: Centre Georges Pompidou — Oct. 26-31: Karole Armitage and Rhys Chathem. Ton Simons and Ellen Van Schuylenburch (Modern Dance). South Indian Classical Music and Dance — Chapelle de la Sorbonne: To Oct 27: "Mohmi-Attam." Oct. 28-31: "Odissi." Tribute to Beckett — American Center: Oct. 26-31: "Fin de Partie." Tribute to Boulez — Maison de la Radio: Oct. 31: Quator Intercontemporain (Boulez, Bartok). Salle

Come to the beach at Cotton Hope Plantation.

HILTON HEAD ISLAND PRESTIGIOUS RESORT REAL ESTATE

Take advantage of the current favourable exchange rates by investing in glorious, semi-tropical, resort real estate in the USA. This exclusive property of 2 bedroom, 2 bath townhouse and garden villas offers wood-burning fireplaces, complete decorator furnishings, exceptional soundproofing and insulation, termis, swimming pool, whirlpool, and a private beach club. Excellent rental investment, with a low preconstruction price of US$69,900.

We will be in London on Oct. 28, 29, 30 at The Homes Overseas Exhibition Booth #39, at The Parklane Hotel. Join us there, or for more information call collect to the USA (803) 842-5100.

Cotton Hope Plantation P.O. Box 6433

Hilton Head Island South Carolina USA 29938

A development of The Carolina Bay Company.

SHOPPING

The Coshmere House

the foremost specialist in 100 % pure cashmere

the greatest choice, the better price

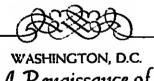

30 shades - 5 sizes cashmeres by Alexandre Savin

Credit cards accepted - Free taxes - Export discount 2. rue d'Aguesseau (comer to 60 Fg St-Honoré) Paris 8º Open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

HOTELS

U.S.A.

SWITZERLAND

A Renaissance of Graciousness A luxury hotel in the great European tradition Elegant, quiet,

Telex 64243 or see your travel agent Marshall & Corne, Propositiv

RESTAURANTS AND NIGHT CLUBS SWITZERLAND

ZURICH'S BEST

WEEKEND

Appears. every Saturdav

A WEEKEND AT WORLD FAMOUS

ZURICH

THE EIZERHO

Unique location Bahnhofstrasse Bahnhofplatz Opposite flyratl/main-station

The serene quietness of a resort hotel in the heart of down-town

HOTEL SCHWEIZERHOF

Phone 01/211 86 40 Telex 813 754 szhof ch PO-Box, CH-8023 Zurich

HOTEL ****
BEAU-RIVAGE

CH - 1000 LAUSANNE 6

SWITZERLAND Fr. 400 per person (double occupancy)

INCLUDES erloading the Lake for 3 nights

at our "Gramm

RESERVATION: Telephone | 021† 263831 Telex 2434t

Pleyel: Oct. 28-29: Orchestre de Paris, Daniel Barenboun conductor, Chidon Kremer violin (Boulez, Berg). •Theatre des Champs-Elysees (tel: 225.29.64) — Oct. 27-31: Bejart-Boulez Week: "Mallarme III" and "Le Marteau Sans Maîtres." Oct. 29: Orchestre National de France, Pierre Boulez con-ductor (Boulez, Schoenberg). HONG KONG

Sitkovetsky violin. Oct. 25: HET Chamber Choir with The Academy of Ancient Music, Christopher Hogwood conductor (Mozart). Oct. 28-29: Concertgebouworkest, Kurt Sanderling conductor (Schubert, Sibelius).

SPAIN

BARCELONA, International Music Festival (tel: 317.99.28) — Includes: Monastery of Pedralbes: Oct. 28: The Deller Connect the Kind's Music and Deller Consort, the King's Music and (tel: 233.54.09) - Oct. 26-29;

Jazz Unilė (tel: 776.44.26) -

•New Morning (tel: 745.82.58) — Oct. 26-27: Art Blakey and The Jazz Mes-

Trois Mailletz (tel: 354.06.79) — Every Night:

ON TOUR: The Glent Miller Orchestra — Oct., 24 in Dus-seldorf; the 26th in Essen, the 27th in Kiel; the 28th in Berlin and the 30th in Chaudion-

- Frank Van Brakle

Oct. 26-27: Archie Shepp.

Chico Hamilton.

Nina Simone.

Sharps and Flats

JAZZ, ROCK AND POP

BERLIN, Philharmonie (tel: 881.26.32) — Oct. 25 at 3:30 p.m.: Golden Gate Quartet. • Fiochschule der Kunste (tel: 852.40.80) — Oct. 26: Marl-boro Country Music Festival. CHICHESTER, England, Festival Theatre (tel: 78.13.12) -

Oct. 24: Sonny Rollins Quar-LONDON, Pizza on The Park (tel: 235.55.50) — Oct. 26-31: Marian McPartland.

PARIS, Cloître des Lombards

— Oct. 25-26: Thai Classical Dance. Oct. 26-28: "Sail the Midnight Sun," folk opera (Papua New Guinea). Oct. 27-28: HK Contemporary Dance Company. Oct. 30: Bangladeshi Music and Dance.

METHERLANDS

AMSTERDAM, Concertgebouw (tel: 71.98.71) — Oct. 24 and 27: Auster-dam Philharmonic Orchestra, Ken-lchiro Kobayashi conductor, Dmiri the Deller Choir, Mark: Deller conduc-tor (Handel). Palau de la Musica Cata-iana: Oct. 27: Barbara Hendricks soprano, Michel Beroff piano. Oct. 30: Orchestra of the City of Barcelona, Lluis Millet conductor (Mozart).

WEST GERMANY

BERLIN, Opernhaus (tel: 342.44.49)— Oct. 24 and 28: "The Barber of Sev-ille." Oct. 29: "The Magic Flute." Oct. 31: "Madame Butterfly."

UNITED WORLD COLLEGE OF THE ATLANTIC

SOUTH WALES, UK

APPOINTMENT OF HEAD

The present Headmaster, Mr. David Sutcliffe, has been appointment as Founder Headmaster of the new United World College of the Adrictic, near Trieste, with effect from August, 1982. The Governing Body of Atlantic College now wishes to select his successor to take up duties in August, 1982 or as soon as

Atlantic College, founded in 1962 and the first of the United World Colleges, draws its 350 Sixth Form students on scholar-ships and bursaries from some 60 countries. All take the International Baccalaureate in preparation for university entry and toke part in a wide programme of sea and cliff rescue and community

The post is open to men and women of all nationalities. Strong ocademic credentials, significant international experience and readiness to oversee the College's rescue and community services will be important qualifications.

Full details are available from the Secretary to the Governing Body, Atlantic College, St. Donat's Castle, Llantwit Major, South Glamorgan CF6 9WF.

Closing date for application: 30th November, 1981:

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION DIRECTORY

FRANCE

UNIVERSITÉ DE PARIS SORBONNE Département Expérimental d'Étude de la Civilisation Française

Cours de Civilisation Française GRADUATE COURSES

Credit U.S.A.) Sorbonne Sun

University Courses.
"MAGISTERE de Langue et de Civilisation Françoises" for all nationalities (equivalent to M.A.

foreign Teachers & Students. Courses for Teachers of French Language and Civilization.

UNDERGRADUATE COURSES

French baccalaureat level required.

French Language and Civilization Courses. Limited number of inscriptions. Winter and Spring Semesters; Summer Courses: July, August. Interim Sessions, January.

Apply to: COURS DE CIVILISATION FRANÇAISE,
—47 Rue des Écoles, Paris-5°. Tel.: 329-12-13.—

The most renowned school for French

THE INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS

MAKES LEARNING FRENCH A WONDERFUL AND UNIQUE EXPERIENCE

4-week cil-day immersion program starts Oct. 26, Nov. 23 and all year LODGING IN PRIVATE APTS. AND 2 MEALS INCLUDED. For adults. 6 levels: from beginner I to advanced II. INSTITUT DE FRANÇAIS - J.24 scierc, 06230 VILLEFRANCHE-S/MER. Tol.: (92) 80.86.6

LEARN AND LIVE THE FRENCH LANGUAGE in color and idyllic surroundings near Monte Carlo.

Cap d'Al, a bealth resort, offers a wide range of totals and pensions the CBMTEE MÉDITEREANESS D'ÉTUDES FRANÇASSE offers 25 years fe experience. Whatever your level, you may acquire a mostery of rench to suit your professional or cultural needs. Small groups. 4, 8 er 2-week courses starting each month. Careette tapes and library are within the tallette traderic measured to the color of the colors. CENTRE MÉDITERRANÉEN D'ÉTUDES FRANÇAISES --06320 Cap d'All (France), Tel.: (93) 78.21.59.--

AUSTRIA

Full year, five- or seven-day residential program for children with special needs, ages 5-18. Rolling admissions, Rural setting. Headmaster: Postfach 4

Tel.: 07584-329 A-4592 Leonstein / Austria

Send for a free copy= of the INTERNATIONAL

HERALD TRIBUNE'S SCHOOL & CAMP GUIDE

Write to: Françoise Clèment. International Herald Tribune. 181, avenne Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

One student concept for boys 12 through 20 of sverage and a specior intelligence

Dept. Iti Wastbrook, Com. 06498

Restaurant review

Regional Cooking: Lyons

by Patricia Wells

YONS - The debate over whether one eats better in Paris or Lyons is not likely to end tomorrow. But few would disagree that there are certain dishes no one does better than the Lyonnais. If it is feathery light quenelles, juncy, pistachiostudded sausages or a simple, pan-fried steak with a powerful shallot and red wine sauce you. are after, head straightaway for Lyons.

Even when taking pot luck in Lyons, the averages are with you. The bistro may be weatherbeaten, the service irregular and certain dishes lacking in sophistication, but Lyonnais food, like the town itself, is largely unpretentious and satisfying. Prices here are generally moderate (100 francs, or $18, buys a rather decent meal, with wine) and most res-taurants are casual and reasonable enough to include the entire family. In convivial spots like La Tassee or Chez Lea, it's not uncommon to see three generations dining together

After the super-serious nature of many Parisian restaurants, it's also nice to see people with a sense of humor about food. Two of the town; a sense of numer about food. I we of the town; a most famous dishes bear decidedly tongue in-cheek titles. Tablier de supeur — a totally unappetizing-looking slab of tripe that's been marinated, then breaded and fried — refers, appropriately, to the thick leather aprons once worn by French army engineers. Cervelle de canut or silkworker's brain — thick, gloopy white herb cheese that can strongly resemble the all-American French onion dip — refers back to the days when Lyons was the silkwork-from many critics, who dismiss the food as unhealthy and ungraceful. But would these critics wish to see such dishes as coq au vin, cervelas sausage, creamy boudin noir or museau de boeuf deleted from the French repertoire?

Lyons, and its cuisine, has suffered slings from many critics, who dismiss the food as

If there is time for just one meal in Lyons, it should be at Leon de Lyon, a restaurant that typifies the Lyons mix: good food, juyous at mosphere, fine service and decent prices. Leon de Lyon is a straightforward place that doesn't de Lyon is a straightforward place that doesn't put on airs, and here one will find such simple and semptuous dishes as earthy pork sausag crisp green lentils and oil-bathed potatoes, fra-grant coq au vin and entrecôte poêtee, sanced with a rich red blend of wine and finely mineral shallots. The control of the control of the minced shallots. The coq au vin is prepared a l'ancienne (with tiny onions, bacon and mushrooms, and a sauce bound with blood) but the coq should have spent more time running around the barnyard. Is there any restaurant today where you can get an honest coq au vin, made with a truly aged bird?

The lyonnaiseries en salade, a first course you could make a meal out of, is sort of a degustation of Lyonnais specialties: a fine warm boud-in noir, or blood sausage, a dollop of vinegared lentils, chunks of meaty cervelas pork sausage, as well as pied de veau and pied d'agneau and thin slices of multicolored museau de boeuf, or vinegared ox muzzle. Léon de Lyon is a charming place, sporting bright black and white tiled floors, walls decorated with shiny, antique copper molds, and tables layered in bistro rose damask. The fami-ly-run restaurant is now the pride of energetic, 32-year-old Jean-Paul Lacombe, who succeeds his father in the kitchen. Lacombe's menu is ambitious, perbaps overly so, and includes both regional and modern dishes, with menus priced at 100 and 190 francs.

If there's time for a second meal, head over to Chez Rose, another family-run restaurant where father Marcel Astic runs the bar, son Gerard runs the kitchen and mother Marie-Therese runs the whole show with a soft heart and an iron fist. Chez Rose has that no-nonsense decor (tiled floors and clean yellow tablecloths) and a sort of disorganized, humorous bustle that puts diners instantly at ease. This is a trencherman's restaurant in a trencherman's town, and the kind of place where many serious eaters dine alone, so nothing will detract from the matter at hand.

In typical Lyonnais fashion, when you order one dish at Chez Rose, another appears alongside, "just to taste." For 70 francs, you can plough through thick slices of meaty Lyonnais sausage, gargantuan quenelles, coq au vin, cheese and desert.

If your appente is less hearty, settle for a simple, respectably wintery fricassee de poulet, nicely browned and nourished with tomatoes, garlic, parsley and wild cepes. (Chez Rose is not to be confused with La Tour Rose, a trendy and overrated nouvelle cuising restaurant where for the outrageous sum of 400 francs per person one can dine poorly and pretentiously on less than fresh mûtres chaudes au blanc de poireaux, an overpriced and dull salade de pigeons, and filet d'agneau saué aux truffes with an unforgivable syrupy caramel-flavored sauce.)

If there's still room for one more meal, try If there's still room for one more meal, try Chez Léa, (properly called Restaurant de la Voûte), another Lyons gastronomic landmark where septuagenarian Léa Bidault still reigns in the dining room, though not at the stove.
She's one of the last remaining "mères Lyonnaises," or tough and formidable women chefs who with hard work and fast talk brough French regional home cooking into public places.

Behind the cheery restaurant exterior bright green-and-black facade, and bold red geraniums — there lies a noisy place, where the tables are disastrously close and the service is slow and erratic. But go anyway, as the regulars do. After all, after a minute or so, it's evident that the small staff is doing the best it

Here, try the pintadeau aux choux, decently roasted guinea fowl served with a good clump of cabbage; or perhaps the rosy kidneys, served with crisp and golden pommes paillasson, or sautéed straw potatoes.

For another, and still different view of le style Lyonnais, try La Tassee, halfway between a bistro and a restaurant, where the decor is mismatched and the service rushed, though professional. Everything here is served up family style, out of large white porcelain dishes or orange enamel cast-iron casseroles. The salade aux lardons is a classic, full of vinegar and huge chunks of crisp bacon, and the mousseline de brochet is so remarkably light and airy it makes you wonder what nouvelle cuisine is all about.

For late-night snacking and a look at the young and fashionable Lyonnais, stop in at Le Bistrot de Lyon. The atmosphere is supercharged, and you'll have to wait in line for 15 minutes or more for borderline bistro fare. But people-watching and the decor - Belle Epoque ceramic murals on the walls and ceiling, a giant antique wood serving bar and marble-top tables - make it worth a detour. The bread is good, the Beaujolais drinkable and the chevre salad with cucumbers satisfying. Forget lapin à la moutarde and tablier de sapeur.

If all this heartiness begins to translate into heaviness, and what you really want is ele-gance, pink tablecloths and a great big wine list, then try Pierre Orsi, located in the fashionable 6th arrondissement. Orsi is a very pretty, classically decorated restaurant, with better than average nouvelle cuisine. The now-classic than average nouveile coisine. Inc now-classic salade gourmande is good here, though a bit oversalted, with fine foie gras, langoustines and crisp green beans. In Lyons, the beef is generally of high quality, and here the townedos poele au potvre frais de Madagascar measured up to standards. The wine list is interest. ing the cheese tray large and abundant, A meal for two, with wine, will cost about 400 francs, or $35 per person.

Jean-Paul Lacombe of Leon de Lyon

Leon de Lyon, I rue Pleney, Lyons I, tel. (7) 828.11.33. No credit cards. Clased Sunday, Monday hunch and holidays. Memu 100-195 francs. A la carte, 175 ($31) with wine.

Chez Rose, 4 rue Rabelais, Lyons 3, tel: (7) 860.57.25. No credit cards. Closed Sundays and holidays. 100 francs, ($18) with wine. · La Tour Rose, 16 rue de Boeuf, Lyons 5, tel:

(7) 837.25.90. Credit cards: Visa, American Express, Diner's Chib. Closed Sunday. 400 france. ($72) with wine. Restaurant de la Voûté, (Chez Léa), 11 plac Antonin-Gourju, Lyons 2, tel: (7) 842.01.31 Credit cards: American Express. Closed Sau-day and Sunday. 100 francs ($18) with wine. La Tassée, 20 rue de la Charité, Lyons 2, l; (7) 837.02.35. Credit card: Diner's Club. Clos

Sunday. 100 francs ($18) with wine. Le Bistrot de Lyon, 64 rue Mercière, Lyon, tel: (7) 837.00.62. No credit cards. Open en ings only, until 3 a.m. Closed Sunday and Medays. 100 francs ($18) with wine.

Orst, 3 place Kleber, Lyons 6, tel. [7] 889.57.68. Credit cards: American Extent Diners Club. Closed Saturday lunch and in-day. 300 francs ($55) with wine.

Our exclusively-designed leather pocket diary is thin, flat and elegant.

No sooner was it introduced than everybody wanted one! The International Herald Tribune diary started as a distinctive Christmas present for a few of our friends, was such a huge success that now we make it available to all our readers. This ingeniously designed diary is flat as can be-near and luxurious-including a built-in note pad. Slips into your pocker without a bulge and is ready with instant "jotting" paper the second you need it. Personalized with your initials (up to 3) at no extra cost. The perfect Christmas gift for almost anyone...

including yourself. Note paper sheets are fitted on the back of the diary_a simple pull removes top sheet. No carded up edges. No roan.

- Comes with note paper refills. Format: 8x13 cms. PLUS: Pages of useful information. Conversion tables of weights, measures and distances, a list of national holidays by country, airport distances, vintage chart and other facts... all in this incredibly flat little book

Order your International Herald Tribune diaries immediately! U.S.$17 or equivalent in other currency... Postage and handling in Europe included. Ourside Europe, add $2 for additional postage. Return this coupon with your check or money order (do not send cash) made payable to: "T.J.&J. Smith Ltd." and send them to: T.J. &J. Smith Ltd. Attention Paul Baker, Dataday House, 8 Alexandra Rd., London SW19 7JU, England. Picase send me Please print: Initials desired (up to three per diary no extra charge)

Please allow three weeks for delivery.

rovincial

Michael 14 pages

1200

Mideast History as Jewelry

by William E. Farrell

ERUSALEM — Archaeologists are con-stantly sifting through the past in Jerusalem and coming upon so many traces of history that some of them become almost commonplace. Bits of Roman glass, old coins and small Byzautine tiles are almost byproducts of archaeological digs. Many of these semiprecious discoveries find their way into the skilled hands of Jerusalem's

This city is boxes within boxes, and tucked away alongside streets in various quarters are tiny shops that are a joy to stumble upon. There is no point in charting a course of where to buy jewelry, for that would stille serendipity and, besides, everyone discovers his own Jerusalem. What follows is a limited guide for ewelry buyers to peruse before setting out.

There is a variety to choose from — original designs by Israeli artisans that range from futuristic to surreal. There are old pieces in new settings, new pieces in old settings, amnlets and ancient coins mounted in gold. There is junk, too, but it is easily spied.

Of special interest are the amulets, many of them perfected by Iranian and Yemenite Jews, who are well-known as silversmiths and goldsmiths. But the tradition is dying out, as new generations move into other fields. The amulets, which range from the equivalent of $20 to $200, are intended to ward off the evil eye — a tradition that Jews from Yemen and Morocco share with Arabs. .

There are essentially two types of amulets — hollow cylinders of silver, usually delicately embossed, into which small scrolls of prayers and mystical or cabalistic writings are placed. They hang on a neck chain. Some of them look like the mezuzahs that religious Jews place by their front doorways. There are also flat amulets, circular or rectangular, on which the mes-sage is engraved and which make attractive costume jewelry.

Genuine antique amulets are rare and quite expensive — the price can run into the equiva-lent of hundreds of dollars. But there are many beautiful copies being made of old pieces.

Old coins are constantly being discovered at the sites of archaeological digs and along Israel's Mediterranean coast, where there is hill-side erosion after rainfalls. The jewelers of Jerusalem use them to make carrings, braceets, trecklaces and cuff links.

Other coins are not antique. The plainer ones are often dipped in gold; they make attractive, original and inexpensive presents.

A Hebrew coin dating to A.D. 2 - a date that is regarded as almost contemporary by Middle Eastern history buffs - costs about $50 in a simple gold frame. It is the kind of thing that can be purchased at a shop called Ophir's at 38 Jaffa Road, one of Jerusalem's

This is a particularly interesting store, but it is almost hidden from the busy street. Enter left of the small store window, go up a few stairs and the shop, which is as big as two phone booths laid end to end, will be before your eyes. The clerks, who speak English, are friendly and the place is filled with Victoriana, inexpensive and intricate silver rings (about $10), pendants and old coins made wearable. There are things at Ophir's for all price ranges and the owner will also make settings and arrangements to order. Another place to go prowling is in Mea Shearim, Jerusalem's ultra-Orthodox quarter near East Jerusalem. It is a drop back in time to the European shtetls of Shalom Aleichem, an intact set of "Fiddler on the Roof," where the women wear head coverings and the men wear long beards and long frock coats no matter how bot it is.

One word of caution: when visiting Mea Shearim be sure you are modestly dressed. No shorts, no shoulderless dresses — in other words nothing that could be considered provocative. The unwary, under-dressed tourist has been known to be stoned for "immodest" attire. There is a big sign in English warning

My wife's favorite jewelry store in Mea Shearim is a tiny place that has no name. It is just to the left of the gate as you enter the quarter on Mea Shearim Street. The proprietor is a gentle, quiet man who will point out the old and show you with pride the copies he has made. His wares are priced from less than $10 up to about $200. Sometimes the place is dennded and sometimes it is full of fascinating articles. It's the luck of the draw and well worth a visit. "But always ask to see what's trot on display," my wife, Linda, says. The owner will be happy to show them to you.

Another favorite is called Maskit, in downtown Jerusalem at 12 Harav Kook Street. This is a place for a serious buyer and has wonderful handwrought Yemenite gold and silver chains, miracles of filigree and representatives of a dying craft. They are expensive — ranging up to $1,000, depending on the weight, the size of the chain and the intricacy of the craftsmanship — and are worth it. Sometimes you will come upon an intricate one-of-a-kind piece of Yemenite work that looks as if it belongs in a museum. Someday it may be there. Again, ask to see what is not on display.

While walking along Jaffa Road, try a shop called Wizo at Number 34, near Ophir's. The window is less interesting than what is inside, so don't be put off. There are all sorts of oddi-ties tucked into corners.

Linda's advice — and she has been pillaging shops in Jerusalem for a number of years — is "walk into any place that catches your eye." She adds: "Many of the pieces are two or three of a kind and if you see something you really love you may not see it anywhere else. So delove you may not see it anywhere else. So de-cide." This leads to an inevitable conclusion, disastrous for the budget but, I am assured, good for the soul. "If you love it buy it."

There is another path you can take depending on how much time you have. On a recent return to Jerusalem, the first since we lived there for two and a half years, my wife was lamenting the loss of a Roman glass necklace mounted in silver in the Vernanite way. It had mounted in silver in the Yemenite way. It had been stolen by burglars in New York.

The 11-year-old daughter of a friend of ours, Lisa Claiborne, showed Linda pieces of Roman glass she had excavated in a nearby deserted lot where archaeologists were dump-ing debris they had already sifted. The glass is greenish and sometimes a light blue. Linda and Lisa went digging and my wife came back with six fragments of Roman glass.

Off to her favorite jeweler in Mea Shearim. Four days later she had a birthday present of a new Roman glass necklace in a beautiful silver setting. The cost: $140, and for an original it was a bargain.

©1981 The New York Times

Mastroianni as Everyman, Again

by Melton S. Davis

OME - Marcello Mastroianni is playing the part of a 70-year-old man in his latest movie, performing with a heavily lined face, pouches under his eyes, a grey wig and painted lips. But Marcello Bello remains in character, because he's porraying, bowever aged, Casanova

The director is the award-winning Ettore Scola, and the picture, "The New World," is among the most expensive and most ambitious made recently in Europe. It tells of a stagecoach trip of several people across France in 1791. Among them are three historical personages: Giacomo Casanova, the libertine Restif de la Bretonne (played by Jean-Louis Barrault) and Tom Paine (played by Harvey Keitel). In the carriage ahead of them are Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette. The arrest of everyone at Varennes marks the true beginning of the French Revolution.

Shooting has taken place under a blazing summer sun in the countryside not far from Rome. The only one able to sleep on the set has been Mastroianni, who never complains, even about his heavy makeup. "I know it makes me ugly," he says, "but at least I can get used to the face I'll have 20 years from now."

Over the years, his face has been his fortune, and his image that of a romantic bero, despite and his image that of a romantic hero, despite roles as a bomosexual ("A Special Day"), an unkempt agitator ("The Organizer") and a stumblebum ("Bye Bye Monkey").

In his 11Sth pieture — or is it the 125th — how can he still come across as an irresistible playboy although he's pushing 60? The answer may be that after all his films he has become a sort of household figure. When he portrays a manual laborer ("Pizza Triangle") or a confused intellectural (any of Fellini's films) or confused intellectual (any of Fellini's films) or a disillusioned revolutionary ("Allonsafan") the man in the street feels Mastroianni has given him a chance to identify with the roles.

Mastroianni remains good-looking in a de-tached way, his wrinkles giving him an expres-sion of perpetual weariness. Then his face takes on a boyish look and he becomes witty, amusing charming. But his studied calm is given away by countless nervous mannerisms: he chain-smokes, wriggles continuously in his chair, rubs his chin, strokes his nose, shoots his cuffs, picks at his cuticles and rubs his hands together. His hair is badly cut, his teeth are nicotine-stained, his eyes, bloodshot, rarely glimmer with humor. He contorts only the lower part of his face, seemingly intent on staying withdrawn.

"I'm lazy about things I don't like," he says,
"I say it so people will leave me alone — Why bother with him, he's lazy.' As a matter of fact, I have motor anxiety. Friday evening I begin to get nervous at the idea of not having to work Saturday and Sunday. In my small universe, I'm dynamic.

And so he is. In a 34-year career he's averaged 3 to 4 pictures a year. When he was at the last Cannes Film Festival, he remained impeccable while he gave 13 interviews in two hours, speaking three languages. For Mastrojanni, Cannes was like a scene from the past; when the actor appeared at the evening screening. there were cries, flashes, shouts, turnult, showing, all proving that in the kingdom of illusion nothing had changed since "La Dolce Vita" in the early 1960s.

Mastroianni crinkled his eyes in his famous half-smile, plainly astonished that the Cannes of today remembered him so well. He was greeted as if he were the newest discovery. His reception at Cannes, which reawakened interest, enabled him to accept unusual parts like that in "The New World." In retrospect, his range of roles has been extraordinary. "He's a kamikaze when it comes to accepting difficult parts," says his good friend Anna Maria Tato. a television director. "He goes oot of his way to change his image."

Mastroianni in his latest film.

In fact, many say he acts in the same way whether he's sporting a beard or is clean-shaven, wearing tattered clothing or a Roman toga, playing a soldier or a sailor, a priest or an assassin, a doctor or a patient.

On the other hand, Daniel Toscan de Plantier, bead of Gaumont, the French film giant, says, "He's a unique actor, intuitive, without technique, and yet he can adapt to almost any role. He's always surprising."

Inevitably, questions arise about Mastroianni's acting. Is he continually playing Mastroianni in different guises? Is he playing the character, or is the character playing him? He has been described as less an actor than a person who described as less an actor than a person who described as less an actor than a person who described as less an actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person actor than a person who described as less and actor than a person actor than a pe son who gets inside a part and turns it into temporary reality. A superb comedian, he is far from a Latin lover, even treating the cate-gory with biting satire. Yet many of his roles are unknown to moviegoers throughout the world since a surprising percentage of his pic-tures have never reached markets like the United States.

If Mastroianni gives the impression of play-ing himself it may be that his performances are so smooth, so without apparent effort that he doesn't seem to be acting at all. But he has saved more films than anyone realizes. Of a recent pieture, "Gbost of Love," Variety wrote, for example, "When the laughs start to rise, it's Mastroianni who comes to the rescue with a class presence that suspends disbelief for one more scene.

He became the leading Italian actor with no great publicity campaign. He not only seems surprised by the notice be garners, but tries to divert attention from himself. Mastroianni could wear the most outlandish clothes which he doesn't — walk down Via Veneto which he almost never does — leading an ele-phant on a gold leash — perish the thought — and still not give the impression of a man seek-

Granted that he's not a night owl and is rarely seen in public ("I lead a normal and tranquil life") he's been seen with some beautiful actresses, several of whom became his lovers. The actresses have ranged from Natasha-Kinski when she was 16 to Sophia Loren; along the way there have been Romy Schneider, Laura Antonelli, Jacqueline Bisset, Monica Vitti, Ursula Andress, Jeanne Moreau and

He has made no secret of his friendships. His wife of more than 30 years has not only been aware of them, she has even taken care of his child by Catherine Deneuve. His only justification is what he told a young actress. Giuliana De Sio: "In this profession you can't be ascetic." Women, tobacco and liquor, more or less in that order, stimulate him.

Looking back on his personal life, he recently said: "In the past, I easily took on the role of the victim, and now, I don't know whether I've given more than I've taken. On the whole, I'm grateful to the people I've been with. The clasbes, the frustrations are also good inheritances in which, each time, you're able to see some small fragment of yourself and on which, when the storm of t when the storm is over, you're forced to reflect. All told, I've been lucky, and others have been generous in allowing me to make use of them. I had my first joh at 13. I didn't have an easy adolescence or an easy career, so my culture is just experience of life. He's been in half a dozen pictures that have won Cannes prizes, only one of which went to him. And although be was the first foreign actor in a foreign film to be nominated for an Oscar, he has never won ooe, while three pic-tures in which he's appeared have taken the

The director Federico Fellini regards Mastroianni as a particularly intelligent actor, per-fect to portray man in all his contradictions and ambiguities. Although the recent "City of Women" was only Fellini's third film with Mastroianni as his leading man, the actor's subtly expressive face and understated por-travels give Fellini the perfect on screen surrotrayals give Fellini the perfect on-screen surro-

Fellini admires Mastrolanni for his conscientiousness. "He thoroughly explores the meaning of his part, suggesting truances in script and performances, submerging himself in his work. He'll spend hours discussing his role with his director until he has a thorough understanding of it. The legend that he's indifferent or lazy is tronsense. "If he doesn't study a script in my films, it's because he prefers to discover what goes on day by day." (Of course, it's also known that Fellini changes his scripts day by day.)

Peking-Paris or Bust

: by J.J. Razaf

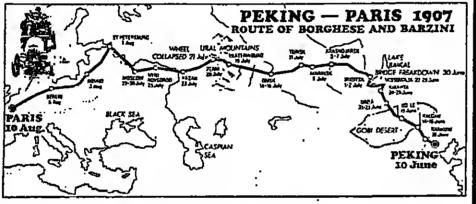

ARIS - Cape-to-Cairo, Berlin-to-Baghdad linkups are out of fashion, but the route from Peking to Paris is expected to be reopened next year for the 75th anniversary of the great motor rally of Contestants — in the categories of amateur and professional drivers, vintage cars and specially adapted rally cars -- are scheduled to leave the Chinese capital next June and will he expected for a banquet in Rheims, capital of champagne, about a month later. The culmination of the 7,000-mile course, sponsored by the French Motoring Federation and a private promoter, will be a triumphal procession of survivors up the Champs-Elysées.

The original rally was launched by a Paris newspaper with the headline: "Will anyone drive a car from Peking to Paris this summer?" At the turn of the century, the motor vehicle was a new invention whose endurance needed to be proven. Citroën and other early automakers were eager to demonstrate how their machines could perform over the rough terrain from Asia to Europe — without filling sta-

Of the 262 entrants in 1907, only 5 actually started. Prince Borghese, the winner, set off in his 40-horsepower Itala in the company of four French competitors on June 10, 1907 and arrived in Paris on Aug. 10. For the four crews who completed the distance, it was a demonstration of bravery that had originally been described as "total madness."

The idea of commemorating the long-distance motoring event began being talked about four years ago, but it was only this fall, in the salons of the Automobile Club de France in Paris, that Wylton Dickson, president of Inter-national Sporting Events Ltd., formally announced the event.

Since it was hinted that there would be a 75th anniversary replay, more than 3,000 peonea vor ac routes will be announced before the end of the year. The probable rendezvous: June, 1982, in

The restaging of the event poses many chal-lenges, the promoters admit. The test will come over such details as customs clearance for equipment shipped in for the race and hotel facilities for spectators in China.

There will be a basic route for regular cars, with additional sections for faster vehicles. The route for old cars will be about 7,000 miles (11,000 kilometers), whereas amateurs driving modern cars will use the 10,000-mile route [16,000 kilometers). In addition to the "classie" and "veteran" categories (at entry fees of £1,000 and £750 a vehicle), other classes will include factory entrants (entry fee £4,000), private four-wheel drives and special vehicles (£750). The total number of entries may not exceed 400.

The winner will be the co all or the greatest number of control points along the course and in doing so losing the least amount of time, subject to the official regulations. Penalties will be expressed in regulations. Penalties will be expressed in days, bours and parts thereof.

The sponsors tell all would-be participants that they should "have it quite clear in your mind that to compete in the 1982 Peking-to-Paris Motoring Challenge is tot going to be either inexpressive or easy." For further information contact: International Sporting Events Ltd. P.O. Box 6, London S.W.1; tel: 01-730-0104 or 01-235-3368.

A Provincial Museum Says No to Paris

by Richard M. Evans

ONTPELLIER, France — The Fabre Museum collection of 19thcentury French painting is so vast and so respected that the city of Montpellier risked losing it to the new Musée d'Orsay in Paris.

"We are not giving up anything we don't feel like giving up." says the Fabre Museum's director, Xavier Dejean. "These paintings were gifts to the city of Montpellier, some of them were even painted here. They have no means to force us at Orsay."

It was Dejean who saved the Fabre's treasures from the Musee d'Orsay, a housing of French 19th-century art that is scheduled to open in 1984. Dejean had old documents to prove that the Fabre's paintings came to it largely through the collections of two former Montpellier philanthropists who bequeathed all they owned to the city. Legally, Dejean had

Dejean did agree to give up some of the

Xavier Dejean, director of the Fabre Museum in Montpellier

Fabre's collection of old stone-cut cameos and jewelry to the Musee d'Orsay. But he says his museum will keep its paintings. The Fabre Museum has existed for 150 years. It is not Museum has existed for 150 years. It is not going to give away all it has now."

Housed in the former grand hotel of the Chevalier de Masilian aniid rows of marble arcades and skylights, the Fabre Museum possesses one of the finest collections of 19th-century French masters anywhere. Romantic allegory and realism, the two most important presuments of that enoth are usell represented. movements of that epoch, are well represented. There are 10 Courbers, 7 Delacroix, S Davids, 3 Géricaults, a Manet and a Matisse in the galleries on permanent display.

Inside, the museum is cool and seldom crowded. A number of Jean Houdon's figure crowded. A number of Jean Houdon's figure sculptures appear at intervals. The archives contain more than 1,500 sketches. Now it is being enlarged to furnish sufficient space for a growing collection of modern painting. A show of new works by selected living French painters — Claude Viallet, Vincent Bioules, Daniel Dezezze and Devade — that opened last spring continues until Nov. 10.

Dejean was asked about his melarige of 19th- and 20th-century art. "This is a time of mutation in the south of France. The Fabre is well known for its Courbets, but now Beanbourg is looking at us," he says, referring to his continuing show, "because they haven't yet done anything like this. We are showing the works of important, living artists who are forming the avant-garde movement today."

The Fabre Museum was founded in 1828 by the Montpellier-born painter Baron Francos-Xavier Fabre — a student of David and later a professor at the School of Fine Arts in Florprofessor at the School of Fine Arts in Florence. Involved in a lifelong romantic triangle with the English Countess of Albany and the Italian poet Alfieri, Fabre spent much of his time with them, traveling through southern Europe and collecting paintings. Fabre outlived both the countess and the poet and so inherited everything they had bought — works by Guardi, Veronese, Carrache and his mentor David

In 1825, Fabre — an old man in failing bealth — returned to Montpellier from Italy and donated the combined collections to his home city in exchange for the museum directorship and a pension.

Four decades later Alfred Bruyas, the son of a Montpellier banker, dedicated the greater part of his fortune to buying the works of artist friends, including Gustave Courbet, who painted his curious double self-portrait "The Encounter" while living at the Bruyas home. Bruyas was also a close friend of the poet Charles Baudelaire and bought Courbet. brooding portrait of him before the oil was yet dry on the canvas. Engène Delacroix came to visit and painted his patron Bruyas in the role of Prince Hamlet. Jules Laurens painted him as a bearded sage. torship and a pension as a bearded sage.

By 1867, when he died and left his paintings to the Fabre Museum, Bruyas had amassed to the Fabre Museum, and bestone of French one of the largest private collections of French art in the 19th century. Gaugum and Van Gogh hiked all the way from Arles to see the Bruyas collection in 1888 and Van Gogh said, "We were surrounded there by magic."

Today the Fabre Museum has become a center of the new preservationist philosophy that is changing museum management throughout the south of France. Dejean, who turned down a job at Beaubourg to take over the Fabre, supports a decentralization of the the Fabre, supports a decentralization of the Paris museum monopoly.

"It is the same thing for old or new art to-day," Dejean says. "People our in the provinces are waking up to the treasures they have and they do not want to see them carried off to Paris anymore. Museums in the south are finally entering the 20th century.

"This show is very important because we are doing it before Paris. People come to the south of France to see the past. We love our past but we are still alive here. People forget that."

The International Herald Tribune asked its famous wine columnist Jon Winroth to write a new kind of book about wine.

Witty! Highly informative!

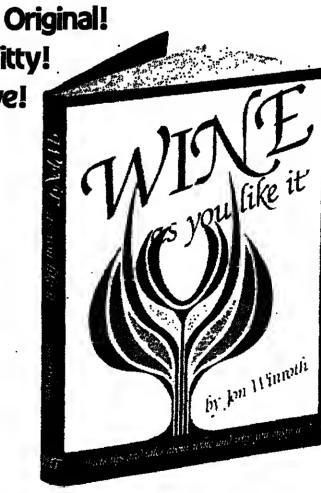

You'll be delighted with this entirely new, hardcover book- 200 pages brimming with helpful facts, anecdotes and colorful rales of wine-world personalities.

Jon Winroth has rejected the gobbledygook of wine snobbery, concentrating instead on useful information which is both fresh and fascinating. Little-known facts about wine making, wine tasting, wine fads and dozens of other revelations.

You'll appreciate his reputation for frankness when he tells you how to handle wine stewards, puts you on guard against wine frauds. Or again when he gives you a professional's advice on how to buy wines without investing a fortune.

Wine as you like it will help the layman develop expertise in selecting wines among both the great vintages and the lesserknowns. It includes serving tips, maps of wine regions, vintage information-and even gives a list of Jon Wintoth's favorite wine sources, the result of 15 years of pleasant research.

A great book to own or to give A publication from the book division of the Wine as you like it

U.S. $18 or equivalent in any convertible European currency—plus postage:

in Europe, please add $1.50 or equivalent for each copy; outside Europe, please add $4 or equivalent for each

Complete and return this coupon with your check or money order to: International Herald Tribune, Book Division, 181 avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

Please send me___copies of WINE AS YOU LIKE IT.

Address: City and Code: by Max Wykes-Joyce

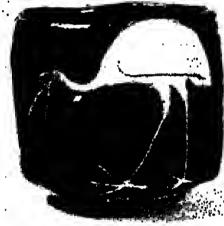

ONDON - When old collectors and connoisseurs of Oriental art meet, they still speak in awestruck tones of the 1935 exhibition of Chinese art at the Royal Academy in London. It is even more certain that the young connoisseurs of 1981 grown old will, half a century hence, speak in equally reverent terms of "The Great Japan Exhibition" (Royal Academy of Arts, Burlington House, Piccadilly, London W.1: Part 1 to Dec. 20; Part 2 from Dec. 28, 1981 to Feb. 21, 1982).

So important are many of the exhibits, never before allowed out of Japan, and certainly never before collected together in Japan in this way, that 75 per cent of them will be changed at Christmas for works of equal quality and importance. This means that in the two parts of the show some 750 works will be shown, all of which are reproduced in the magnificent

The Great Japan Exhibition concentrates on the arts of the Edo Period (1600-1868) which in Japan was a time of peace and affluence, ruled by a military dietatorship — the shogunate - and virtually cut off from outside

What has to be understood about all Japanese art is that the distinction Westerners make between pure and applied art is utterly meaningless to the Oriental. It was, for example, nnl considered odd for Ogata Korin (1658-1716) the greatest decorative painter of the period, and one who gives his name to the school of art associated with his style — Ringa — to design decorations for inro, the tiny lacquer boxes in which seals and ink, medicines or to have a ware for cines or tobacco were carried. These were fas-tened to one's sash or belt by a miniature sculpture in ivory or wood (the netsuke) of which a wbole school of carvers grew up in Kyoto in this period.

Netsuke, inro and the work of Korin are all represented in the Great Japan show, respectively in the lacquer, netsuke and painting sections, 3 of the 12 into which the show is dividtions. 3 of the 12 into which the show is divided. The painting section begins with hanging scroll portraits of the two warriors who made the Tokugawa regime possible — Toyetomi Hideyoshi and Tokugawa leyasu. Then follow the painters forerunning the Edo period (Edo, now Tokyo, was simply the town in which the Tokugawa clan had its castle and which it de-Tokugawa clan bad its castle, and which it decided to make its capital). The pioneer artists include Kano Sanraku (1559-1635) with a pair of sixfold screens "Dragon of the Storm; Tiger with Bamboo" and two pairs of sliding doors "Flowering Plum with Pheasants" and "Tigers in a Bamboo Grove" by Sanraku and his pupil Kann Sansetsu (1589-1651).

Tea bowl with crane motif (19th C.)

"Tiger with Bamboo," a panel by Kano Sanraku in ink and colors on paper.

There are seemingly endless pairs and sets of screens and doors by Naonobu (1607-50), Mitsuoki (1617-91), Sotatsu (died 1643), Morikage (e.1620-90) and Itcho (1652-1724). Korin is especially well represented, with a pair of twofold screens "Peacocks with Plum Blossoms and Hollyhocks"; a kotsutsumi (incense wrapper) now mounted as a hanging scroll, of branches of a willow tree on a red-gold ground; a similar kotsutsumi of ivy leaves; and fans, of young bracken, of a camelia and of "Spear-Flowers and Water Ripples."

Woodblock prints and woodblock albums are two sections of the exhibition, and calligraare two sections of the exhibition, and calligraphy a gathering of only seven items, but each a masterwork, particularly the "Four Solemn Characters" — ju — "long life"; koku — "time"; chu — "the Middle Way" of Buddhism; and shi — "death." The work is by the priest Hakuin (1675-1768).

Ceramics, armor, sword blades and sword mounts all have their respective sections, as do sculpture (in particular a series of 12 Buddhist images carved in wood attributed to the monk Enku, hewn with the short-handled carpenter's ax). netsuke (including a snake in ivory by Okatomo of Kyoto and a cockerel with millet by the same carver) and textiles. Although the most magnificent of these textiles are the robes made for the classical No theater, the most delightful to my mind is the simple yukata (a lightweight bathrobe kimono in cotton) with a blue stenciled pattern of "A Good Catch" octopus, flying fish and spiny lobster.

Inspired by the riches at the Royal Academy, the specialist dealers in Oriental art have excelled themselves in their own celebratory shows. Colnaghi Oriental in association with Shirley Day Limited has mounted a 47-item show — One Thousand Years of Art in Japan, Colnaghi Oriental, 14 Old Bond Street, W.1 to Nov. 27. This show explores in depth three traditions — early Boddhist painting and sculpture from late Heian (c.1150) to early Myromachi (c.1160); its reinting and sculpture from late Heian (c.1150). Muromachi (c. 1400); ink painting and calligra-pby (which had its origins in China) from the beginning of the 16th century to late Edo, and the Rimpa tradition — decorative painting from Korin to Zeshin (1807-91).

Three of these items especially relate to the Royal Academy show — the early gilded wood carving of the Healing Buddha, which is of a kind that clearly inspired the monk Enku 500 its painted detail of tortoiseshell (the tortoise | Edo manner.

being the animal symbol of longevity) by Shunso Shoju (1750-1835) the major calligrapher in the tradition of the priest Hakuin; and the painting on silk of "Sparrows" by Rosetsu (1754-99), which blends the ink painting and Rimpa traditions in a most agreeable manner.

Bird and flower painting flourished from the 12th century onward in China, where one of its 12th century onward in China, where one of its linest practitioners was the Emperor Huissung Such Chinese paintings were collected in Japan and by 1400 the Japanese were evolving their own mode of bird and flower painting. The whole theme is explored in Bird and Flower Paintings: Muromachi, Momoyama and Edo Periods at Milne Henderson, 99 Mount Street, W.1 from Oct. 28 to Dec. 11.

The range of work in this show is from Kano Shoë (1519-92) to a late Edo kakernono (hanging scroll) of "One Hundred Butterflies Among Spring Grasses" — butterflies counting as birds for this purpose. Unusually fine are a sequence of eight kakemone on the theme by Unkoku Toyo (1612-?), who is not repre-sented in the Royal Academy show, and a de-bberate imitation of Chimese ink painting by Chikuto (1776-1853).

Netsuke, inro and other lacquer including a vast traveling chest made for the last Tokugawa shogun are featured at Eskenazi, Foxglove House, Piccadilly, W.1 from Oct. 26 to Nov. 4. The major exhibits bere are a cluster of netsuke, mostly by Tomotada and Okatomo, 18th-century master carvers of Kyoto, from the Hull Grundy Collection and some of their artistic descendants. artistic descendants.

In addition there must be mentioned the exhibition at the British Library, Great Russell Street, W.C.I from Oct. 26 to March 28, 1982 of Japanese Popular Literature of the Edo Period: the sequence of Japanese art sales, including that of the Jurrianse Collection of netsuke at Sotheby's, and the seven-part weekly series of films "The Shogun Inheritance" about modern Japan and its roots, beginning on BBC 2 this weekend.

Finally, the Great Japan Exhibition at the rmally, the Great Japan Exhibition at the Royal Academy is designed by the celebrated architect Kisho Kurokawa, who himself has an exhibition — Kurokawa — Architect at the Heinz Gallery, Royal Institute of British Architects, 21 Portman Square, W.1 to Dec. 19. Consisting chiefly of photographs and models of his worldwide architectural practice, the show also contains a direct link with the R.A. schibition — a sequence of wavelblock relationship. exhibition - a sequence of woodblock prints of contemporary architectural images drawn by Kurokawa but cut and printed by 2 of the 15 remaining craftsmen in Tokyo who still

LONDON

GALLERIE 39

39 Charing Cross Road, Landon W.C.2. Tel. 01-439-4484

JAPANESE PRINTMAKERS

OCT. 21-NOV. 4

Business Art Gulleries Reyal Academy of Arts Burlington House, Plandilly W.1.

ALWIN GALLERY

9-10 Grafton Street, Bond Street, W.1.

01-499 0314.

London's Leading

Sculpture Gallery

66 CONTEMPORARY

Science Solves a Mystery

by Souren Melikian

ONDON - In two months, a sale scheduled Dec. 14 at Sotheby's in London will conclude one of the most extraordinary cases of modern archae ological sleuthing.

The first episode begins on a summer day of 1979 in the poky office of Richard Camber, then Sotheby's expert on medieval art. Seated across his desk is a ricb businessman with a weak spot for antiquities and a gambler's taste for profitable if chancy ventures. A while ago, he acquired a board of 122 gold and silver belt fittings from the Dark Ages, probably of the 7th century. He would like to sell them. And, to Camber's surprise, he produces a handful of buckles, pendants and strap ends, all cast in gold or silver.

The scrolling motifs carrying lobes or halfsalmettes have some remote equivalents in the Byzantine sphere, while some reclining stags ultimately hark back to the Central Asian repertory. Some of the pieces look brand new.
This, of course, can happen; gold does not get corroded and there are casts of early gold pieces coming out of excavations in almost mint condition....

As Camber muses about the endless problems of authentication raised by such pieces, he hears the businessman telling him what he is really concerned about. There is a danger that the hoard may have been plundered from Hungary during the 1956 upnising — Hungary is indeed a plausible source for nomadie hoards of Hunnic and Avar origin. If such important pieces are unrecorded, they might have been whisked nut of an archaeological dig or even out of the reserves of some little-known museum. Would Sotheby's be interested in the matter - and help solve the disturbing ques-

To Camber, it all lonked like a wildly improbable gamble, if a relatively inexpensive ninary investigation would involve limited outlay. On the other hand, if the pieces should turn out to be genuine, it would be a sensational scoop — and most worthwhile sale — for Sotheby's. Camber decided to give it a try.

Gold strap retainer.

The question worrying the businessman was settled within months. Interpol, contacted by Scotland Yard after Camber submitted a complete set of photographs, could find "no trace whatsoever" of such a hoard. Neither did the archaeological section of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. At that point, Sotheby's expert decided he must know about the source. The businessman mentioned the name of a Greek known in trade circles, and admitted he had bought the pieces in Munich. That fitted with Camber's information. When still a deputy keeper at the British Museum in the mid-1970s, he had seen the pieces offered by a com-mercial source located in Germany.

Once again, Camber went through the checking routine, this time in Greece. Neither the Department of Antiquities at the Ministry of Culture, nor the National Museum, nor the police had heard of such a hoard. The museum, however, had a useful suggestion: Camber should go and see a retired keeper with vast experience, Professor Matsumas. And at that stage Camber made his first breakthrough: Yes, Matsumas had seen the lot long before World War II and remembered it had come out of Albania. For Sotheby's, the cloak-anddagger phase was over.
The hoard happened to include two mid-7th century Byzantine silver plates whose authen-ticity had never been in doubt. Until then their link with the "Hunnic" belt littings was highly uncertain. Assuming that the treasure had indeed been dug up in Albania, their presence now made sense. Some hoards ascribed to the Avars, a nomadic group of Turkie origin that appeared in Byzantine-dominated Europe in the late 6th century, include such Byzantine silver dishes. A quick search through reference books

Camber an interesting lead. The businessman's belt fittings came remarkably close to

by Michael Gibson

Silver strap end from the Avar hoard

imilar pieces from an Albanian hoard dug up by peasants at the turn of the century in somewhat mysterious circumstances, reportedly at a place called Vrap. One piece had reached the Istanbul Archaeological Museum — Albania was then part of the Ottoman Empire — 43 pieces, including a Byzantine ewer and bowl, had found their way into the Metropolitan Musem of Art and one had meandered through the Swiss trade and a French private collection before landing in the Walters Art Callery in Baltimore. The connection with the Vrap find conveniently fitted with Matsumas' recollection of having seen the businessman's pieces before 1938, with Albania given as the

Moreover, Josef Strzygowski, the Austrian art historian who had published some of the Vrap gold, hinted in his book "Altai and Völkerwanderungen" that more pieces were still floating around. Could the businessman's pieces be the remainder of the Vrap find? This would give them a date of circa A.D. 700.

Sotheby's expert routinely checked the two Byzantine silver dishes. Erica Cruikshank Dodd, an American who is the world authority on Byzantine silver control stamps, confirmed that the marks struck on the underside of the two dishes were genuine. They were respectively datable to 641-51 and 659-63, both within

if the siver dishes really belonged with the belt-fittings, it followed that the hoard had not been buried earlier than 659-63 A.D. — which fitted nicely with the Vrap theory. One objection, however, had to be overcome. No silver objects of Avar workmanship — such as some of the belt-fittings — have been recorded so far among the numerous Avar finds. A specto-graphic analysis of the trace elements in one of the dishes undertaken at Camber's request re-vealed an abnormally high lead content in the silver. So did analysis of some of the belt fittings. That was encouraging, since the general assumption was that the Avars cast their ob-jects from gold obtained by melting Byzantine coinage. A similar process would have been followed for obtaining silver - possibly from discarded dishes. Conjecture, however, is no

Camber decided that his one hope of dispelling doubts lay in Carbon-14 dating. He had noticed that muck covered up some buckles and strap ends. It might, with some luck, yield just enough organic substance for radioactivity measurements. Precisely at that time, a labora-tory set up at Harwell in Oxfordshire by the Atomic Energy Research Authority was making it known to a small circle of people interested in dating archaeological pieces that the laboratory was going into Carbon-14 dating. The director, Dr. Robert Otlet, and his assistant, Gill Walker, had developed new testing methods requiring only minute quantities of organic substance — about a tenth of the amount previously necessary. Their equipment was still in the planning stage and both were eager to experiment on works of art.

In July, 1930, the two scientists agreed to inspect the board at Sotheby's and succeeded in removing 300 milligrams of flax from buckles and strap ends. It took 10 more months for the machinery to be set up. By the middle of last month, their preliminary report to Sotheby's gave a daing of A.D. 640, plus or minus 100 years. (Later the very fine daing of A.D. 700 was to be reached through further refined measurements.) For Camber, this was, at last, a breakthrough. It was decided to proceed with the sale - and the investigation.

A spectographic analysis of 20 of the fittings
— 10 of gold and 10 of silver — showed that the expert's tentative groupings of the belt-fittings were "internally consistent as regards the proportions of the trace elements which they contain." As an example, in his introduction to the forthcoming sale catalogue, which was made available to this writer in typescript, Camber describes a silver belt offered as lot 177 "where the relative proportions of gold, tin and copper discernible in the four fittings sub-mitted for analysis are over twice as high as those found in any of the other silver belts." He prudently observes that the reconstruc-tions are nonetheless tentative. Noting a paral-

more rarely gold) and composed of an assemblage of wooden boxes piled together like shelves and lined with fragments of wood found by the artist or brought to

Nevelson is perfectly aware of vhat this manner of working implies. It is a symbolic redemption

It is significant that Nevelson has occasionally been commissioned to do religious monuments.

In the past such monuments often marble and bronze. The use of a poble material (wood) under the of refuse into art is, by its connotations in terms of human destiny, a religious act, and it expresses a dif-ferent view on what is implied — notion of redemption. Nevelson herself, in her dress and jewelry, can sometimes make one think of a priestess, a no-nonsense, intellizent, articulate woman who is also

The present show includes a number of large pieces along with some smaller works — miniature monuments, like the sequence titled "Moon Spikes," or chests also neatly packed with her findings. There are colleges and low reliefs and an important selection of free-standing metal scalection of free-standing metal scalections.

standing metal sculptures. An exhibition of her work in Paris is a Christian Bouchon (Galerie ES, is also an officiant.

rare event.

lelism between the two complete gold belts and two of the silver belts, he further speculates that it may be intentional: Belts are believed to have been worn in pairs by the no.

At Bocsa, in Hungary, two gold belts, one made paler than the other by the addition of silver, have been recovered from the same tomb; Camber suggests that silver and gold belts might have been likewise worn in twos. It is all very ingenious but, when attempting a demonstration, assumptions should be kept to a minumum.

All weak links have not been eliminated

All weak links have not been eliminated from Sotheby's chain of reasoning. The first weakness lies in the interpretation of Carbon-14 dating. The flax in the muck may be datable circa A.D. 700 without proving the object authentic. Assuming for a moment that we are dealing with 20th-century copies, the mack could have been inserted in this century. Camber's retort is that early 20th-century forgers knew nothing about Carbon-14 dating. The which the skeptic's reply is that any forger wanting to give his artifacts a respectable anchaeological appearance could have just introduced clay mixed with fragments of excavated fabrics. Hundreds of fragments, many of the 6th-7th centuries, could be picked up in antique dealers' shops in those days. Unfortunately, no one thought of having the buckles and strap ends X-rayed or, better still, of getting X-ray photographs — before removing the muck — which might conceivably have helped eliminate such doubts.

The second, and probably more serious, weakness is that the authenticity of the tested elements, once accepted, does not automatical elements, once accepted, does not automatically extend to all the other fittings. Forgers have always had a regrettable habit of copying genuine pieces. Variations in the physical appearance and feel of several fittings perhaps deserve closer investigation.

The third weak link concerns the observation on the corresponding contents in mi-croelements in one Byzantine silver dish (out of two) supposedly found with the belt fittings, and some of the silver belts. The assumption that the belts were east by the Avars from By-zantine dishes around 700 can sadly enough be matched with the equally plausible assumption that they were east from Byzantine dishes found in fragments and therefore worthless-around 1920....

These remarks are not intended to card doubt on the pieces. They should merely serve as a reminder that there is no such thing as a foolproof "scientific" test for an object — the test, in turn, requiring an interpretation. In the end, the eye remains the last resort, fallible as it may be.

But whether or not potential buyers go along with Camber's "demonstration," Some-by's handling of the Avar hoard problem will be regarded in the future as a turning-point in saleroom practice.

From start to finish, Sotheby's expert took the scholar's approach, first in checking out the legality of the source and then in waining months for the objects to be tested. In all likelihood, if Camber - who joined the firm as a medieval expert three years ago, then became Sotheby's director of the Works of Art Depart ment, and has recently been made a member of the seven-man team that defines the firm's own right, this would not have happened. He might not have realized the point of carbon had dating applied to minimal quantities and he would need to probably would oot have approached Harwell. The "Second Vrap Find," as it may eventually come to be known, would not have been made. Paradoxical as it may sound, the long-term implications of the Harwell testing are far more important than the specific case of the hoard. In a great many cases the new testing method may truly prove decisive. Counties medieval ivories are in doubt. A minimal amount removed from an inconspicuous part of the object may allay many fears or dis objects. Whatever the ultimate verdict of the hoard, the big news is the breakthrough that the use of such sophisticated laboratory techniques at the request of an auction house represents in the art market and in art history.

ART EXHIBITIONS

uropean

Vorks of Art

Old Master

French Furniture

French & German Porcelain

Sculpture 1600-1900

Works of Art

European Works of Art

Catalogue III. Five Dollars

PARIS

HOMMAGE A LEON SPILLIAERT

16 octobre - 19 décembre

CHRISTIAN FAYT ART GALLERY

Belgique: Kustiaan 94-96, 8300 KNOKKE-HEIST. Tél. (050) 60.25.10 – 60.14.89

Paintings & Sculptures

Renaissance and Medi

Rosenberg & Stiebel

COLETTE DUBOIS-420 Ruc Saint-Honoré - Paris VIIIº - 260.13.44

CONCESSA COLACO

BRAZILIAN TAPESTRIES - Until November 18

WALLY FINDLAY Galleries International

EXHIBITION

MICHEL-HENRY

IMPRESSIONISTS

POST-IMPRESSIONISTS

2, av. Matignon - Paris 8° Tel. 225.70,74 thru. set 10 e.m

Wally Findlay George V Hôtel George V - 723.54.00 DOUTRELEAU SIMBARI ..

31, av. George V - Paris 8º dally - 10 a.m. . 9 p.m.

GENEVA

EDITART Gallery

Colnaghi

ation with Shirley Day Ltd.

ONE THOUSAND YEARS

OF ART IN JAPAN

Until 27 November Catalog available (incl. postage)

U.K. 28; Europe: £9.50;

Overseas £12 14 Old Bond St. WI

ACHIM MOELLER

Mineteenth and Twentleth Century Masters

Purchase/Consignment

17 Ave. Pictet-de-Rochemons CH-GENEVA - Tel.: 369603 TAKAL Drawing - Lithographs
- October/ November 1981___

LONDON

MARLBOROUGH 6 Alberrarie St., W.1. 01-629 5161

KURT SCHWITTERS

in Ecile: The Late Work 1937-1948

Fully illustrated catalog slable in English & Germa

Sale/Consultancy 8 Grosvenor St, Bond St, W1. 01-493 7611/4591

ART EXHIBITIONS"

COLLECTOR'S GUIDE

PARIS — Louise Nevelson, who monumental walls — imposing has come to Paris in her 81st and poetic works painted a universe for a small retrospective of form black (occasionally white,

Around Galleries in Paris rue de la Verrerie, Paris 4, to Nov.

21), is best known today for her

"The Mussel Fisher" Signed & dated 1909, 23½ x 33½ inches (60 x 80 cm). Negotiation Prices 5105,000.—
 "A Donkey in The Dunes" Signed & dated 1911, 27 x 36 inches (70 x 90 cm). Negotiation prices 578,000.—

Negotiation price: $98,000.—; "Boy's Bathing" Signed, 17½ x 21 inches (45 x 53 cn). Negotiation price: $110,000.—.

Write: International Herald Tribane, Box 1643, Gr. Eschenbeimer Str., 42, 6000 Frankfurt, W. Germany, or selex; GERMANY $882776.

AUCTION SALES

PALAIS DES BEAUX-ARTS

AUCTION SALE 27, 28 AND 29 OCTOBER 1981

IMPORTANT COLLECTIONS

Delft - European China - XVIIIth-century China XIXth & XVIIIth century Silverplate - Pewter XVIIth, XVIIIth & XIXth century Furniture.

OLD MASTER AND MODERN PAINTINGS CONTEMPORARY ART

Appel, K. - Caille, P. - Delahaut, J. - Goffin, J. -Le Boul, C. - Mara, P. - Musin, M. - Rener, A.-M. Rhaye, Y. - Somville, R. - Utsumiya, L Van Tuerenhaut, J. - Leloup, O.

EXCEPTIONAL COLLECTION OF ANTIQUE CHINESE & ORIENTAL RUGS

Exhibition: 23, 24 and 25 October 1981.

50 rue des Lombards, Paris I, to Nov. 29) has lived and worked out-Information: Service des Ventes Publiques, side the art world for the last 20 years, partly as a result of his tem-perament and convictions, but even more, no doubt, because of a traffic accident (he was hit by a Rue Royale, 10, 1000 Bruxelles. Tel.: 512.18.94 · 512.85.78.

truck when he was 22) that left some serious aftereffects. Brain damage affected his perception of color during the first few years so he took to drawing wandering about the streets of Paris and its suburbs and catching the turbulence of a street life from which he himself felt excluded.

About 200 of the 400 drawings produced during this period are of what has been rejected as use-less and unimportant — the cast-offs of a utilitarian world. All the odds and ends that would normalnow being shown in this quaint little gallery, which also sells exotic ly be swept up and thrown into the and baroque blossoms from Africa and the West Indies. Bouchon's fire receive recognition and signifi-cance from ber and are enshrined cance from per and are ensurance in these solemn, silent, sereme monuments. Implicitly these expendable objects designate something purely buman that is threatened by the same sense of futility. form is traditional, partly out of a sort of populist conviction, but he shows a singular intensity and an authentic draftsman's talent that make these delicate drawings crawling with Bruegelian vitality, a true and touching record of urban France in these years, and more significantly the expression of an unusual and pure hearted sensibility. Some pastels are also being shown, including some more-recent and much-larger works that intentionally refer to the kitschy used precious materials such as form of refuse, the transmutation idiom of the chromolithograph and of symbolism and constitute a departure in his work. even in a secular sense — by the

Robert Birmelin (Galerie Claude Bernard, 7 rue des Beaux-Arts, Paris 6, to Nov. 7) is a realist painter with an original view of the turbulence of city streets, the transfiguration of grimy cityscapes by evening light and (during the summer months) the rocky shores of Maine. In "Broadway Near 125th Street" he makes brilliant use of various contrasts: the straight line of the El and the chaos of pedestrian movement, the precision of distant figures and the out-of-focus mass of those in the foreground, the filth of the setting and the colorful patchwork of the clothes.

Birmelin's work is a novel prolongation of American Realism into the 1980s, and in his rooftop views of New York he shows a des olate landscape of sinister buildings transfigured by light, whether the rosy glow of sunset or the incandescent bowl of a distant stadi-

GALERIE NIKOLENKO —Darthea Speyer— 220, 8d St.Germain · Paris 7* 548-20.62 6 Rue Jacques Callot - VI - 354 78 41 SERGEI Irmgard SIGG day-friday 10-5, Saturdays 10-1

LEFEVRE GALLERY 30 Bruton Street WT - 01-493 1572/3 20th-CENTURY WORKS ON VIEW

"COLLECTOR'S CUIDE" "AUCTION SALES" on Saturday with the page.

A territor

Page 11 Seturday-Sunday, October 24-25, 1981 **

W. Germany Posts Surplus In Its Trade

From Agency Dispatches
WIESBADEN, West Germany
- West Germany's trade surplus jumped to 3,48 billion Deutsche marks in September after a 55-million DM deficit in August, the Federal Statistics Office said Fri-

The September surplus was more than twice last year's figure of 1.56 billion DM.

A rise in exports brought a sharp drop in the current-account deficit, to a provisional 2.236 billion DM in September after an up-ward-revised 6,409 billion DM in August. That compares with a deficit of 2.87 billion DM in September, 1980. The current account comprises trade, services and certain transfers.

Last month's deficit was lower after seasonal adjustment than the 2-billion-DM levels in July and August. The large August deficit —distorted by the vacation season - pushed the average for the two months to 2 billion DM.

The current-account deficit for, the first nine months totaled 26.756 billion DM, up from 25.041 billion DM in the first nine months of last year, the statistics office said:

Exports up 22%

The nine-month figure for this year consisted of a 13.4-billion-DM trade surplus, a 19.6-billion deficit on services and supplemen-tary trade items and n 20.6-billion deficit on transfers, the statistics office said.

Exports last month totaled 34.4 billion DM, 22 percent higher than in August, while imports rose in September to 30.9 billion DM, 10 percent more than in the preceding

Exports in the first nine months of this year totaled 287.2 billion DM, 11 percent higher than in the same 1980 period, while imports totaled 273.7 billion, or 8 percent higher, the statistics office said,

The Bundesbank meanwhile reported that West Germany posted a balance-of-payments surplus of 1.414 billion DM in September, compared to a deficit of 4.49 billion DM in August and of 3.029 billion in September, 1980.

The overall payments surplus for the first nine months of this year was 5.418 billion DM, compared to a 18,111-billion deficit in the like year-earlier period, the central bank said. -

BUSINESS NEWS BRIEFS Chrysler May Be Forced

Volkswagen Finance Chief Thomée Resigns

WOLFSBURG, West Germany — Volkswagen's finance director, Friedrich Thomée, has resigned, the company announced Friday. It said the future of its chairman, Toni Schmuecker, who had a heart attack in June, was still uncertain. Mr. Thomée had been acting chief executive while Mr. Schmuecker has been recovering.

Industry sources said Friday that the group will prohably break even this year, compared with 1980 net group profit of 321 million Deutsche marks (now about $140 million). A company spokesman said that Mr. Schmuecker, 60, is still not fully fit for work and that it was not impossible that he might decide to step down.

Rolls, 3 Japan Firms Delay Jet Engine Project

TOKYO - Rolls Royce and three Japanese aircraft manufacturers have put off for one year a decision on launching a joint jet engine development project scheduled for this year, Japanese officials said. The delay in the $430-million project by the joint company, Rolls Royce and Japan Aeroengines of Derby, reflects dampened prospects for the 150-sear commercial jets that would use the engines, they said.

Pernas Sime Darby, Land Rover Set Up Venture

KUALA LUMPUR - Pernas Sime Darby will set up a joint venture company in Malaysia with Land Rover that will be its sole franchise holder for Malaysia and Brunei, Sime Darby said Friday. Agreement has also been reached for Tractors Singapore, a Sime Darby group company, to become sole distributor in Singapore. Pernas Sime Darby, a Malaysian-owned investment body, will hold majority equity in the joint company. Incheape, 63.5-percent owned by Incheape & Co. of Britain, had held the franchise for almost 30 years, through its subsidiary Champion Orchard Motors.

Land Rover Malaysia proposes to assemble Land Rover and Range Rover vehicles at a plant here in which Pernas Sime Darby has a 49percent stake, the announcement said. The agreement takes effect Jan. 1.

GE Introduces Text Search, Retrieval System

NEW YORK - General Electric said Friday it had introduced n hardware-based text search and retrieval system built around a text-array processor. The Scan-2 system, to be priced at $249,750, can scan digital data at speeds of up to 2 million characters per second, GE said.

Peugeot Projects 1981 Loss Close to 1980's

PARIS — Peugeot expects to report a consolidated net loss for 1981 close to its loss of 1.5 billion francs (now about $263 million) in 1980, the company said Friday. It said the projected consolidated loss in 1981 corresponded roughly to the cost of the company's withdrawal from operations in Argentina.

Genentech Produces Third Kind of Interferon

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO - Genentech has produced immune inteferon by recombinant DNA technology funded by the Japanese companies Daiichi Seiyaku and Toray Industries, the company said Friday. It said it plans to test the substance — the third interferon it has produced — as an anticancer drug as soon as it can produce enough of it.

Judge Drops Bid to Halt Penn Central-Colt Deal The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — A federal judge has dismissed a suit filed by a group of Pean Central stockholders, led by former Marathon Manufacturing stockholders Howard L. Terry and W. Herbert Hunt, seeking to stall the company's proposed acquisition of Colt Industries.

U.S. District Judge Lewis Pollack said the merger would not violate Penn Central's earlier acquisition agreement with Marathon, acquired by Penn Central in 1979, nor would it violate state or federal laws. Penn Central said it will seek shareholder approval of the merger Thursday.

COMPANY REPORTS

P.O. Box 900 308, D-8000 Munchen 90, Ge ineassooche for a trial subscription of 3 m Plante enclose chaque ($25.—).

FINANZWOCHE, Dr. Jess Ehrhardt, ent company alone. Jean-Maxime Leveque, president of Credit Commercial, said three accounting firms consulted by the bank estimated that CCF was worth 325,04 francs per share, almost twice the 163.76 francs the government is proposing to pay.

earnings of subsidiaries.

AP-Dow Jones
DETROIT — Despite firm denials by Chrysler, speculation is m-creasing here and in Washington that the automaker will need to borrow the $300 million still available under its federally guaranteed loan program.

Government sources said some federal officials are already preparing for a Chrysler request to tap the remaining funds. The company has borrowed $1.2 billion of the $1.5 billion available.

Much of the speculation appears to have been fueled by a meeting last Friday between Chrysler's chairman, Lee A. Iacocca, and Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, who heads the government's three-member Chrysler panel. Government officials said Mr. lacocca used the meeting to sound out Mr. Regan about the possibiliof drawing on the remaining $300 million.

One source said Mr. Regan agreed to have his staff look into Chrysler's situation. A Chrysler spokesman denied that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss more loan guarantees, and said it does not have plans to ask for the money, but did not deny that the subject was discussed.

[Reuters reported that Chrysler officials denied the company will seek additional federal assistance.

It quoted Wendell W. Larsen, Chrysler's group vice president for public affairs, as saying that Mr. lacocca did meet last Friday with Mr. Regan, but that the two men only discussed high interest rates and their effect on the auto indus-

For Chrysler to even consider making an appeal for authority to use the remaining loan guarantees would underscore the automaker's fragile financial situation and poor prospects. When Chrysler made a bid for loan guarantees last December, government proceedings to consider the request dragged on for three months. Chrysler estimated that the resulting bad publicity cost more in lost sales than the $400 million it eventually was allowed to borrow.

But with new car sales continu-ing at dismal levels, Chrysler has been having trouble meeting the financial targets in its survival plan. For instance, the plan calls for the company to hold its third-quarter net loss to 538 million. Yet it is expected that next week Chrysler will report a deficit for the quarter well in excess of $100 million.

Chrysler's market share has been slightly higher than provided for in the plan. But the market has been smaller than forecast, causing the company's actual sales to fall below expectations. Chrysler expected to have a cash reserve by this time of more than $300 mil-lion but sources said the company has managed to squirrel away less than $50 million.

One way Chrysler is trying to raise cash is by pressuring dealers into ordering specified numbers of cars this quarter. As an incentive, Chrysler is permitting only dealers

By Thomas W. Lippman

Washington Past Service

WASHINGTON - A senior

Kuwaiti oil official has assured the Abdulrazzak Mohammed Hus-

هیکنامن المول

program that is intended to boost dealers' retail sales.

Some analysts said that, by locking dealers into ordering a lot of cars, Chrysler will have set up a buffer against the effects of annther request for more loan guaran-tees. Even if sales were to drop, the company would still be filling dealer orders. Ultimately, however.

many observers believe, Chrysler's course will be to seek the additional loan guarantees.

Wall Street Prices Sharply Lower NEW YORK — Prices were sharply lower at the close of the New York Stock Exchange Friday in moderate trading. The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 2.76 points Thursday, was off 10.28 points to 837.99

Declines led advances by about 9-to-5 margin among the 1,847 issues traded.

NYSE turnover amounted to 41.99 million shares compared with 40.6 million traded Thursday. Prices were lower in moderate trading of American Stock Ex-

Analysts said investors were dis-

National Debt In U.S. Climbs To $1 Trillion

The Associated Press WASHINGTON - The U.S. national debt is now at $1 trillion — and rising.

The milestone, reached late Thursday, was greeted with little more than passing interest at the Treasury Department, "It's not an issue for celebration," spokesman Marlin Fitz-water said. "For us this is a routine handling of the debt of the nation."

The debt - mostly money owed by the government to U.S. citizens — has been rising through most of the nation's history, with only occasional in-terruptions. And that it will keep rising is almost guaranteed by the Reagan administra-tion's estimate of a $43.1-billion budget deficit - which many economists say is far too optimistie — in fiscal 1982.

The biggest part of the debt about $680 billion — is in the form of freasury notes and bonds. About $70 billion is in U.S. Savings Bonds and about $200 billion is nonmarketable debt owed to various government agencies, such as the Social Security trust fund. The rest is scattered among smaller categories.

Some economists and politicians argue that the total does not really matter since the debt is only about 34 percent of the gross national product. In fact, its size relative to GNP has fallen steadily since World War II. they note.

States and the legality of some aspects of the takeover.

nodest crude-oil production could be affected by OPEC policies, Mr. Hussain said, "The answer is em-phatically no. Santa Fe is involved in crude oil production in only two countries — the U.S. and the Unit-ed Kingdom. None of this crude oil could be subjected to OPEC pricing or to any kind of external restriction on availability."

He acknowledged that Santa Fe would be controlled by the Kuwai-ti government, but he said its drilling and construction operations would always be regulated by the laws of whatever country they

Directly or through subsidiaries, Santa Fe is involved in finding, ex-tracting and transporting oil in several countries, building power plants and refineries, developing synthetic fuels and designing and constructing power plants, includ-ing nuclear plants.

We're transfering a company that has the expertise to build nuclear plants, has drilling technology and resources to n foreign company that took part in the 1973 oil embargo," Rep. Rosenthal com-were involved in.

Consumer Price index Percent change, month to month

turbed that inflation was reignizing

The government's report that the September Consumer Price index rose 1.2 percent, or n1 a 14.4 percent annual rate, was the third consecutive increase and put pressure on the Federal Reserve to tighten credit reins again after a

Money Supply

serve in its weekly report on the money supply said the M-1B fell $1.5 billion and M-1A dropped $600 million in week ended Oct.

In Washington, The Labor De-partment reported that U.S. real spendable earnings fell a seasonally-adjusted 1.9 percent in September, the largest one-month decline

The department also said real spendable earnings were unchanged in August. Initially, the department reported a 0.4-percent increase in August. Real earnings in September were 4,4 percent be

Murray Weidenbaum, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the United States can expect to see a strongly expanding economy 12 months from now.

said at the same time the United States will see more control over

In corporate news, analysts in London said that Consolidated Gold Fields is likely to take advantage of recent weakness in Newmont Mining shares to hasten its plans to achieve a 26-percent

Newmont closed Friday at 46 off 3 and down from around $65 earlier this month. This compares with the $72 price which Cons Gold has agreed to pay for $1 mil-

In Detroit, Ford Mntor said it asked some of its unions to make concessions in order for the company to maintain its competitive

A Ford spokesman gave no details, but confirmed a report that workers at a transmission plant were asked to make concessions to reduce the plant's production plained. He also noted that, as a foreign-owned corporation, Santa

The scope of the company's op-erations in the United States led

Rep. Rosenthal to raise several questions that were not fully re-

Would Santa Fe, as a partici-

· What would Santa Fe's U.S.

executives and workers do if directed by the Kuwaitis to take actions contrary to the interests of

· Can a Kuwaiti-owoed corporation retain its drilling and exploration rights on federally owned land if Kuwait is not on the Interior Department's list of countries with which the United States has reciprocal agreements?

the United States or its allies?

pant in a consortium developing synthetic fuels, get U.S. subsidies?

solved at the bearing:

Asked whether Santa Fe's Fe would not pay U.S. income tax.

lion Newmont treasury shares.

position in the industry.

interest rates and inflation.

at auction on Oct. 29.

Nov. 1.

The White House economist

low the year-earlier level.

After the close the Federal Re-brief easing period.

while the economy was slipping.

U.S. Consumer Prices Up 1.2% in September

WASHINGTON - Surging food and housing prices boosted the cost of living by 1.2 percent in September and pushed the annual inflation rate to more than 10 percent for the year so far, the govern-ment reported Friday.

Last month's increase over August was the third big jump in a row, fullowing rises of 1.2 percent in July and 0.8 percent in August If inflation were to increase for 12 consecutive months at the same

An afficial of the United Auto-project to build a replacement assembly plant in Kansas City, Kansas. The company said its Kansas City area plants at Fairfax and

Leeds will continue to assemble cars as scheduled.

rate as in September, it would total 14.8 percent over that period. Although housing and food dominated the seasonally adjusted increase, prices were rising fairly rapidly in all categories, according to the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index.

Overall bousing costs rose 1.3 percent, including a 3.2-percent increase in financing costs. Food prices rose I percent, including n .2-percent increase for groceries. Food prices were unexpectedly stable early in the year, but now have risen substantially for three consecutive months. Housing costs have risen 1 percent or more each month since May, giving the overall index a bigger boost than many critics say

They contend that the housing component overstates the real in flation rate because sharp rises in house prices include investment gains. Also, they say, a rapid rise in home loan rates results in large increases in the index even though relatively few people actually are will be 10 percent or less.

Allen Sinai of Data Resources, a

Seagram Co. of Mnntreal borrowed $300 million Friday from a consortium of Canadian banks to buy back as much as 14.25 percent of its common stock, which the distiller has said is undervalued.

The Bank of Montreal, one of five banks in the consortium, announced that the final papers for the loan were signed in Montreal. No terms were given.

Bank of France Lowers Intervention Rate 0.5%

PARIS - The Bank of France cut its money market intervention rate to 15½ percent from 16 percent at its tender to buy first category paper, money dealers said

The Treasury annoused it will raise $1.025 billion in new cash by selling $5 billion of 52-week bills The cut confirms the trend to lower French interest rates begun gradually after the Oct. 4 devalua-The yield at the auction will be tion of the franc within the Euro-pean Monetary System. The interused to determine the maximum interest rate that may be paid on vention rate now stands at its low-"All Savers" certificates beginning est level since before the Socialist election victories five months ago.

workers union said Ford asked workers at the plant for concesis realistic. sions if they hoped to keep their jobs. Earlier in the week, Ford told employees at its Sheffield, Alabama, aluminum casting plant to take n 50-percent cut in wages and benefits or lose their jobs. General Motors, meanwhile, said it will indefinitely defer a buying houses at those rates. The annual inflation rate so far this year is still well below last year's 12.4 percent. Most private economists continue to predict that the total 1981 inflation rate

Massachusetts forecasting firm, said Thursday that any significant further inflation progress will de-pend heavily on big labor contracts due to be negotiated next

Food prices rose hardly at all through June, despite Agriculture Department predictions that they would increase 10 percent or more this year. They rose a bit less than 1 percent in July and August, and economists said before September's figures were released that the increases were not over.

However, the government's Pro-ducer Price Index, which measures inflation at the wholesale level, bas been rising much more slowly. And those small increases, including food before it is sold in groceries, indicate that consumer food prices will not soar too high in coming months.

Oil price increases, which pushed inflation up early in the year, have moderated with the worldwide oil surplus. But they could start rising again as winter moves in and demands for heating

CURRENCY RATES

Interbank exchange rates for Oct. 23 1981, excluding bank service charges.

		s		D.M.	P.P.	It,L		Glør.	B.F.	S.F.	DJK
Amste	rdacq	2511	4.57	110,31 -	43.97	0.200	56	_	6.602 °	132.57 *	34.36 •
Brusse	NS (01	28.06	69.2975	14,7217	6.67	2.1	6-	15.1575		20,114	5.2005
Frank	ført	2.273	4.141	_	39.92 *	1.88	4×	90.40	5.977 -	720.50 -	31.10 -
Londo	n (b)	1.82		4.149	10,4944	2.201.7	15	4.5727	47.185	34476	13.3181
Miles		1,207,05	2.173.90	529.95	270.81				31.646	636.56	165.00
New Y	ork		1.8255	844	0.1754	0.99	4 -		0.2626	1.3112	0.1367
Paris		5721	10.395	250.77 *		4.737			14.995 *	301.53 •	78.17 •
Zurick		1.89	3,4435	81.11 *	33.17	0.150			5.9993 °		25.89
ECU		1.0716	0.5863	2.4395	6,722	1,292.1	7	2.6924	40.833	N.A.	7.836
· Dollar Values
S Equiv.	Cu	TTERCY	Per U.S.S	s Equiv.	Carre	псу	Per U.S.$	S Equi	y. Co	rrency	Per U.S.S
1,1436		tralian S	0.8744	0,0723	tarveli s	hckel	12.63	0.4765	Sing	apore S	2.0785
0.0626	Austri	an schilling	15.97	0.0043	Jopanes	ie ven	233.A7	5 1,034	S. Afr	ican road	0.0967
0.0237	Belgla	m film freeze	47.70	3 5340	Kurnerik	diame	6 2020	0.000	S Kee		400 10

Moracki disor 0.2829
Molay, riappit 2.283
Norw. kraue 5.9975
Phil. peso N.A.
Port. escudo 65.217
Soudi rivei 3.42
S.D.R. 0.8722 Condition $ 1,2047
Danish krope 7,3065
Finnish mark 4,454
Greek druckma 51,225
Hong Kone $ 5,996
Irish £ 0,4418 (a) Commercial franc. (b) Amounts needed to buy one pound. (*) Units of 1000, (x) Units of 1,000 produce maximum interest while at the produce industrials writers write or the same time giving flexibility of choice and absolute security for your money. Keep what you have samed and beat inflation with the following interest rates. GUARANTEED.

BEAT INFLATION GUARANTEED

NET RETURN Minimum depasit equivalent fected on maturity of the agreed notice.

Interest poid or credited yearly.

Amounts quoted are based on 1 year fixed time deposits.

All interest poid is net and without deits are una ductions (taxes, etc.) at source.

• All transactions confidential.

STERLING (5) 15,75% FRANC (French) 17,50% MARK (Deutsch) 12,75%

DOLLAR (U.S.) 18,50%

DOLLAR (Con.) 19

PESETA (Spon.) 19

NO TAX

ANNOUNCING...

a special two-day conference for European executives seeking new business opportunities based on the growth technologies of the 1980's.

High Technology for Venture Capital Venture Capital for High Technology

During this unique program, top experts and seasoned managers will provide advice and insights on how technology projects can be matched with investment funds to create new sources of growth and profits. The conference will also provide a forum where developers of high technology products and executives seeking investment grade technology projects can meet each other.

> 26 and 27 November 1981, Amsterdam Marriett Flotel Stodhouderskode 19-21, Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Who should attend this conference Company directors ent fund menaer R & D managers Banking executives

Corporate planners Pension fund manager financial directors

...and any other executive who wants advice and insights on how sound business ideas based on high logies can be financed and realised in Europe.

For more information, please contact

Ms. Heleen Lamers. Intermediair Seminars, P.O. Box 3434, 1001 AE Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

Telephone: 31-20-22 80 22

14407 publi nl. Telex:

INVESTMENTS

Know the convenience and safety investing in a recovered Mexico.

For sound investment in this country you need precise knowledge and successful experience.

We have both essentials and invite you to write for our just-off-the-press booklet. "MEXICO: TODAY AND TOMORROW".

Free of charge, ask for it: (Third Edition 1981)

Promotora e Impulsora de Negocios, S.A. Insurgentes Sur No. 605-203 México 18, D.F.

Chat-CHB-601-11-26787)

POLYSAR LIMITED

Polysar Limited announces the appointment of Donald E. Wood as General Manager - Oliversification and William D. Rion as General Manager Styrenics effective September 1981. Mr. Wood, who was General Manager-Chemicals for Polysar, will be

Mr. Rion, who was General Manager-Latex North and South America for Polysor, will be responsible for the integration and management of the total styrenics business including production, sales and distribution of styrene

Mr. Wood and Mr. Rion will be located at Polysar's Corporate Headquarte in Samia, Ontario, Polysor Limited is a Conadian international compar manufacturing and selling synthetic rubber, latex, rubber compound styrenics and formed plastic products.

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

Wanted for a servicing company, export turnover

1) TOP SALES ENGINEER: Excellent negotictor, based in Paris but traveling most of the time to developing countries.

2) PURCHASING MANAGER: Excellent regotiator,

Bilingual English/French. © English or American nationality preferable. High wages and promotion according to competence. © Priority will be given to applicants with a third language.

Send C.V., photograph and expected wages to:
C.I.M. - 87, Avenue de l'Aérodrome, 94310 Orly, FRANCE.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL SALES

BASE: CENTRAL SWITZERLAND

We are a young, fast-growing, international finance company with over U.S $100,000,000 equity, specializing in the financing or industrial products sold for export. Due to growth in our business, we are looking for an Experienced Financial Sales Executive

At least five years' experience in international banking/finance or Proficiency is English with working knowledge of at least one other

The solary affered is in the area of 5.fr. 70,000 to S.Fr. 100,000 per annum, language. A working knowledge of commercial/banking law.

Box D 1832, International Herald Tribune, 92521 Neutly Codex, France.

Please reply in writing, enclosing your curricular based in Paris but traveling accasionally through curope,

F.F. 130,000,000, subsidiary of a major French fine

是有一个对外的。 17.25年,19.55年 1,92 2,40 n,20 n,40 p(4,50 0,32

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

Η ΕΠΙΤΡΟΠΗ ΤΩΝ

διοργανώνει διαγωνισμούς βάσει τίτλων καί κατόπιν έξετάσεω: γιά τήν πλήρωση θέσεων

ΔΙΟΙΚΗΤΙΚΩΝ ΥΠΑΛΛΗΛΩΝ

οί όποιοι θα έκπληρώνουν καθήκεντα

συλλήψενις, μελέτης ή έλεγχου σταύς

Φεολουθους τομείς:
• ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΑ ΚΑΙ ΣΤΑΤΙΣΤΙΚΗ • ΔΙΚΑΙΟ • ΓΕΝΙΚΗ ΔΙΟΙΚΗΣΗ, ΔΗΜΟΣΙΑ ΟΙΚΟΝΟΜΙΚΑ,

ΕΞΩΤΕΡΙΚΕΣ ΣΧΕΣΕΙΣ, ΤΥΠΟΣ

ΚΑΙ ΠΛΗΡΟΦΟΡΗΣΗ • ΤΕΛΩΝΕΙΑΚΗ ΝΟΜΟΘΕΣΙΑ

ΚΑΙ ΚΟΙΝΟ ΔΑΣΜΟΛΟΓΙΟ

ΟΡΟΙ ΑΠΟΔΟΧΗΣ: 🗆 να είναι πήκοσι ένος Κράτους μέλους των

🛘 να κοτέχουν πανεπιστημιακό

μέ έναν άπό τούς τομείς τού διαγωνισμού 🗆 νά γνωρίζουν πολύ

δίπλογια και μεταπανεπιστημιακή πείρα τοῦλάχιστον δύο έτῶν σε σχέση

Ευροπαϊκών Κοινοτήτων 🛭 νά έχουν

γεννηθεί μετό την Τη Όκτωβρίου 1948

(Α/Θ)
για καλά μια γλώσσα τῶν Κοινοτήτων καί ἀρκετά καλά μια δεύτερη ἀπό τίς γλώσσες αὐτές.
Η Οἱ ἐνδιαφερόμενοι μπορούν νά προμηθευτούν τὰ ΥΠΟΧΡΕΩΤΙΚΟ ΕΝΤΥΠΟ ΥΠΟΨΗΦΙΟΤΗΤΟΣ.

αναφέροντας τον άριθμό τοῦ διαγωνισμού (COM/A/313-349), στίς ακίλουθες διευθύνσεις:

□ Γραφείο Πληροφοριών τῆς 'Επιτροπῆς τών Ε.Κ., Βασιλίσσης Σοφίας 2, Τ.Κ. 1602, 'Αθήνο 134, □ Commission des Communautés

Européennes, Division "recrutement".

ΗΜΕΡΟΜΗΝΙΑ ΛΗΞΕΩΣ ΓΙΑ ΤΗΝ

rue de la Loi 200, B-1049 Bruxelles.

ΥΠΟΨΗΦΙΟΤΗΤΟΣ: 30 Νοεμβρίου

ΥΤΙΟΒΟΛΗ ΤΩΝ ΑΙΤΉΣΕΩΝ

down wearth law, when Yearly high.
Unless otherwise noted, runes of dividends. Withe foregoins obte are annual disbursements based on the lost quarteriv or arrillamical declaration. Special or extra dividends or seynents not designated as regular are identified Withe fallowins

Toronto Stocks

Closing Prices, Oct. 22, 1981

WILLAM D. RION

Montreal Stocks Closing Prices, Oct. 22, 1981

Canadian Indexes

Close 317.80 1,863,88

320,43 1,874,00 Teronio : TSE 300 Index.

European Gold Markets Oct. 25, 1981 AM PAL KC

Official ficious for London, Paris and Lexembury official ficious for London, Paris and Lexembury

Gold Options (prices in S/or.) 18.00-21.00 6.00- 6.00 2.00- 3.00 1.00- 2.00 26.00-32.00 14.00-20.00 10.00-14.00 7.00-10.00

Valeurs White Weld S.A. 1, Quai du Mout-Blanc 1211 Geneva L, Switzerland Tel. 31 0251 - Telex 28 305

(IIF) INTERNATIONAL

INCOME FUND provides the following

Short Term 'A' Units Exclusively invested in US Dollar instruments with maturities less than 12 months. Short Term '8' Units

Invested in instruments denominated in the SDR currencies and Swiss Francs with maturities less than 12 months. Both redeemable without charge on 3 days' notice

Bourse Index : 121.74 Previous : 783.29

Frankfurt

ROYOL Dutet

Milan

Long Term Units A balanced portrolip of Eurobonds and Euroconvertibles Redcemable at net asset value,

Trustee: Midland Bank Trust Company (Channel Islands) Umited Information and Prospectus from: EBC Trust Company (Jersey) Limited, 28-34 Hill Street, St. Heliot, Jersey, C.I. Tel 0534 36281 Banque Générale do Luxembourg S.A., 14 Rue Aldningen: Luxembourg, Tel 47991 Oals prices air published in this uras spaper under billern aronal Funds Selected Over-the-Counter Closing Prices, Oct. 23, 1981

Floating Rate Notes

Closing prices, Oct. 23, 1981 Wil: Glyn's Bk 5%-91 1844 3-16 97% 100 Zentrubsourk, 5%-91 10 1/16 1-11 97% 99% Non Banks Atto 18-88 C.F.De Electr.5%-88 Expertor 7-86 Ind. Pernekes 18-06/89 EuroPime 5%-89 IC. Industries 1991 INI 5%-85 C. Itoh 5%-67 Thellomd 7-84 Philipolines 6%-86 Swall Heavy 5%-84 Sweden 9lock-91 Soffel 8-81

Oct. 23, 1981

European Stock Markets

Amsterdam Monteds 15 Olivetti 2.51 Piretti 2.51 Snia Visco 7 BC) Index : N.A. Previous : 186.59 42.10 48.50 307.00 51.00 170.00 494.00 102.00 120.50 67.50 128.00 110.70 Paris London PENSON AND REAL PROPERTY OF THE PENSON AND THE PENS SkisRossione Sour Perrier Soez (Fith) Telemecon Thomsonisc

Thomson CSF 287.0 Usinor System Voleo 161.0 April Index : 135.49 Previous : 136.25

Zurich

PHYSICIAN choice of investments: CLINICAL RESEARCH Brussels

Ayerst, a leading pharmaceutical company in the cardiovascular field, has an opening in its Brussels office for a physician to monitor clinical research studies In western Europe.

This physician will participate in protocol design, liaison with field investigators, manitoring of phase !, !! and !!! drug studies. Travel will be approximately 30%.

We are looking for a physician with a background in clinical research, clinical pharmacology or cordiology. Must be bilimgual (with English fluency required) and possess excellent com-

Ayerst Research

247 Rue Royale Brussels 103D Belgium

International Operations Review

LONDON BASED Extensive travel Outstanding rewards

Dowell Schlumberger is a rapidly growing leader in tha oil field service Industry with annual revenue in excess of $700m. and operations in over 55 countries throughout the world. Due to continued expansion, we are now looking for young Accountants to join our London based Operations Review Tearn.

You will be an Important member of a specialist team functioning in a decentralised environment. Your main responsibility will be to carry out internal financial reviews of the company's international operating divisions and will involve considerable International travel.

Aged 25-28 with a relevant degree or equivalent higher level academic qualification you should ideally be a fully qualified Accountant with good experience in multi-national operations. Complete mobility is essential as is fluency in English and additional languages are desirable.

In return we are offering a highly attractive salary in keeping with the importance of these positions and a full range of valuable large company benefits. Furthermore, career prospects are excellent and should lead to a line financial management appointment after two years.

Please write with full career and personal details, to Mr D. Lakey, Dowell Schlumberger, Drury House, Russell Street, London WC2B 5HA.

DOWELL Schlumberger

त्तिकारातातातातात्त्रात्त्रकार्यम् ततातातातात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात्त्रात Leading American international pharmaceutical company, due to expansion in Middle East and Africa, is seeking to fill positions in:

> PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT — GENEVA SALES TRAINING MARKETING RESEARCH MARKETING PLANNING

- ROME AND GENEVA - ROME AND GENEVA

FIELD SALES MANAGEMENT - NIGERIA

APPLICANTS SHOULD HAVE:

University degree in life science e.g., pharmacy, biology and/or MBA or equivalent.
 Fluency in English with preference to Arabic and French.

 Minimum 2-3 years experience directly related to position for which you are applying. Preference given to experience in pharmoceutical industry in Middle East and Africa. · Ability to travel extensively throughout area.

Employment conditions are excellent. Solary will be related to capabilities and experience of individual and appropriate to a multinational environment.

Candidate can be assured of the strictest confidence and should apply by express mail with a curriculum vitae, indicating positions desired, to:

P.O. Box 959. International Herald Tribune, Via Della Mercede 55, Rome, Italy.

less the on " days' notice

Cash Prices Market Summary Commodity Indexes Oct. 23, 1981 Dividends London Metals Market International Monetary Dow Jones Bond Averages London Commodities 195277.16.159.10.34.12.25.1514.12.00.75.1514.15 Conreck
ConaOG
ConsRf
ContANT
Cook int
Cook int
Coreta
Correta
Correta 68.83 78.15 65.11 38.48 72.71 78,15 48,12 38,49 72,75 wt _30 Jon Mor Mary Aug Oct Jon Mor 4,389; COCOA Dac Mor Jiy Sep Dec Mor 2,983 Odd-Lot Trading in N.Y. Sales 257,218 260,406 276,979 259,899 228,910 Short 1,369 984 1,018 750 593 1,198 1,208 1,200 1,201 1,204 1,213 1,215 1,172 1,177 1,178 1,101 1,189 1,202 1,215 1,102 1,163 1,183 1,172 1,205 1,215 1,240 1,187 1,195 1,191 1,192 1,197 1,209 1,185 1,193 1,190 1,191 1,194 1,207 int equads $2,9901 $306 $339 $299 $225 —10 $302 $426 $376 $370 —17 $430 $500 $500 $500 $500 $500 $500 $500 74 74 1,29 9 American Most Actives 1,124 1,128 1,130 1,125 1,125 1,125 1,125 1,120 1,127 1,129 1,124 1,126 1,120 1,115 1196 27 314 18 614 23 3194 2616 1516 Tokyo Exchange Friday's 455 A4444 7 10% 9 14% 45 38% 45 38% 22 13% 26 15% 26 15% 20 12% 2 15 2 15% 2 New Highs and Lows .52 n .34b .15e Today AMEX Cluse 205 NA 345 NA 195 745 723 Paris Commodities AMEX Index New Index : 538,48 ; Previous : 534,89 Mildel-DJ Index : 7,242,19 ; Previous : 7,214,29 1,759 1,744 1,795 1,779 1,831 1,839 1,845 1,870 1,877 1,910 1,934 1,956 1,931 1,939 1,935 1,985 berest: 10,319 Chg. Eurocurrency Interest Rates trach, +1 +5 +10 +25 +20 +28 Franc 1114 - 1116 1312 - 1144 1116 - 1144 1116 - 1146 Sterling 16% - 16% 16% - 16% 16% - 16% 16% - 16% D-Mark 11% - 11½ 11½ - 11¼ 11 ¼ - 11¾ 11 ¼ - 11¾ 11¼ - 11½ ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS ZURICH - Tel: 0049-6103-82048. Omego Escort Service/Germany CITEGO ESCH SEVICE/GERMANY
DUESSEIDORF-COLOGINE Domino
English Escert Agency, 0211/38 31 41.
MUNICH: STAR-ESCORT-SERVICE
femole or mole, Tel: 089-3117900.
FRANKRURT - KAREN Escort Service,
Tel: 0611-681/642.

Tel: 0611-681/642 (Continued from Page 15) 06103-86122 - Wiesbuden - Mainz - Bonn - Duesseldorf -lunich - Hamburg. ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES ESCORTS & GUIDES WITZEKLAND: 0049-6103-86122 Zurich - Bosel - Lucerne - Berne HAMBURG ESCORT SERVICE, Tel: 040/45 65 (1). REGENCY - USA 040/45 65 01.

DUSSELDORF, CHANTAL Broom Service, Tel-0211/46 18 38

FRANKFURT - WIESRADEN - MARKE STREET Excert Service 0611/282728.

LONDON KENSINGTON Excert Agency, London 231 8818/231 1158

LONDON JACQUELINE Excert Service. Tel-402 7949. CACHET U.S.A. Zurich - Geneva 0049-6103-86122 rue Escort and Guide Service MALE AND FEMALE Tel: 01/361 90 00 WORLDWIDE MULTRANGUAL ESCORT SERVICE PARIS CONFERENCE, NOVEMBER 23-24, 1981 NEW YORK CITY Tel: 212-838-8027 LONDON MAYFAIR LONDON KATHY ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 01 777 9382 LONDON PAULITY ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 01 487 4596 & 212-753-1864. How to Manage 244 - 46 546 - 46 546 - 46 546 - 46 1647 - 46 1376 - 46 576 - 46 576 - 46 17 12 134 - 46 17 12 134 - 46 17 12 134 - 46 LONDON TOTAL OF THE STATE LONDON TOWN INTERNATIONAL Portman Escort Agency Foreign Exchange Risks ESCORT SERVICE Excert Agency Tel: 752 7132. ESCORTS NY & AND PROMOTIONS
N.Y. U.S.A.
Travel anywhere with meditingual except.
Major Credit Cards Accepted.
212-765-7896 or 765-7734.
330 W. Soh S., N.Y., N.Y. 10015
International Escarts needed. JANE ESCORT SERVICE. London & Heathrow, Tel: 01 286 5679 LONDON BIANCA Escort Service. Tel: 01 352 3667. EVERYWHERE YOU ARE--OR GO LONDON CLASSICS LONDON Of 352 3657.

NEW YORK CITY, Mac & Ranse Scort
Service. 212-888-1666.

AMSTERDAM-JB Scort Service.
22798 Suban Wenngenstract. 3. 5.

WONDERFUL COPENHAGEN Exort
Service. Tel: 01 19 70 32.

ZERCH EXORET SERVICES 1.00 C. C. America-Transworld Escort Agency, Tel (01) 794 2907 A TO GINNY

A Goldfid

1 19 Garch wf

10 Garch wf

12 Gould' 1 Ma

7 Gurnach 22

134 Graner 22

134 Graner 31

14 Graner 31

15 Graner 31

16 Graner 31

16 Graner 31

16 Graner 31

17 Gurnach 32

18 Graner 31

19 Graner 31

19 Graner 31

10 212-591-2934 French Finance Minister Jacques Delors and Governor Henry Wallich BELGRAVIA 212-461-6091 AMSTERDAM of the U.S. Federal Reserve Board will be featured speakers at the Except Service tel: 736 5877. CAPRICE ZURICH ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 057 5 1876; 11:30-1 p.m. / 6 - 8 p.m. COPPNHAGEN EXCLUSIVE SCORT Service. Tel: 264034, LONDON EXCLUSIVE ESCORT Service. Tel: 262 3108. 212-961-1945 ESCORT GUIDE SERVICE Tel: 247731. seventh International Herald Tribune/Forex Research conference on Girls, be an escent. Call or write POB 176, Fresh Meadows, NY 11365, USA LONDON

ESCORT SERVICE

IN NEW YORK

TEL: 212-737 3291.

ROME BURCHE Club Escort & Guide Service. Tek 06/589 2604 - 589 1146 [10 cm. - 10 pm.] LONDON ZARA Escort Agency. Heathrow & Gutwick areas. Tek 570 8038.

LONDON ORIENTAL Escort Service. Tel: 794 4637.

HEATHROW ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 0452 23146.

PRANKFURT ESCORT AGENCY TEL. 0611-691663

PARK LANE

ESCORT AGENCY

Tel: 231 1158 or 231 88 18,

ZURICH

Vanessa Escort Service

Tel: 01/47 02 12 - 69 22 45

LONDON - CHELSEA GURL Escort Service, 51 Besuchamp Place, London SW3. Tel: 01 584 6513/2049, 4-12 pm.

AMSTERDAM

Iolland Escort Service. Phone: 852259

E.E.C. - CAPITALS ervice. Germany 0/7851-5719

NEW YORK ESCORT SERVICE of Tal. 212-620-3116 or 212-620-0133.

PAGES 16 & 15

FOR MORE

CLASSIFIEDS

"The Management of Foreign Exchange Risks."

Or telephone Paris 747.12.65. Telex: 612 832.

For details contact the International Herald Tribune Conference Office, 181 avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

7.70c All 1816 All 18

41 — 5 14 4% 15 13% 26 17% 29 17% 52 18% 16 17%

5 18/2 4/4 1334 11 476 11/4 11/6

ACROSS

75 Paton place 77 Allow

83 Star in Scorpic

86 A friend of Job

87 Salem, to Essex Co.,

89 What ogres

character

91 Where a herd

might be heard 92 Nocturnal

97 Floating 99 One of the

Hoppers 101 Roulette bet

163 Hill, to an Arab 104 With wisdom

195 Pen 196 Santander 199 Deadly nightshade 112 Nocturnal

117 Buoyantiy

118 Actress Patricia 119 Landed

120 Architec

122 One below a

123 Familia:

124 Histrio 125 Ocean hazards 1.26 Squirrel's nest 1.27 Dummkoff

90 Milne

81 Like most

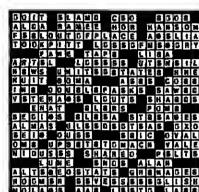

85 Gold, in Cenova

38 Pluto's plair 42 Imperie 43 Dreary 46 Douceur 49 Ouph 50 Deceive

52 Early church 57 Early time 59 Golfers' consideration

62 Ponti's wife 67 Greek conte 69 Della Casa and Kirk

Solution to Last Week's Puzzle

WEATHER

ALGIERS

ANKARA ATHENS

AUCKLAND

COSTA DEL SOL

EDINBURGH FLÖRRNCE FRANKFURT GENEVA HELSINKI HONG KONG HOUSTON ISTANBUL JERUSALEM LAS PALMAS

AMSTERDAM

4 Conciliate 5 Midnight 6 Barn-dance kings 8 Destroy 9 Clothes 19 Intuitive one 13 Auxiliary boats 14 Fixed look

DOWN

I Developed Z Kin of a

3 Smell, in Toledo

MEXICO CITY

MONTREAL MOSCOW MUNICH MAIROBI MASSAU

PARIS PEKING PRADUE RID DE JAME

ROME SALISSURY

SAO PAULO

TELAVIV

TOKYO

MILAN

DOWN 16 Mil. problem 17 European blackbird

18 Nul tiel record 28 Henry, e.g. 30 Therefore 33 Shakespea an ghost 34 One of the

Titans 66 Maple see 63 Aspimer i space 65 Merit 68 Poetic 43 Cape Cod sight 44 "Manner-

70 Shankar's

DOWN

45 Terhune

canine 47 These may cause screams in dreams

51 Band

53 Gratuity

CROSSWORD PUZZLE EUGENE T. MALESKA

Night Life By Nancy A. Wood

DOWN playwrigh 160 Under the e.g. 162 "----and yet 76 Dieter's

78 Upright 79 Literary device 80 Binge 81 Strike or 82 — volente 84 Verdi opera 93 Start of a well known serie 94 Like a night

113 Word of dis-114 Fall for a trick 115 'Thou art-9:17 110 Loyalist of '76

DOWN

104 Of a clan

167 Kind of drum 168 Cuff

109 Dunce 110 Nine: Prefix

111 Recreat for

186 Nostrils

BOOKS.

T.S. Eliot & Truman Capote & Others By John Malcolm Brinnin. 278 pp. (Illustrated with Photographs.)

$15.95. Delacorte/Seymour, Lawrence, 1 Dag Hammarskjöld Plaza, N.Y. 10017.

Reviewed by Christopher Lehmann-Haupt

SEXTET

NO ONE could possibly fault the liveliness and intimacy of these six literary portraits by the poet, teacher and social historian John Mal-colm Brinnin, based on a journal he has kept for more than 40 years. Whether he is showing us someone's less-austere view of T.S. Eliot — "On the day Time magazine came out with his face oo the cover," reports Eliot's loogtime roommate John Hayward to Brinnin, "he walked for hours looking for wherever he might find it, shame-lessly taking peeks at himself" — or reproducing a somewhat bizarre pic-ture of Moutgomery Clift and Mar-lenc Dietrich kissing at a party while "holding one another like praying mantises," Brinnin continually aston-ishes the reader of "Sextet" with the sharpness of his focus and the preci-sion of his characterizations. sion of his characterizations.

Here is his sketch of Alice B. Toklas, whom he got to know in 1950 while preparing his hiography "The Third Rose: Gertrude Stein and Her World": "Neither mousey, murmurous, dovelike, or supernumerary, she was tough, spirited, quick-witted, bit-ing. She threw away wicked lines before I could catch them, pounced with a cackle on a foolish idea or an inflated reputation, kept a straight face as she spoke judgments that sizzled like acid on a grid."

And here's the early Truman Capote, whose complex portrait, which takes up oearly a third of "Sextet," is by far the best thing in the volume. "I soon found that Truman, in a crowd or tête-a-tête, could exist on no plane or tete-a-tête, could exist on no plane but that of intimacy — a necessity which most people did oot at first see as a compulsion but as a gift. Glad myself to accept the gift, I began to understand the compulsion. At ease with him in private, I could not help observing that, in public, merely by entering a room he became a cynosure a catalyst the chemist's doop of sure, a catalyst, the chemist's drop of volatile substance that changed the composition of any gathering from amity to effervescence."

Still, there's something about these six easy pieces that makes a reader faintly uneasy in the author's company — something that makes one feel slightly compromised by having to meet these people under Brinnin's auspices. It cannot be that he is a namedropper. Noel Coward, Greta namedropper. Noel Coward, Greta Garbo, Wystan Hugh Auden, Charlie Chaplin. Cecil Beaton, William Faulkner, Frank Lloyd Wright — the names do glitter in these pages. But Brinnin comes by them legitimately — as director of the Poetry Center at New York's Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association, as an Women's Hebrew Association, as an international traveler in literary circles, as a genuine and fondly appreci-ated friend of a friend of a friend.

Nor can it be that his accuracy is questionable. The rather rattled, self-effacing Elizabeth Bowen this reviewer once spent a morning with may seem very different from the poised, magisterial creature that appears in "Elizabeth!!! a Visit" -those exclamation points being a ref-erence to Bowen's busband, Alan Cameron, whose deathbed she attends while at the same time entertaining houseguests at her family home, Bowen's Court, But Brinnin's portrait is so convincing that one has to assume this was the woman he perceived, for whatever emotional rea-

The problem isn't that Brinnin so often gets trodden upon by the sub-jects of his portraits. For he gives as good as he gets, taking the position, for instance, that his mistreatment at the hands of Henri Cartier-Bresson in "Just Like Java" was done for the sake of art, but leaving the distinct impression that the great photographer is a manipulative egomaniac. And even Brinnin's affections can be barbed. "It had long been obvious to me," he writes of Edith Sitwell, "that her view of herself, shared by those for whom the sibylline out-echoed the asinine, was not amenable to correction, and I preferred to keep it that

Nor can these portraits be dis-missed as trivial. For even at their most gossipy they are vivid enough to acquire substance. And in one case at least, they even make a bit of news — with the first-time publication of a letter from T.S. Eliot eloquently and sensitively denouncing anti-Semitism.

All the same, having to be so closely identified with Brinnin in these pages does leave a reader with an uncomfortable sense of being the guest for whom an extra place has to be set at the table. Even Brinnin complains about this treatment, when, for exam-ple, he coocludes his profile of Alice B. Toklas with the following para-

B. Tokias with the following paragraph.

"One year later, I heard what I wanted to hear. "Your book," she wrote, 'was a great and successful undertaking." That she then thought I was a Mr. Binner, that the book had got confused in her mind with the whisky Four Roses, that she addressed her letter to a street on which dressed her letter to a street on which I had never lived, were, as I squinted at the spidery scrawl, matters of no

Toklas' confusions may not have mattered right at the time he was trying to make out her handwriting. But by and by they assumed sufficient consequence to become Brinnin's final impression of Toklas, and the one be decides to leave his reader with.

Christopher Lehmann-Haupt is on the staff of The New York Times.

U.S. Writer Scores Paperback Jackpot With Sixth Novel

New York Times Service NEW YORK - Arbor House recently sold Cynthia Freeman's new povel, "No Time for Tears," to Bantam for $1.86 million, a figure it be-lieves to be the year's biggest paper-back deal with the possible exception of the sale of John Irving's "The Hotel New Hampshire." Equally significant, however, is the way in which the author's salability has increased with each of her six novels.

The paperback rights to Freeman's first novel, "A World Full of Strangers," published in 1975, were sold for $10,000. The rights to "Fairytales," published two years later, went for $70,000; "The Days of Winter," published in 1978, for $125,000; "Portraits" (1979) for $325,000, and last year's best-selling "Come Pour the Wine" for $1 million.

Freeman, who grew up in San Fran-cisco, the child of German immigrant parents, ended her formal education after the sixth grade and did not begin writing a novel until the age of 55.
That book, "A World Full of Strangers," a saga of a Jewish family, was rejected four times before it was sold to Arbor House, which has published all her other books.

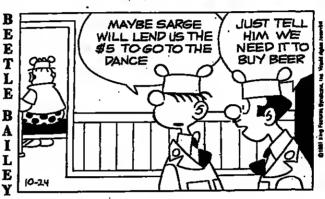

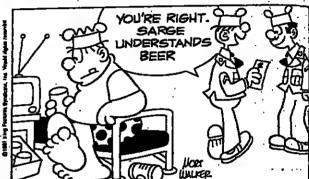

Alluri.

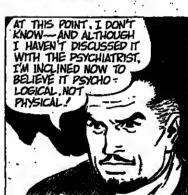

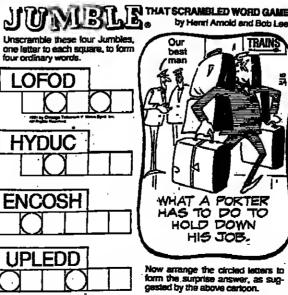

Print answer here:

Jumbles: PRUNE RIVET DEMISE HANGER Answer: Really goes against the firmer's grain-HIS REAPER

Imprimé par P.I.O. - 1, Boulevard Ney, 75018 Paris

DENNIS THE MENACE

HERE! MY DAD'S GOT A JILLION TIES!

ADVERTISEMENT INTERNATIONAL FUNDS October 23, 1981 ALLIANCE INTL.CO Bk of Bermudg.Berm.
— Id IAIBonce Intl.SRSvs.($11..... 1479cf []) Arnes U.S. Sh...) Bond Invest) Corvert-Invest Euril Europe S (Fense Swiss Sh (Globinvest - (d) SPECAGE - SPECAGE -Other Funds r Fund.... ance I.F ... Asset Commodity Ed...... Trusteer Int. Fd (AE IF)..... Bondselex - Issue Pt..... DIT INVESTMENT FRANKFURT G.C. wytus Fund Ini'i ... wytus Fund Ini'i ... wytus Initercontine wytus Inii, N.V. ... F-America DAN (7.37

INTERNATIONAL INCOME FUNO
28-34 HIII $6.51. Higher, Jersey
- [6] Short Term A. (Accum)...
- [6] Short Term A. (Accum)...
- [6] Short Term B. (Accum)...
- [6] Short Term B. (Accum)...

Ave Pos. In.
Ave Pos. In.
Average Con Inv. Fund.

$4156 $4266 $1266

Brie lad bitter of the

AGE ARE THE SPECIAL EAT

The Endless Season of Reaganomics

By David S. Broder Weshington Post Service

WASHINGTON -- It is the duty of columnists to explain things. And, mong the columnists, those most esteemed are those who tackle the eally tough questions. This, dear reader, is one of the days that a columnist earns his pay, ccause the issue before the country is: Why was the World Series so late miving this year?

Pointless Prattle

More has been said, on the air and in the sporting pages, about the act that this year's Series had the latest starting date in history than bout the skills of Fernando and the Goose, the ageless Nettles and the cettlesome Steinbrenner. But all this prattle about the overlap with the eighth week of the vational Football League and the third week of the National Hockey eague is beside the point. ...

Everyone knows the Series was delayed, first, by the midseason strike and, then, by the owners' desire to recoup a bit of second-season drama and revenues) by inserting an extra round of playoff competition beween the first- and second-season divisional winners.

What oo one seems to acknowledge, in the carping at the great men vho own baseball, is that they were merely carrying out two of President leagan's basic policies.

Nettles Hurt, May not Start

LOS ANGELES - Graig Nettles, the New York Yankees' acrobatic third baseman said Thursday he probably would not start the third game of the World Series at Dodger Stadium Friday night because of a sprained left thumb. Nettles, who made two ontstanding plays in the 5-3 Yankee victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in Game 1, said he suffered the injury in Wednesday night's second game when he tried to stop a sixth-inning ground single by Bill Russell. "I dove — I just landed on my thumb," be said. "It's very tender. I probably will be able to pinch hit, but I really won't know until just before the Nettles would be replaced by Aurelio Rodriquez, wbo

> By George Vecsey New York Times Service

NEW YORK - Terry Forster

remembers the summer of 1970, when he and Rich Gossage would cuff each other around for an extra pillow or the best bed in their apartment. They would compete about their roles on the farm team

"I was faster than Goose," For-ster recalls. "It's unfortunate, but I hurt my arm and I got slower and in Appleton, Wis.

Goose got faster."

offer.

pean countries!

money order today.

DM 264 in Germany, etc.

for space but there was no doubt-

Graig Nettles

appeared in only 27 games during the regular season but bat-ted .346 with 18 hits in 52 at-bats.

Gossage is a major reason there

the game."

Forster and Gossage were an entry—they were even traded to gether from the White Sox to the Pirates in 1976—but they are on twice in two games, surviving line.

S.Fr. 242, Fl. 296, F.F. 528

Subscribe to the International Herald Tribune

You'll save 25% of the regular subscription

On a 12-month subscription, that represents a Return the coupon below with your check or

THESE ARE THE SPECIAL RATES AFTER DEDUCTION OF THE INTRODUCTORY DISCOUNT and take advantage of our special introductory price, or 42% of the newsstand price in most Euro-saving of S.Fr. 242 if you live in Switzerland,

The owners were union-bashing, giving their overpaid minions the same cold-water treatment Reagan gave the coddled air-traffic cootrollers. And they were cashing in, just as the corporations did on the Reagan

The people who complain about the lack of a "real" baseball seasoa are probably the same soreheads who get semiviolent just because they sit for three hours on the ground at LaGuardia, waiting for one of the remaining controllers to clear their shuttle flight for the 36-minute hop

Io Washington.

Stranded travelers should recognize that these forced delays are really opportunities created by President Reagan for getting to know your neighbors on the plane. In the same way, the midseasoa baseball strike was created by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to allow busbands to spend their summer weekends at family picnics and outings instead of being glued to their televi-sion screens while their wives and children frolicked without them.

But targeted compassion is one of the main themes of the Reagan era, and there are some fans who truly need baseball. The owners, understanding that, brought back their second-season dose of baseball for the "truly needy."

The other major theme of Reaganism is worthy greed, and baseball epitomizes that as well. Look at the teams that were involved in the interminable playoffs. No poor boys there. It was a case of the rich getting richer — which is surely the Republican way. Now, two of the richest of them all, the Yankees and the Dodgers, have been filling their coffers as Halloween approaches. Do not doubt that this cash collection by the wealthiest of the baseball conglomerates is socially useful. In supply-side fashion, they will use the added revenues to hire away even more ballplayers from the less wealthy clubs in the next free-agent draft. Eventually - about the same time the housing and auto industries revive — this wave of prosperity will boost the take-home pay of the hot-dog vendor in a Three-I League park in

But I digress (serious columnists must not digress too often). The point I set out to make is that the complaints about the baseball season being too long are all wrong. Their thinking is out of date. In the aew age of Sun Belt government, the baseball season meeds rethinking. What do Los Angeles or Houston know of seasons?

I am reliably informed that our sun king-president had, during his long years of residence in Southern California, so far forgotten the autumns of his Illinois youth that when he saw the foliage changing at Camp David, he turned to Ed Meese and said, "What's that?"

Messe, having lived in San Diego, did not know either, but a National Security Council staff study is expected to clear up the mystery soon.

Those who complain of the endless season are stamping themselves as unfit for the Reagan era. It is out-of-step thinking for a time when the rule is: Adapt or perish. Big-league teams unfortunate enough to be located in eities where there are still seasons will have to acquire domed stadiums - or yield their franchises to waiting groups in Phoenix, Tampa and Tucumcari.

Or they may wish to join the extremely small, disgruntled band of Chicago Cub fans who have a truly radical solution to all this. We favor a two-game season. That way — and only that way — we know we'd be in the pennant race on the last day of the year every year.

Dolphins, Cowboys in Interconference Battle

By William N. Wallace

New York Times Service NEW YORK - The Miami Dolphins play the Cowboys at Dallas Sunday in a significant National Football League game between teams that have always done well in such interconference matches. Since 1970, the Dolphins have won 85 percent of their games against National Conference teams - and that iaeludes two Super Bowl vic-

The Cowboys' record against American Conference teams is 28-11, including two victories and three Iosses in Super Bowl games. Only the Oakland Raiders (31-9-1) and the Dolphins (33-6) have had better interconference results. Miami last lost to an NFC opponent, Philadelphia, in 1978.

The AFC, which has led the NFC in interconference victories every year since 1973, is ahead again this season, 11-7, after seven weeks. The Dallas-Miami contest finds the Dolphins leading their di-

Previews of all games follow with records in parentheses. Bett-ing lines are from Harrah's Reno Race and Sports Book.

American Conference

Seattle (I-6) at N.Y. Jets (3-3-1) - The Jets' Richard Todd and Seattle's Jim Zorn have similar passing figures, except Todd's touchdown pass-interception ratio is 14-6 to Zorn's 5-6. The Seahawk quarterback is operating without a rushing attack and with little help from his defense. Jets by 9½.

Denver (5-2) at Buffalo (4-3) —
Joe Cribbs will he the key player in this important game. If he can run against the league's No.1 defense, the Bills will establish cootrol. Steve Watson, the Bronco wide receiver and free agent from Temple, has 31 receptions, 9 for touch-downs, while Craig Mortoo is the top-ranked NFL passer. Buffalo 27-0, two weeks ago and the Raiders have made four position changes since, the most significant being Marc Wilson for Jim Plunkett at quarterback. Wilsoo was fair-to-good in his first start. Joe Delaney, the Chiefs' rookie running back, is averaging 5.1 yards a carry. Oakland by 21/2.

Baltimore (1-6) at Cleveland (3-4) — The Colts' defense is giving up 414 yards a game. Dave Logan, the Browns' best receiver, is returning from injury and that will help the sagging offense. Cleveland

NFL PREVIEW

National Conference N.Y. Giants (4-3) at Atlanta (4-3) The Giants' victories have come over teams that have lost 23 of 28 games. They can expect difficulty in running against the fine Falcon defense and ia trying to stop the running of William Andrews. Then there are Steve Bartkowski's passes to Alfred Jenkins, who averages al-most 20 yards a reception. Atlanta

Los Angeles (4-3) at San Francisco (5-2) — The Rams have beaten the 49ers nine times in a row and last lost at San Francisco in 1966. But times have changed. Jack Reynolds, the ex-Ram; Fred Dean, the former Charger, and Lawrence Pillers, a one-time Jet, have helped to make the 49er defense solid. The Rams need fewer dropped passes, stronger pass defense. San Francisco hy 1.

Tampa Bay (4-3) at Philadelphia (6-1) - The last time they played,

3 Iowa Football Teams vision by 1½ games over Buffalo, while the Cowboys trail the Eagles by a game one week in advance of their meeting in Philadelphia. Reaping Bumper Crops

DES MOINES, lowa - The state of lowa is abuzz with excitement this fall, but it's not over the prospect of record crop harvests. Instead, Iowans are caught up in football fever, something more common in Alahama or Nebraska.

The feeling is so intense that many residents already are dreaming about spending New Year's Day in Miami or Pasadena. Even President Ronald Reagan has begun to keep abreast of what's going on in the state where he formerly worked as a broadcaster.

The cause of all the excitement is the simultaneous success of the state's three major fontball-playing universities — lowa, Iowa State and Drake. Together, they have a record of 15-2-1: Drake is 6-0, Iowa is 5-1 (including last week's 9-7 stunner at Michigan) and lowa State is 4-1-1.

Kansas City (5-2) at Oakland (3-4) — The Chiefs shut out Oakland, (seventh by United Press Interna-Iowa is rated sixth nationally around saying the Goose can't last the way be throws. I wondered about that in 1977 because he was awesome in Pittsburgh. Here it is four years later and he's still hard-throwing pitchers like Tom Niedenfuer, Alejandro Pena and

Dave Steward and says: "They're gonna take my job away. They al-

Approaching the age of 30, Terry Foster looks across the field at ticked off at the way he's pitching. But I have too much admiration for Goose and his family. I love

NHL Standings

WALES CONFERENCE

CAMPBELL CONFERENCE

Histop (11)|. Boston 2, Detroit 2 (O'Relity (4), Midd

Turnbull (3), Federko (6); Clos

PEN PALS

BOOKS

EDUCATION

SEA PINES ABROAD

(5): Kirion (4), Oerodnick (4), Philiadelphia J. Quebec 2 (Prosp. man, Leoch (8): M. Stastmy 2 (5)). St. Louis S. Milmustota 5 (Nill 2, Pethersson,

W L T OF GAPIX 5 0 1 26 14 11 4 1 1 25 18 9 3 4 2 27 25 8 2 5 0 18 34 4 1 6 0 23 34 2

4 0 38 0 3 37

3 1 3 20 23 1 3 2 23 23

Yon'll oever hear me

"If it was anybody else, I'd be

Forster glances around at young throwing that hard."

s buddy and says:

"There's ao jealousy.

ready have."

tional) and stands alone atop the Big Ten Conference with a 3-0 mark; Drake leads the Missouri Valley at 2-0 and lowa State, which is rated 14th (12th by UPI). is second in the Big Eight at 1-0-1. The last time all three schools had simultaneous winning seasons was 1925. Drake and Iowa were 5-3 that season, Iowa State 4-3-1. Of the three, lowa State has enjoyed the most success recently. The Cyclones were 6-5 last year and played in four bowl games in the 1970s. However, there also were some lean years during that decade, which included three straight 4-7 seasons; the Cyclones have oever woa a Big Eight cham-

Drake's success comes on the heels of an 8-3 record, but that was the Bulldogs' first winning season in eight years.
Then there's lowa, which was 4-last year. The Hawkeyes haven't finished above .500 since 1961. No other major school in the country has gone longer without a winning

"I think it's fantastic," said Des Moines Mayor Pete Crivaro, who will attend Drake's homecoming game against West Texas State Saturday and will follow Iown and Iowa State (which have respective home games against Minnesota and Colorado) by radio.

"The reversal in Iowa's football team is amazing," says Crivaro.
"Iowa State has had a good fontball team for several years, but for some reason aever seem to put everything together. They have this year. And Drake, 6-0 — I think that's really patting it together."

AWACS Can Wait

Reagan, who once did play-byplay of lowa games, became aware of the success of the three schools with the belp of Sen. Roger Jepsen. When Jepsen met with Reagan this week to discuss the equipment sales package for Saudi Arabia, the Iowa Republican began the session by telling Reagan about the three

What followed was a 15-minute discussioo oa football and Reagan's days as a broadcaster. Meanwhile, Vice President George Bush and two Reagan aides had to wait to talk to Jepsen about the AWACS surveillance planes. "President Reagan was an aware how well our teams were doing," Jepsen said. "He obviously was very pleased."

A travel agent in Cedar Rapids reports that lowa fans already are making plans to attend the Rose Bowl. According to the agent, nearly all seats on United Airlines flights from Cedar Rapids and Des Moines to Los Angeles are booked from Dec. 27-31.
"It's wild," the agent said. "It began Monday and seats went fast. Everyone wants to go to the Rose

Said Crivaro: "We're usually talking about corn about this time. Now we're talking about fontball The corn can wait.

NBA Exhibitions

Portland 112, Kansas City 165 Dallas 119, Houston 109

(Continued from Back Page)

EDUCATION

io a divisional playoff game in 1979, Tampa Bay won handily. The Eagles have improved since then, but aot the Buccaneers. Philadelphia by 9.

Green Bay (2-5) at Detroit (3-4) - Billy Sims expects to be ready after missing a game and the Lions will go again with Ed Hipple at quarterback. He had four scoring passes in his first start. Even with John Jefferson and James Lofton in the lineup the Packers have. scored only 13 points in their last two games. Detroit by 6.

Minmesota (5-2) al St. Louis (2-5) - Ted Brown, the Vikings' uncelebrated halfback, has gained more yards rushing and receiving than the Cardinals' renowned Ottis Anderson. The impressive Vikings will be after their sixth straight victory. The Cards, thin on linebackers, may start two rookies. Minnesota by 2.

Interconference

Miami (5-1-1) at Dallas (5-2) — The Cowboy offense should work well with Tony Dorsett running ef-fectively inside and Danny White hitting the deep passes oo post pat-terns. David Woodley, the gutty Dolphin quarterback, meets the Dallas defense for the first time.

Dallas by 6. New England (2-5) at Washington (1-6) — The Redskins have John Riggins and Joe Washington, both healthy at last, to play running back, and Terry Metcalf moves to wide receiver. The Patriots willbe without Mike Haynes. their all-pro cornerback, Both teams are better than their records may suggest. New England by 3. San Diego (5-2) at Chicago (1-6) - The Bears will oot have the ball often because the Chargers lead the league in poiots scored, total yards gained and yards by passing. Their defense, however, is No.1 in passing yards surrendered and No. 2 in yards allowed overall. San Diego by 9.

Cincinnati (5-2) at New Orleans (1-6) — The Bengals owe much of their surprising success to veteran quarterback Kea Andersoa and to a suddenly staunch defense. Anderson has been passing for 260 yards a game and has 12 scoring passes to only 4 interceptions. After this, the Saints play the Fal-cons, Rams and Vikings. "We keep getting better," says coach Burn Phillips, Cincinnati by 6.

Monday Night

Houston (4-3) at Pittsburgh (4-3) — Both lost last Sunday by a com-bined score of 17-72. But it is Terry Bradshaw against Ken Stabler oace more, with Bradshaw aging more gracefully. Pittsburgh by 5.

NFL Leaders by Teams AMERICAN CONFERENCE

1984 2040 2045 2147 2199 2201 2214 2262 2219 2419 2436 2517 2602 2468 Philodelphic New York San Francis Las Angeles Tampa Bay Green Bay Defroif Attonto New Orleans CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS EDUCATION

SPANISH COURSES IN MALAGA SPAIN, oil grades, small groups; 4 hours doily, course commencing each month. Living with Spanish families or in small apartments. Write. Cantro de Esudica de Espanol, Ave. J.S. Elcono, 110, Malaga.

For advertising informat

Tel: 747,12.65

Tel.: 26 36 15.

stact the TRIB's

office in your country. HEAD OFFICE

EUROPE

Athens: J.C. Remesson Tel.: 361 83 97/360 24 21.

Frankfart: H. Jung or K. Ohff Tel.: 28 36 78.

Tel.: 29 58 94.

Brussels: Arthur Maixner Tel.: 343 18 99, me Alfons Grim

PLACE YOUR CLASSIFIED AD QUICKLY AND EASILY

BY PHONE: Call your local IHT representative with your text.

ADDRESS: TEL. COUNTRY:

VALIDITY SIGNATURE:

124.00 124.00 2,700.00 165.00 115.00 115.00 203.00 405.00 124.00 124.00 124.00 124.00 124.00 165.00 405.00 165.00 92.00 92.00 92.00 92.00 1.50.00 92.00 92.00 92.00 190.00 1 Netherlands FI. Netway (sir) N.Ke. Palistan (sir) S. Polymen, Peach (sir) S. Polymen, Peach (sir) S. Pormgal (sir) Se. Romania (sir) Se. Romania (sir) Seath America (sir) Sent America (sir) Spain (sir) Pias Sweder (sir) Pias Sweder (sir) S.Kr Swiner (sir) U.A.K (sir) U.A.K (sir) U.A.K (sir) U.S.S.R. (sir) 115.00 495.00 124.00 365.00 360.00 37.00 115.00 124.00 124.00 115.00 36.00 72,000.00

Herald Tribune

I want to receive the IHT at my | home | office nddress below for: □ 12 months (Rate 6 x 2) □ 6 months □ 3 months

☐ Mr ☐ Ms Country Job title/profession Company activity Nationality IMPORTANT: Payment must be enclosed with order to: IHT, 181 Avenue Charles-de-Ganile, 92521 Neurlly Cedex, France. Pro-forms invoices are available on request.

THIS OFFER VALID FOR FIRST-TIME SUBSCRIBERS ONLY. Rates valid through Documber 31, 1981.

Terry and the Goose: A Tale of 2 Cities' Friendly-Enemy Relievers may be a lot of ballplayers catchhis buddy the Goose - is willing to rave a little about the impact of Gossage on a World Series. ing airplanes home from Los Angeles International Airport by Sun-"He struck out Moe [Rick Monday] with a pitch that was eight inches outside," Forster said, refer-ring to a Tuesday-night strikeout. "He is an overpowering pitcher," Forster said Wednesday night. There's no question in my mind That tells me he's got the Ameriwe'll beat him, because we've got a can League umpires intimidated. They know be's fast and they bunch of battlers. But be's a great pitcher. A guy like that is good for beaded friendly brute - just like opposite sides of the World Series drives on Tuesday and throwing this week. Forster is a spare pitcher in the Dodger bullpen while day. Forster a big-boned, large-know his ball moves and rises, so they call a lot of strikes. 3 Days, 3 Years

"He threw a slider to Penguin [Ron Cey]. You can do that when you've got a lead. With a one-run lead, Goose will just fire the ball. He can do it. He's had arm trouble for what - three days in his career? Geez, I've had arm trouble for three years now."

There was not the slightest trace of complaint in Forster's deep voice. He was throwing his best pitch - reality - as he recalled the summer in Appleton, when he and Bucky Dent and Rich Gossage shared an apartment. "Goose and I would fight a lot," Forster recalls. "I'd slap him on the head and be'd come back at mc, and sometimes it would get pretty rough. One time we got fighting in he bruised his font but I had to go down to Chicago for X-rays for a broken rib.

When we got to the White Sox, we got in a fight in the shower and the guys let it go on because it was the next to the last day of the season. They just stood around and cheered."

Torre to Lead Braves; Cubs Appoint Elia

Prom Agency Dispatches

ATLANTA — Joe Torre, fired on the final day of the season as manager of the New York Mets, was named Friday as manager of the Atlanta Braves. Meanwhile, Lee Elia has succeeded Joey Amalitisms as manager of the Chicago. fitano as manager of the Chicago Cubs, that announcement coming late Thursday from Dallas Green the former Philadelphia manager who last week was named the Cube executive vice president and general manager.

Torre said he had agreed to a three-year contract and that he hoped to here three of his former coaches from the Mets. "The Braves had some people they'd like to keep," he said, "but I'd be interested in bringing Bob Gibson, Rube Walker and Joe Pignatano with me. Hopefully, it won't be a

Torre reportedly has agreed to a three-year contract calling for $100,000 for the first year, and $150,000 in each of the others. He will replace Bobby Cox, who was fired by the Braves earlier this month. Under Cox, the team fell out of contention in baseball's second season, losing 11 of 14 games during a key stretch. Cox has been hired as manager of the Toronto Blue Jays.

Sox in 1966 and the Cubs in 1968, was a Phillie coach under Green. His new contract is for three years. The Cubs have not won a pen-nant in 36 years. "I have no timetable and can't say how long it will take to win," Elia said, adding that he has a good aucleus of players, including Bill Buckner, Ivan De-Jesus and Leon Durham, but that the Cubs have pressing needs. He mentioned "speed, pitching and defense" as being among his

Elia, who played for the White

Gossage survived those fights, although in 1979 be would break a finger in a for-real fight with Cliff Johnson in the Yankee shower room. He also survived his wildness in the early years, needing more time in the minors than Forster did. In 1970 Gossage won no games and lost three in 10 appearances at Appleton while Forster woa six and lost one in 10 games.

Forster needed only those 10 games in Appleton to reach the majors. At 19 he pitched for the White Sox and he has been in the majors ever since, saving 24 games and winning 7 as the best relief pitcher in the American League in 1974 while Gossage still needed a nune-up in Appleton.

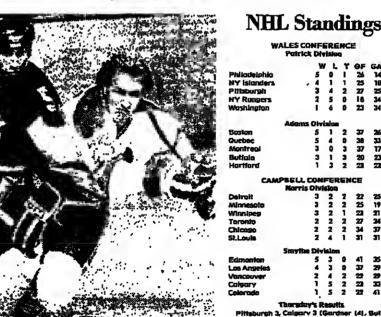

"Late that year I burt my arm pitching to Jason Thompson," orster recalls. "A few days later I tore my arm apart pitching to Reggie Jackson. They gave Goose the ball the next year." aot awed by Gossage, but "we respect him. "Nobody is going

The big playful relievers were a tandem in Chicago and were traded for Richie Zisk and Silvio Martinez after 1976. In Pittsburgh Gossage was awesome and Forster was mediocre; they pursued free agency and their separate ways. While Gossage was establishing himself as the fastest gun in New York, Forster aeeded an operation to remove a bone chip and relocate a nerve in his neck in November, 1978, and an elbow operation the following August. The arm has been slow to respond and Forster has languished deep in the Dodger bullnen.

Awww, if they put a gun on us, I'd still be faster than Goose,'

Forster said with a wink. "If they let me pitch from 45 feet." Forster says his teammates are

Calgary's Willi Plett and Pittsburgh's Mario Faubert (5) were stride-for-stride for the puck Thursday night - and the rest of the game was just as close, the Flames and Penguins tying, 3-3.

Transactions

BASKETBALL

BASEBALL

National Basketball Ass KANSAS CITY-Signed Regale King, for FOOTBALL Netlend Football Lease AND—Activated Hear CLEVELAND—Activated Henry Shappard. guard. Placed Willis Adams. wide receiver, on

LONGCHAMP Sunday 25 october PRIX

ROYAL-OAK (Groupe !) PRIX de la FORET (Groupe I) Reserved seats available Teleph: 266.92.02 Except on saturday

RESTAURANT

PANORAMIQUE

téL 506,55.77

HOTELS RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS GREAT BRITAIN

GORE HOTEL, LONDON, a great fo-vorite with the discriminating traveller. 10 minutes West End, All rocess with color TV, bathroom, rudo, stephone. Singles from C21,00. Doubles from C28,00. Tel. 584 66 01. Teles 896691 prefix Gore, 189 Queen's Gote, Lon-don SW7. GIRLS AND GUYS of continents work pen pole. Details freet Hermas Verlog Box 110660/N., D-1000 Berlin 17, West Germony. ARTS ELMYR DE HORY FAKES

BRITISH BOOKSHOP WELCOMES you. Come either in person or send your mail order. We offer a wide selection of British American books also children's!, We also sell all British four-ist publications, mail order service within Germany. Tel. 280472, Boarterstr. 17, D-6 Frankfurt. BOOKS from America ony U.S. book /sobject. Send list US Oversecs Book, PO 2066, Great Nack, N.Y. 11022. Own a magnificant Renoir, Van Gogli, Monet, Toulouse Lautrec. Private collector has for sole these signed unique oil pointings by the matter forger of our time, the late

EMYR DE HORY.
Teh 01 485 4828 (London) ANTIQUES

EUSIVE ANTIQUE? King London (England) 290 00 33 COMPUTE-ANTIQUE The new Phone-in service for ontic with thousands of items. JUST A PHONE CALL AWAY

To our readers... Please let us know about any prob-lems you may have obtaining you copy of the international Herald Tri-bune. Wate with all pertinent infor-

François Desmaisons Circulation | International Herold Tribu 181, avenue Charles-de-Gaulle 92200 Neurlly, France. In Asia and Pacific write to. Alam Lectur, International Merald Tribune 1801 Toi Song Commercial Builds 24-34 Hennessy Road, Hong Kon

American Propuratory School in the Solchurg Alps. Co-ed, grades 9-12 Boarding, travel. High candemics. Catalog. Write: Seo Pines Abraed 5324 Fastenau, Salzburg, Austria.

INTENSIVE SPANISH on COSTA del SOL. Audio-visual lob 8 accommodation available. Groups of seven, Academia Oxford, C/Cornedios, 11, Molago, Spoin, Tel: 21 23 09.

DIPLOMA/ DEGREE in interior design. Correspondence course. Detraits Dept. Aff. Rivode International, 80A/Bhodes, London WCIN 30X UK.

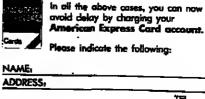

U.S. UNIVERSITY PLACEMENT. We advise and hole place students in over ctivise and help place students in over 100 schools. Touchpoint, Inc., 191 Foy-ette Ave., Jonesboro, GA 30236. UMERICAN CLASSIC GUITARIST, 15 years experience, gives private sors, all levels. Paris 583 77 77

> PAGES16 & 13 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

OU NEED I month to speak French 1st lesson free. Paris 222 70 64. HENCH QUICKLY LEARNT with grounds teacher. Tel: 267 50 91 Paris.

prepayment is made your ad will appear within 48 hours.
BY MAIL: Send your text to your local IHT representative a was will be advised of the sect to learn in representative of you will be advised of the cost in local currency by retu Payment before publication is necessary.
BY TELEX: If you have an urgent business text, telex us, a
If Will be published within 48 hours in our INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS MESSAGE CENTED.

For your guidance: the basic rate is $8.20 per line per day + local taxes. There are 25 letters, signs and spaces in the first line and 36 in the following lines. Minimum space is 2 lines. No

Please charge my ad to my American Express Card account

Liebone Ritz Ambor Tel.: 67 27 93 & 66 25 44. Lendon: Michael Mitchell Tel.: 242 51 73. Redrick A. Umlouff Son Tel.: 455 33 06, tome: Antonio Son Tul.: 679 34 37. OTHERS Hong Kong: C. Cheney Tel.: 5 - 420 906. New York: Sandy O'Hara Tel.: 752 38 90. Tel Auty: Don Ehrlich

MX in the Casino

WASHINGTON - I don't planned. There would be 100 live VV want to second guess President Reagan's decision to bypass the Air Force's version of an MX system in favor of his modified plan, which is to put MX missiles in aiready-built Titan holes. What the Pentagoo wanted was an underground train system by which we could move missiles arouod a 20square mile area, so that the Soviets couldn't pinpoint where they

The Air Force described it as a giant shell game. Before President Reagan's ent that he was abandoning the idea for a cheaper, less sophisticated system, someone in the Pentagon had leaked the story that the MX complex would be built in the state of Nevada.

Buchwald

When it turned out this information was wrong, everyone from the Joint Chiefs of Staff to the Hawks in the Senate was infuriated with the White House decision.
I was, too. I always felt Nevada was the best place to put the MX system and I even had a good idea of how it could pay for itself. As anyone who has been to Las Vegas knows, the main attraction of the state is gambling. High rollers from every part of the countries from every part of the countries. try, as well as those from Hong Kong and Abu Dhabi, fly in to throw their money away on slot machines, roulette, dice tables and any card game the plush casinos

This was my idea: The Air Force would be permit-ted to build its underground train system in the desert of Nevada as

'Guernica' Going on Show

MADRID - Pablo Picasso's "Guernica" goes on show for the first time in Spain this weekend to mark the centenary of the painter's birth. The mural, depicting the 1937 bombing of Guernica by German planes during the Spanish Civil War, is enclosed in a bulletproof glass cubicle. It was shown to the press Friday at the Cason del Buen Retiro, an annex of Madrid's Prado museum. Prime Minister Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo will inaugurate the exhibition Saturday and it will open to the public Sun-missiles, which could be moved around to 1,000 stations, making it impossible for the Russians to know their locations.

After everything was in place, the whole thing would be covered with sand. Then, on top of it, they would construct a huge gambling casino, four times the size of Caesar's Palace. There would be hotel rooms, bars and an enormous dinner theater featuring the greatest nightclub acts in the United States. No expense would be spared to make it the most magnificent pleasure dome in the country.

The entire ground floor of the casino would be devoted to a new gambling game called "MX." Large tables would be constructed in the same shape as the MX missile system, and ou the green felt would be numbered every un-

Players would stand around the table, placing their chips on where they thought a live MX missile would wind up. (The minimum bet would be $100 to keep the riffraff

derground hole where a missile

Once all the bets were made, an Air Force colonel would push a button and start the missiles moving around on their tracks.

lo 30 seconds, a board over the table would light up, indicating where the live missiles were and those gamblers who put their chips on the winning holes would be paid five chips for every one they

As an added attraction the Air Force could shoot off one of the missiles as a test. If you bet on that missile, you would get back a jack-pot of 100-to-1.

The beauty of the oew gambling game is that it would attract oot only high rollers from the Free World, but the Soviets would send over KGB gamblers to bet huge sums of hard currency in an effort to figure out how to break the sys-

Since the odds of guessing the right number would be 10-to-1, and the Air Force would only be paying off at 5-to-1, the MX system would pay for itself in three years. From then on, everything they made on the MX, which many people believe is the greatest crap game of them all, would be

© 1981, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

MOVING

UNITED VAN LINES

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRENCH PROVINCES

tomas commercial business. 19. 31 p.m. 31 p.m. NORMANDY: 1½ hour Paris, beautiful 17th century renovated house, ini.ng. study, dising, 4 bedrooms, etc., cantrol heating, curbuickings. 4500 scm. gorden, F650,000, Tail Paris 539 79 10 den. F650,000, Tail Paris 539 79 10

VILLA FOR SALE, 20 KM FROM NECE, (F) with 18,000 sq.m. pork, swimming pool. High security system: Tech-CH-091/22004 or Fodios, Piozza della Riscosso 14, Lugano Camarate, CH

PARIS & SUBURBS

BEL LOVELY APARTMENT, SUN reception + bedroom, both, equipped latchen, 50 sq.m. Roor level herroce, suitable professional, Vists Fr. & Sat., 15 Ave Hoche, 12 - 4 pm.

& Sot., 15 Ave Hoche, 12 - 4 pm.
ETANG LA VELLE (noor Mearly, for anmediate sale, beautiful villo, 5 rooms + double living, 850 sc.m., gorden, splendid ste. Tel. (3) 916-38 71.
SEVENTH: 200 sc.m., larury crists flot.
Sunty, quet, on gorden. 2-ox portueng, rue du Boc. Call: 222 41 34

SPAIN

MAJORCA (POLLENSA). Resource formhouse, 4 beds, 3 boths, etc. 5 fertile acres, 2nd house permitted, superb to cation, $ 295,000, London: 508 7668.

The Dwindling Ainu

Ancient Tribe Fights to Survive in Modern Japan

By Tracy Dahlby hington Post Service

NIBUDANI, Japan — The toothless great grandmother sat close to the small oil stove in her sparsely furnished living room, tellling tales of the 85 autumns she has passed here in Nibudani, "the vailey of the two winds," Huddled around in the soft twilight were several young people of her village, listening attentively.
"Uotil I was 13," the old woman said, thoughtfully puffing on a cigarette, "I lived the traditional life. Our family lived in a longhouse made of mountain grass and we spent our days hunting deer and rabbits in the forest and gathering plants."

"When it rained," she said in Japanese. which is oot the language of her youth, "the adults would stop working and come inside to sit around the fire and tell the old legends. It was a hard life, but there were no telephones and somehow things were cozier and less frustrating."

The storyteller was Teru Nishijima, 86, one of Japan's dwindling Amu, a tribe of hunters and fishermen. Centuries ago, the Ainu roamed the mountains and rivers over large parts of Japan.

Today, after 100 years of poverty and disease as well as government-imposed policies to assimilate them, the Ainu, according to anthropologists and their own leaders, will almost certainly disappear within a few dec-ades. Along with them will go the stories, like the ones Nishijima tells, of the animal gods of the forests and streams living in harmony with man.

Many of the country's 50,000 or so surviving Ainu live in a handful of villages like Ni-budani in southwestern Hokkaido, Japan's second largest island.

The wide-open spaces here are ringed with forests of white birch and pine, and the cattle ranches, broad fields of corn, roadside driveins and ramshackle houses fit more the foreign visitor's image of the American West than that of this highly industrialized nation. In Nibudani, where the main street is lined with shops for Japanese tourists, many of its 600 Ainu inhabitants make their living at the traditional arts of wood carving and weaving. Others drive taxis, work as part-time con-struction laborers or tend the fields as hired

In recent years, the government has stepped in to ease the plight of the Ainu with offers of subsidies for education and housing and efforts to restore to their original owners the few ancient tribal lands that are not already in the hands of Japanese farmers and ranchers.

But levels of income and schooling among the Ainu remain far below the average and they continue to struggle against barriers to jobs, schools and intermarriage with the Jap-

"Things have gotten better," said Shigeru Kayano, a local folklorist and leader of the

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

HOLLAND

Renthouse International

020-448751 (4 lines)

Amsterdom, Bolestein 43.

DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE B.V.

Amsterdam, 020-721234 or 723272.

INT'L HOUSING SERVICE for rent houses and oportments AMSTERDAM, Tel: 020 - 768022.

AMSTERDAM CENTER. Splendid opertment on cornol, 200 sq.m., 3 bed-rooms. All comforts. DFL2500 per month. Tet- (020) 240975.

PIERRE'S SERVICES in Amsterdom, Hi-versom & Utracht creck, Tel: 03S-12198, Kapittelweg 389, Hilversom.

When in Rome:
PALAZZO AL VELABRO
Lucury operiment house with furnisher fless, credible for 1 week and mon from $50 a day for two.
Phone: 6794325, 6793450.
Write: Via del Velabro 16, 00186 Rome.

PARIS AREA FURNISHED

MONTPARNASSE: flat to share, f 1000 + charges: 321 40 01, 8-11 am OPERA: Studio F 1300, Bath, latchemette, 3-6 months, 500 38 40.

15th HIGH CLASS ULTRA MODERN 2 rooms, Weekly, Tel: 776 03 42 Poris,

PARIS AREA UNFURNISHED

POCH: Ideally located 2 bedroom apartment, near Boile, fully equipped and in excellent condition, quiet. Tel: 551 21 76.

REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE

OFFICE SERVICES

Ainu rights movement for the past 30 years, "but, basically, the Japanese don't want to be bothered."

Over a lunch of broiled salmon and salmon eggs, part of the traditional Ainu diet, he explained, "the problem today is to save our culture" in the face of declining numbers and the apathy of a younger generation bent on blending in with the Japanese mainstream. "There are now only a few old women here who can speak the old lauguage fluently, and once they go there will be no one around who knows the legends" that are the heart of Ainu culture. The Ainu have oo written lauguage.

Tales tell of a race of blue-eyed, blond-haired hunters and fishermen who came to Japanese shores in a misty past. According to Japanese anthropologists, however, the Ainu are not descended from prehistoric Cancasian tribes, as was earlier believed, but from a strain of nomadic Mongolians who came to Japan about 7,000 years ago after a centus-long trek through western Asia.

Early Japanese records tell of battles with bands of bearded warriors from the north a thousand years ago. The first Japanese war-lords to earn the title of Shogun, which means "barbarian-subduing generalissimo," reputedly did so by driving the Ainu back to Hokkaido from their ancient capital in cen-

In the late 1800s, the two cultures began to clash in earnest when the Japanese govern-ment embarked on an ambitions program to lure settlers to Hokkaido. Much of the land was homesteaded off to Japanese farmers from the main island, pushing back Ainu froncers and forcing them to forsake hunting and fishing for work on Japanese labor

By the t930s, tuberculosis epidemics, al-coholism and low wages had resulted in a state of subservience to the Japanese, which Kayano described in his own stories.

"My grandfather, Tokkram [his Ainu name]," he said, "was forced into slave labor at the age of 12. He wanted to go home so badly that one night he cut his forefinger off with an axe, hoping that would persuade his boss to let him go put some salt on it." Wives were separated from husbands and "if they were young and pretty, they were forced to become prostitutes for the men from the mainland. After all that, this is what they got for one year's labor," he said, holding up a chipped and faded lacquer-ware sake bowl.

Today, the Ainu remain largely landless, and, in recent years, leaders like Kayano have pressed demands that the Japanese in Hokkaido pay a land-use tax that would help generate more funds to use for housing and schooling their people. Such claims have made little headway. "The Ainu never sold or even loaned their land to the Japanese," Kayano said, "and we are not asking them to get out. But it's a shame to uproot a culture that has existed for

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

EMPLOYMENT

CENERAL POSITIONS

FIELD ENGINEER

With a minimum of 5 years experience working with HF / VHF / UHF / Microwave / Satellite / Data or Teles crownve / Satellite / Data or Tell communications systems, immediate required for position in S.E. Asia. Bach lor statut anily, Send Returns to:

Kevin C. Kuhns Eastern Communication (H.K.) Private Ltd. 163b Goldhill Plaza Singapore 1130

PROGRAMMER ANALYST
University of Maryland in Heidelberg Germany, seeks programmer/analysts to sasts in development of date base application programs on Hewlett Pack ord 3000 series fit. Experience Cobol View & Image required. Cover latter with resume & salary requirements toMr SB Collins, University of Maryland, Im Basseldom 30, 6700 Heidelberg.

BRIGHT STITLLIGENT GRIL, free to trovel, required by art collector, Swil-zorland, as personal secretary/travel assistant. No special qualifications. Must have installine and good presen-tation. Photo essential, Give your phone number where possible. Box 15209; Herald Tribune, 92521 Nestly Cadax, France.

GENERAL POSITIONS
WANTED

NEED SOMEONE ON THE SPOT-but not on entire office or office service?

English women, energetic, othroctive, BA, MA, PH BETA KAPPA, UCIA, Sed to Frankfurt through job (university teaching) and small chief, leaking for way to supplement income. Experience in PR, fluent French and German, IHT, Box 1645, Gr. Eschenheimer Sr. 43, D-6000 Frankfurt/M.

SWISS 21, sound commercial back-ground, written and spoken English, German, French, base Indian, sels-schallenging sales-related position in non-food company. Currently working in Paris. Willing to relocate and travel. Box 298, Heradd Tribune, 92521 Neuil-ly Cedex, France.

EMPLOYMENT

POSTTIONS AVAILABLE

GENERAL

MARKETING MANAGER

Leading German company in the medi-cal field seeks for aggressively expand-ing subsidiary in Chicago, translating ar-sited general transager with profound experience, to trusted high sectioology products in the health core field, Send your application to HELLIGE, P.O. Box 728, D-7800 Freiburg/Br., W. Germany.

FOR MORE EXECUTIVE POSITIONS LOOK UNDER 'INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES' PAGE 12

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE PURCHASING+TRADING

MANAGER

Highly qualified, very active, flexible, in-ternational- and routh-oriented. Free to travel. Monagor in top grade US & Eu-ropean Car Monafacturers, Oil Drilling, Production, Sales & Tracting Corpora-tions. Much experience in leanting & supplying material for Cwil Engineering, Construction, Oil & Gas Exploration, turkey proyects, & general tracting for all Middle East & African countries. 7 years in USA. 2 worst UK. German citical Middle East & African countries, years in USA, 2 years UK, German ci zen, US resident. Fluent Genear/En Esh, 41 years, Seeking internation strangament position Contracting of Consulting in Europe, preferably Genearly.

Apply Box 15268, Herold Tribune, 92521 Nevilly Cedex, France.

HIPPING EXECUTIVE, 39, Dutch, bi-lingual, good personality, held lary po-sitions in Middle East, Germany, UK, USA subcomment, 20 years broad es-perience in transportation and freight

Ainu tribesman carving souvenir figures for Japanese tourists in Hokkaido.

thousands of years just because we're a small minority."

Frequently appalled by what they view as the depth and breadth of racial strife in American society, the Japanese generally pic-ture their own country as a homogenous one free from sticky ethnic problems. In fact, however, there are 665,000 ethnic Koreans in Japan and 53,000 Chinese.

According to official government figures, there are only 25,000 Ainu. But Moriichi Kuzumo, director of the Hokkaido Ainu Association, said that there may be at least twice that number because of a large group of "invisible Ainn" who have managed to pass into Japanese society. They resist coming out of the closet, he said, because they fear breaking up marriages, spelling chances for promotion in Japan's hierarchical companys interner or early locing inherence. oy system, or even losing jobs.

In recent years, offers of government sub-sidies, Kuzuno said, have encouraged a few of the Amu hideaways to come forth and claim their heritage. "At least some of our people have got to the point where they can say with pride, "I am an Amu." But it took so many years to reach even this minimum level. The next step is to preserve our cul-

In Nibudam, the vally floor was bathed in a buttery light as the late afternoon shadows climbed the green hillsides. Nishijima, whose Ainu name Monteke (pronouced mon-taykay) sounds strange to Japanese ears, rocked gently on the edge of her chair and began to chant an epic poem in her ancient tongue. It was about the time when the god of thunder came to earth to woo and wed a beautiful Ainu princess.

"I have lived for so many years," she said in Japanese, "and I know all the stories told me by my parents and grandparents. Kids today don't know any of them, and, even if I try to teach them, they don't understand."

EMPLOYMENT

GENERAL POSITIONS

WELL EDUCATED, SOPHISTICATED, well travelled English lody, 33 years old. Ex-company Director seeks interesting work preferably overseas. Tel-0200 24183 UK.

SECRETARIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Pon't rains INTERNATIONAL SECRETARIAL POSITIONS

TUESDAYS

In the RIT Classified Section.

WANTED PART-TIME TEPL teacher Minimum 3 years experience for class as near Parts. Well-paid. Good chance of more hours if things go well. Sen C.V. & phote to Box 312 Harald Tri-bune, 92521 Neurily Corber, France.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

EXPERIENCED COOK/SUTTLER agained to look offer London flot. Visio opportunity by a rot to USA free will be required to cover for staffoldory. Please apply to sits Tilloure on London 836 8400.

PEOPLE: Uncrowned First Lady Runs 'Home for Wayward China'

Nancy Reagan has laid to rest any rumors that might have arisen after Washington gift shops start-ed selling postcards showing the first lady dressed as a queen. "Inever wear a crown," she joked at a dinner in New York City. "It messes up my hair." During brief remarks at the annual Alfred E. Smith memorial dinner bonoring the late New York governor, Mrs. Reagan said she wanted to tell the guests about some of her activities, such as lighting drug abuse and supporting the Girl Scouts. "And then, of course, the Nancy Reagan Home for Wayward Chma," she quipped, referring to criticism of the $209,000 set of china being bought for the White House through private donations. She drew a standing ovation when she thanked Cardinal Terence Cooke for comforting her after President Reagan was shot. Following in the footsteps of Winston Churchill. several Supreme Court justices and seven presidents, the first lady ad-dressed about 1,600 formally attired guests at the $200-a-plate annual dinner.

An estimated 75,000 music lovers sang "Happy Birthday" then were serenaded with Beethoven's Ninth Symphony as the Boston Symphony Orchestra celebrated its 100th versary with its first free, outdoor concert. The crowd estimate was made by Boston Police Super-intendent Robert Bradley, who also monitored on his walkie-talkie two stabbings and a shooting that occurred elsewhere in the city — a contrast to the tranquility of the 75-minote concert on the Boston Common. With the temperature at an unseasonable 60 degrees F (16 C), listeners io sportswear sprawled on blankets as the 100member orchestra, four soloists and a 200-singer chorus, all in formal garb, performed under the ba-ton of Japanese conductor Seiji Ozawa, who wore a white turtleneck shirt and neck beads under his tuxedo jacket. "It was worth waiting 37 years," said Tiny Stacy, 37, a 6-foot-4 inch, 320-pound Holden, Mass., bar owner, who Erno Rubik, the Hungarian gamemaker who has driven much of the world crazy with Rubik's Cube, says he takes a whole min-ute to solve his puzzle — far slower than Hungary's fastest cubist. A Hungarian primary school pupil holds the record at 23 seconds, according to Rubik. Rubik, 37, also wore beads over his flannel says the cube is a worldwide bestseller earning him millions, but he turned down his government's of-fer to head a special team of puzzlemakers, preferring to go on teaching interior design at the Budapest Academy of Applied Arts. Rubik travels extensively to promote the cube and combat the spread of cheap imitations. He made his comments in Tel Aviv.

Melina Mercouri, who won reelection to Greece's parliament cances, has told her staff of civil servants she would rather be addressed as Melina rather than "Madam Minister." The 56-year-old actress-politician became international last weekend and was promptly old actress-politician became an international star after her U.S. husband Jules Dassin directed her in the 1960 Greek movie "Never on Sunday.

Entertainer Pat Boone will have to pay 25 cents each to as many as 24,000 consumers who used an acne medication he once touted in television commercials. The rest of the refunds for the $9.50 product will be paid by the manufacturer and and marketer, said FTC attorney Randolph Tritell. When Boone signed the 1978 consent agreement with the FTC, officials said it was the first time the commission held a product endorser personally accountable for advertising claims. Since then, industry officials have said many show business personal tites are unwilling to endorse products without first verifying the advertising claims. Meanwhile Boone has written a song entitled "Are There Any More Squares Out There?" "I wrote it in self-defense," Boone, self-styled square, explained to variety show host Mike Douglas. "I work out every morning and every evening. I eat vegetables and grains and I drink wegetables and grains and I don't milk — all those square things, I'd been hearing the word square bandied about for so long and I realized that a lot of nice things are square. Buildings and countries have been built from T squares and square foundations. The word oeedn't be so derisive; it ought to be a compliment instead. So I wrote the song to poll the audience to see just how many squares there are out there."

Jimmy Stewart, who played homespun characters in dozens of movies, has been named grand marshal of the 93d Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day. --- day.

AMERICA CALLING	j
TAC72BC RGD92CH. Messages for footloose travellers, Write: 2406 - 18th Ave. NW, Olympia, WA 98502, USA.	=
ANNOUNCEMENTS	5
SUBSCRIBE	16

to the INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

AND SAVE. As a now subscriber to the International Herald Tribuno, you can save up to 42% of the newsstand price, depends on your country of residence.

HT Subscriptions Department, 181, Avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92200 Neuilly-sur-Seine, France, or phone Paris 747-12-65 axt. 305 IN ASIA AND PACIFIC contact our local distributor or:

Interactional Herald Tribune 201 Tel Sang Commercial Bull 24-34 Hernesty Road HONG KONG Tel: HK 5-286726

IS THERE A LORD
IN YOUR LINEAGEP
If your ancestors were British, and be would like to know who they were, contact:
Tudor Search, Clientworth House,
Holton, Oxford, England. N PARIS your pub away from home. 7 pm to 7 cm rightly. Eat, dank, inact, donce till down. Special chicourt for Americans Boucaney. 11 Rise J Chaplant, Paris 6th. 354 53 79

lon, Paris 6th 334 53 79
DIVORCE RN 24 HOURS, Contested / uncontested Bufels, Inc., 35 Wisconsin Circle, Wrathington, O.C. 20815.
RELING low? - bowing problems? SOS HELP crisis-line in English 3 p.m. 11 p.m. Tek Poris 723 80 60.
SUN N.Y. TIMES, set Euro-delivery. Write PCB 2, 1000 Brussels, Belgrum. MANE contest with others in weekly Encounter Group, Poris. 794 402.
AA in English doily. Poris. Tel. 325. 76.03.7531.3879.
CRISSS Courselling, Psychotheropy. Masters & Johnson, Paris: 293 40 77.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES CHRISTIAN SCIENCE Services. Sun-days, French 10 cm., English 11.15 cm., Wednesday, French & English, 7 pm. of Second Church of Christ, Scientes. Paris: 58 Blvd Flandrin, Paris: 16th. Matter Porte Doughne. All welcome.

CHRISTIAN CENTER FELLOWSHIP, Sonday School 10 cm, Worship 11 cm, in the Euro Motel, Amsterdom South, Tel. 020 23 17 40/070 47 44 98

RELIGIOUS SERVICES FRANCE EMMANUE.
BAPTIST CHURCH

6 Rue cleat Bons-Russiner, Reui-Melmeis on, Western Suburbs, Sunday Worship On Service School 11 am. Service te English, Teli 749 15 29, 722 71 03.

MOVING

MOVES INTERDEAN

The International Mover

44.89.44 494.76.11 452.91.11 452.91.73 31.05.91 249.54.00 84.31.44 593.7664 (06190) 200 43.85.30 601108 448.93.31 671.24.50 71.24.50 738.32.88 490.7444 AMSTERDAM:
ATHERS:
BARCELONA:
BORN:
BRUNSES:
CADDZ: CHEAGO: FRANKOURT:
GENEVA:
THE HAGUE:
HOUSTON: LONDON: LONDON: LONDON:
MADEZD: MUNICO!
NAPLES:
NEW YORK:

ALLIED VAN LINES

GERMANY: INTL MOVING SERVICES Fronkfurt, 0611-781006. Munich, 089-142244. Dusseklorf, 02102-45023/24.

AUTOMOBILES, REMOVALS, BAG-GAGE, Special rates by air to U.S.A., Conada, & other destinations. Tran-scor, Paris 500 03 04.

THE PRESIDELY MOVERS
Huet International Moving
15 Rue Philippe de Dongoou
78000 Versoilles
Tol: [3] 950 77 44 - Telen; 696301F CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH, 13 R. du Vieux-Colombier, Poris 6, Mo. St. Sul-pice. Sunday worship in English 9.45 am, Rav. A. Sommerville 607 67 02. CONTENEX: TEL. 281 18 81 PARIS (Near OPERA). Air & Seq to dil coun bries. Economy rates. Also boggage. PERSONALS 1.000 CONFIRMED DOWN his voice Public Notice #164. Broder 10/20. the seculde, large estate comprising main house + 8 independent bungalows around 2 reviewing pools, 2 tents sourts, 2 te. land, Passibility of commercial business. Tel: Paris 500 61

EXTRAORDINARY

490 7444 742.85.11 475.43.57 82.43.64 363.20.00

INTERNATIONAL GET A MOVER YOU KNOW

SWITZERLAND FOREIGNERS FRANCE: 14 v. de la Vega, Paris 12 Contact: Mr. McBain. Tel: 343 23 64

AMERICAN COUPLE, temporarily relo-cating to Paris, seek two-room, one-bedroom operiment from New 15 -Feb 15, Contact Mes Allen, 359 00 18 Paris, during business hours.

Con buy operiments on LAKE GENEVA, in Montreus near Lessanne, or ell year round resorts: St. Cergier near Geneva, vifian, Las Dioblemes, Prismone year to 50-7076 et low Interest reses. Also quality operiments in France, EVAN on Loke Geneva and MEGEVE, summer and winter paradises both approximate-by 35 minutes from Geneva, with ne restrictions. Advise ores preferrad. Write to Developer. C/O Globe Plan S.A., Mon-Repos 34, 1005 Laucenin, Swetzerland, lots (21-22 35 12. The 25185 MELIS CH.

USA subcontinent, 20 years broad ex-perience in treasportation and freight forwarding, specialist in container shipping, presently dref executive of reapir company in South Arabia, seeks challenging position and/or business apportunity. Write Box 15271, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neutily Cadae, Franca. AMERICAN, 43, PhD, with European academic and managerial experience, seeks challenging position based in Eu-rope. Rusen' English, German, Spanish and good French, Box 219, Harald Tri-bune, Fedro Teissera 8, Madrid 20. International Business Message Center

ATTENTION BUSINESSMEN: Publish your Business Message in the International Herald Tribune; over a quarter of a million rec worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read your message. Just telex su Paris 613595, before 10:00 e.m. ensuring see can telex you back and your message will appear within 48 hours. You will be billed at U.S. 83.20 or local equivalent per line. You include complete and verifiable billing address.

E.S.A OCEAN FRONT LOTS 2,700 ft. of beautifel acade Frontage property in Southampton Town on Long Island, New York, Conteact: John G. Strang, PO. Box 790, East Hampton, New York 11937, Tak (51d) 324 4500 or (51d) 324 0400 New Tork. Mr. Strong is at the Bresol Hotel, Landon until October 26th 1981

NEW YORK, Sh Ave., lower 60's. Very special Condonisium apartment. Figh floor, 13 rooms. Breathfalding views, 4 exposures. Central oir conditioning. Mrs Morrison. 6:30-10:30 pm. London 337 2972

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE

VIENNA'S HOUSING AGENCY RE. Tel: 52 79 64, Hadasy, Graber 31, Villas, flats, luxury harms rentals.

GREAT BRITAIN LONDON - For furnished flots and houses, the service leading US Corpo-rations use: Anscerabe & Ringland, Tel-London 435 7122, Tx: 299660. LONDON keesty properties, short/fo lets - HERREST 01 434 3717/8/9.

CRETE - Ocean front villas - studio US$ 200/week. Tok 039-241 21867.

Your Office in Germany wa are 'At Your Service'

Complete office services of two prestige addresses.

Fully accipped offices for the short term or the long term.

Internationally trained office and professional soft of your corporate domaile for Germany/Europe,
Your business coercetor can deet

Lairce Business Services Grabilly Lairce-Haus am Holzhausenpark Jushviorskrasse 22, 6000 Frankfur om Majn 1 Germany Tel, 001 1.590061 Teles: 414561, Foc. No. 595770, MILAN

Centrally located, high class office services. MBC meetings & business center. Via Largo 11, 20122 Miles, Tel: 02/345 2301 - Teleso 315189 MBC | FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS

SERCING LARGE INVESTOR for invest-ment in beer pockaging in U.S.A. Con-toch C.R. Smith, Thu 899171-FSCH, Tel-[USA) 703-820-3912. BUSINESS SERVICES DON'T VISIT PARES ALONE. Toke o high standard private gode with cor. Call AFOS: 541 01 89/539 55 75.

BUSINESS SERVICES MAILING ADDRESS IN CANADA Postel boxes supplied, mail forwarded around the world. Gifts, important mail dislivered locally. For brachuse write: The Mellport, 55 MeClaul Sweet, Toronto, Canado. MST 2W7.

HONG KONG Company reports, oc-quisition research, ultimate control anal-ysis, trade matches, 25,000 active com-panes on Fis. Desaits: DATASSERICH Hongkong Ltd. 2109 Alexandra House, Hong Kong. Tis. 60636 HKCB HX

SWISS CITIZEN, Operating bases Switzerland, Liechtenthain, Manaco offers wide range of company/individual consulting services/casistrana word-wide. Write: Box 15266, Herald Tribune, 92521 Newly Cedex, France.

SWISS LADY OFFIRS existence in dia mond buying at largal Diamend Bu-change Romal-Gon, Isroel. Tel: 03 266884 or 20792 (evenings). POE 22867 Tel-Anny 61220 bross. BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES COMPUTER PORTRAITS Printed or T-thirts, on all cash business that car earn you $6000 - $6000/morats. Color, 5 & w. naw & used systems for intended all delivery, $10,000.$18,000 Karne GmbH, Dept. 2022, Postforch 174082 4000 Frankfurt, W. Ger. Tel 0511-747808 Tb: 41 2713, 10am-éprin BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

A SMALL FRENCH TEAM creating on office on court near Rouse food accume Parts - Landon - Brusselly, for full-sime or occasional expert - impart services, mission & representations, seek serious offers. Box 315, Hereld Tribune, 92521 Neully Cedex, France. BRITISH COMPANY operating Germony offers high interest rate on shorterm, small unit, private investment. Details: Mr Harris, Portfoch 25 0252, 8500 Nuemberg, Germany. F YOU NEED TO BE REPRESENTED IN Oil Field Services in North Africa or Middle East, write to Preyland Ltd., 243 Regent St., London Will 8PN, England or tel. London 408 1611.

YOUR BUSINESS IN CANADA, Start and run your own business in Canada from your location. Details: STAR, Box 111969, 8900 Auguburg, Germany. LOG CHALLT BUSINESS. Attractive opportunity for versatile French speaking person to participate in development. Tel: Landon 960 5984.

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS & JEWELRY Export Prices Tax Free Open Mon. thru Sot, included. SIDIAM INVESTMENT Brussels 150° Centre Ist, Roger, 15th Roor, 02/78 38 83. Antwerp: 58 Longs Herenlobestroor 031/33 13 62 INVESTMENT

DIAMONDS

DIAMONDS

Tour best buy,
Fine diamonds in only price range at lowest wholesole prices direct from Antwerp center of the diamond world.
Full guarantee.
For free price fist white Jourchise Geldenstein diseasentempent
Established 1928
Felikoonstroot 62, 8-3000 Antwerp
Belgium - Tale (3, 37,34,07,51)
The 71779 syl b. At the Diamond club.
Heart of the Antwerp Diamond industry To Diamond Owners

☐ WORLD WIDE ☐

And all those who want to know what is the real searcher price of diamonds. We are the only publishers of a monthly booklet giving the most serious and accurate prices and information of the diamond trade world wide.

Cradiation: 25,000 copies per month. To obtain a free copy, please soil a self-outsised envelope to:

Georges Evens

Aster, Poisted Dapts,

92 Pelikoonstreat
2000 Antwerpen, Belgium.

Copies ako evallable in PARIS - 285 89 79 LONDON - 404 0741 + 405 6667 AMSTERDAM - 22 55 41 ZURICH - 252 19 31 NEW YORK - 719 5324+391 2981 RIO DE JANERO - 237 1137 Telesci 331 17 DIMBGO 8 (551.01UM)

AUTOS TAX FREE TAX FREE CARS ALL MAKES & MODELS with Swiss licence plates. RAMPY MCTORS INC., 1290 Genevo-Versoix, 89 route Suis Tel: 022/55 44 43, Telez 28279 or 289477

AMERICAN MALE, 34, graduating Cordon Bless, December, seeks position as chef storing Jon 82, Cordon Ovis-terson 41 bis Cour de Vincarense, 2nd Roor right, 79020 Ports, 373 12 66. 2 REPROC GENTLEMBY good refer-ences as cook, butler, complete house-teeper, driver seek, permanent job. Hove visa USA, Box 309, Herold Tri-butes 927921 Nesible Collections. TRANSCO TAX FIRE CARS.
LARGEST STOCK IN EUROPE
Send for free catalog & stock list; 95
Noorderkour, 2000 Artwerp, Balguan
Tek 031–426240, The 35207 TRANS-B.

ENGLISH NANNY, aged 32, reliable, well educated girl, free now. Fry Con-sultants, 7 High St, Aldershot, Hants LIK. Tel-0252 315369. WANTED R.H.D. TAX FREE MERCEDES, BANV, PORSCHE, NEW OR USED TEL 021 704 3045 UK Birteinghom, England.

BOATS AND RECREATIONAL

VEHICLES

BRAND NEW 42ft American lacur mater yecht. Owner must secrific due return USA for emergency opere son. Elicoptos, Port de Bequilleu, O France. Tels (73) 01 10 49.

SERVICES

PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDE

Poris 562 05 87.

INTERPRETER/TRAVEL COMP.

INT'L PR / BUSINESS ASSISTANT : Poris. Tel: 530 13 75.

72 18 evenings. RICAN BABYSITTER evenloble fure, experienced. Paris 380 15 94 AUTOMOBILES

EMPLOYMENT

bune, 92521 Neurlly Cedex, France

BNGUSH NANNES & Mothers' Helps free now. Nash Agency, 27 Grand Po-rade, Brighton, UK. Tel: 682 666.

YOUNG LADY SEEKS doly house keeping work. References. Tel: Paris 5747218 evenings.

BULLET PROOF CARS Range Rover left hand drive, cancelle order. For Anti-Terrorist protection. With many other extras. Mercedes 6.9, 1979. 35,000 km, For Anti-Terrorist protection, ref. LONDON 485 6668 TELEX 893183

WHY WAIT 7 YEARS TO GET YOUR AU PAIR WANTED to share child core, housework and holidays. Over 20 years old preferred. Contact T. Mooney, Conadian Embassy, Bern, Switzer-land. MORGAN CAR? For immediate delivery of left-hard drive cars, write to 8ax 15270, Heral Tribune, 92521 Neubly Codes, France

POSITIONS WANTED 1981 CADILLAC SEVILLE 400 Miles US$ 27000 - Tex Free Phone Switzerland 093/65 12 70 WE HAVE a number of Mothers' Help ers & Trained Nomine available for I year contracts WORLDWIDE Write ers & Trained Namiest available for 1 year contracts WCR2DWDE. Write or telephone us now. Rainbow Bureau, Mrs. Greenslade, 6th floor, Carolyn House, Dingwolf Road, East Croydon, Surrey, CRS 355, England, Tel. 01 680 5533, je 01 771 0086 other 6 pngl Agy SE 5038. POR SALE: "Clenet II", new, 4-seater, marcon and ivery, about 4000 km, US $60,000. Tel, Brussels 653 22 34 offer 7 p.m. SE 5038.

AU PAIR EXPERIENCED, American, 8.S. Ed., acceler references, witing to browl worldwide. Col. 215-242-2997 or write: M. Hornemon, 509 East Sedgewick St., Philodelphia, PA 19119 USA. / p.m.
MAGNIFICENT COLLECTION CAR Rolls-Royce Corniche Soldon, special order lotest edition, as new. Piease to agents. Call owner Rome 574 06 68.

AUTO SHIPPING TRANSCAR: Europe's largest for Cos, and baggage & household effects workwise. Costact Landon W1, 43/44 New Bard St., Tek 491 4/21. Geneva 1219, 37/38 Ave. du Lignon, Tek 96 55 11, Fronkfurr, Am Sudpark 10, D6092 Kelsterbach, Tek 06107 2051. The original & still the only Transcar Organization.

SHIP YOUR CAR TO 2 PROM U.S.A. VIA ANTWERP AND SAVE Free hotel, Regular scrilings, IFK/McGuira Airport delivery, AMESCO, Kribbestroot 2, Antwerp, Belgium, Teb 31 42 39. Tolect 71469.

AUTOS TAX FREE

PROM STOCK
Trunderbird, 79, silver, $4800
Deville, 31, 2-door dissel, $14,000
Chevy Receivation Verr, 79, $10,000
Mercedes 240 O, new, large beige
Mercedes 220 S. cl. new, Chompagne
Mercedes 280 S. cl. new, managestrown
Mercedes 300 S.D. LISA, new, brown Mercedes 300 S.D. LISA, new, proving MW 745 IA, new, matalic gray
Chevy Receivation Vers, new, $11,000
Cadillacs, Lincolm, Jagaars, Ronge Revers, Lard Revers, Mercedes and other leading mates available.
Scree day registration possible. ICZKOVITS

Claridenstrasse 36, CH-8027 Zerich Tel: 01/202 76 10. Teler: 53444. TAX FREE CARS Largest inventory in Europe.
European, Japanese and American cars.
All brand new, Same day delivery and brand new, Same day delivery and round registration.
P.C.T. Expert International 604. Bradatean – 2060 Markesen.
Antwerp-Belgium. Tel: 031/45.50.55 or 46.50.31 or 46.70.91, Tix 35546.

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL GREECE BY YACHT. Motor/soil, to discover 2000 islands at linuxe, RN ON THE SEA, Laskou 12, Frank, Greece, Tel. 452 4069, The 211249, HELLAS YACHTING, Yacht charles, Academics 28, Athens 134, Greece.

> PRECIOUS STONES * RUBIES * ----Do your Clufstman shopping here at duty-free prices, said serve meany Natural untreated pigeon blood color rubes, cut and poluted of our Standa Lopidary, from 0.5 to 1.0 carots.

ALSO

Zoizite (Tonzorite) Foostitel

0.20 · 0.50 cords · US$ 95 a piece
Alexandrite Cobuches

0.10 · 0.25 cords · US$ 95 a piece
Alexandrite Foostited

0.10 · 0.25 cords · US$ 135 a piece
All stones are notical and unknoted.
On receipt of your order, it will be arranged by regulated post to anywhere in the world.
Parsonal chaques, are did cords outs cost occupied. Full retund if you are not soft occupied. Full retund if you are not soft occupied.

30 doys.
SHANNON LAPIDARY & MARKETING CO LTD.
BAY 50
Shopmen industrial Estate County Clore, Industrial
Tel: 35361 61497, Telesc 24026.

HOTELS RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS

FRANCE.

PARIS - Plaza Mirabeau + + NR, 10 Ava. E. Zola, 1-2-3 room flats, balli, läichen, fridge. 577 72 00. VIENNA: STEPHAN SZENÓNER. In ternational Coiffeur, Hotel Hilben, Tel 75 41 71, Hotel Intercontinental, Tel 73 81 22, Moriahilfer Str. 132, Tel. 83 31 50. U.S.A. 31 30.

NPT. INTERPRETER excellent present for, English, French, German, Italia Paris 633 91 88. TUDOR HOTEL, 304 Fast 42nd St., New York City. In frationable, East Scin Manhattan, Is block from UN. Sngle-from $49; doubles from $60. Telest 422951, Tel: 800-522-7558. PARIS YOUNG LADY, PR. Excellen presentation, 4 languages. 553 62 62. PR YOUNG LADY, trilingual, excellen appearance. Paris 527 0193. BILINGUAL BUSINESS & trov sistent, Tel: 500 58 17 Paris.

HOTEL LA FEDECE et des Artistes. Pro-ferred for its unique atmosphire, les-urious comfort, but moderate priosi-Near Thatore Lo Fennen, 5 mais welle-ing distonce from St. Marco Square. Reservations. Tet-41 32233 Venice Its 411150 Fenice. Monager Deste Apo-lonio. BUSINESS INTERPRETER and a guide, Paris 774 75 65, LEGAL SERVICES SWITZERLAND . NO MORE VISA. For worldwide ac-cepted troval document, write to: "No more Visa", 584 Via Veneto, 00187 Rome, tioly. US IMMAGRATION & visa more Law Office Edward S, Gudeon, PC. 62 Pall Mell, Landon SW1, (01) 930 6451 GENEVA : RESIDENCE DE FRANCE Avenue de France.

1at-02/31.14.79.
Beautini, Frist das, ar consisioned, residentia furnished apartments and studies. Fully equipped, litchen, daily mad tervice.

Weetly and insurinty arrangements.

Estatlern location.

TO USA or WORLDWIDE, contact your US travel agents Paris 225 12 39. HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL CHARTER A VALEF YACHT in Greece direct from cover of largest fleet in. Europe. American management. Excel-lert craws, service, managementa, govt, bonded. Volef Yorks Ltd., Ald Them-istoticous 22C, Firosox, Greece. Tel. 4529571, 4529486. Telem 21-2000.

LOW COST FLIGHTS

PAGES 15 & 13 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

t

